THIS was the scene after a section of a 250-foot crane boom fell on a bus and smashed glass in the taxi at right in midtown New York today. The driver and three passengers on the bus and the cab driver escaped uninjured. A 100-foot section of the boom fell as the operator swung it over the street.

Trucks Rolling Again As 3-Year Pact Signed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's major truckers and the Teamsters' Union reached tentative agreement today on a new nationwide contract. Within hours, trucks idled for three days by a lockout were rolling across the United States again.

Agreement of a three-year contract between the teamsters and Trucking Employers Inc. (TEI) came in the early morning hours after a marathon bargaining session.

TEI ordered all 1,200 of the trucking companies it represents back into normal service as quickly as possible.

By 10 a.m. EST, M. C. Benton, executive vice-president of McLean Trucking Co., and the mayor of Winston-Salem, N.C., said:

"Everything's rolling. We're weighing them in and the units are rolling out of here on the average of one a minute."

NORMAL BY THURSDAY

Resumption of service was not as fast everywhere, but spokesmen indicated the industry would be mostly back to normal by Thursday.

In some Texas terminals, the major holdup to getting the big diesels on the road again was unloading the freight on trucks that had been sitting idle since the truckers began the lockout Sunday.

The shutdown had stalled truck service from San Francisco to Boston, and when the end of the dispute came, the impact was being felt both by manufacturers facing parts shortages and stores whose shelves were being emptied.

REDS BUSY PREPARING FOR FLIGHT TO MOON

GAGARIN
. . . also other planets

MOSCOW (UPI) — Pioneer spaceman Yuri Gagarin told a Kremlin rally tonight Soviet cosmonauts are busy preparing for flights to the moon and the planets. He gave no timetable for a manned flight, believed imminent.

Gagarin spoke at the Kremlin rally on the sixth anniversary of his one-orbit space flight April 12, 1961.

"We cosmonauts are very busy training and studying and getting ready for new launchings," he said.

"The program of new space explorations which we are working on is very complicated and interesting. It provides for the sending of the expeditions to the moon and the planets."

Military Aid Ends To India, Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—The United States is going to close down its military assistance and advisory group in Pakistan and will phase out the U.S. military supply mission in India, both by July 1, the U.S. embassy in Rawalpindi announced today.

A Pakistani government spokesman said the announcement ended uncertainty about U.S. military aid, which was suspended in 1965 during the Kashmir border war between Pakistan and India. Pakistan may have to look to other sources for aid in its defence needs, he added.

Pakistan has received more than $1,400,000,000 in U.S. military aid since 1951. The warm U.S.-Pakistani relations cooled off abruptly when the U.S. provided military aid to help India fight its border war with China in 1962. Pakistan turned increasingly for planes, tanks and other equipment to China and the Soviet Union.

India has received about $200,000,000 in U.S. military aid since the 1962 fighting. India gets most of its arms from Britain and has also bought Soviet MiGs, helicopters and light tanks.

EVEN TRIED STRANGLING HER

A Bloody Failure In Mistress Blow-Up

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Clement McCoy, a post office technician, was a failure when it came to killing his mistress.

He tried strangulation, stabbing and even blowing her up with gelignite, a nitro-glycerine explosive.

But Beverley June Pressley, 26, escaped with a broken leg and several knife wounds, a court here was told today.

McCoy, 39, who admitted maliciously wounding her with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, was jailed eight years.

Police said he first tried to strangle Mrs. Pressley, then stabbed her five times in the chest and stomach with a pocket knife.

When this failed he tied her to a bed, bought two sticks of gelignite, fuses and detonators and tried to blow her up and commit suicide at the same time. When the gelignite exploded, Mrs. Pressley was knocked to the floor and broke a leg. McCoy was unhurt.

'DREADFUL HIDEOUT FOR DEVILS, DEMONS'

NEW YORK (AP)—One of China's outstanding violinists and composers said Wednesday he fled his homeland to escape confinement in a "dreadful hideout for devils and demons," and feared for his life in the sweeping terrorism of the Red Guards.

Ma Sitson, or Su-tsung, 54, who was president of the Central Academy of Music and vice-president of the Union of Chinese Musicians in Peking, fled China last December and has been living secretly in New York with his family.

SUMMIT STARTS SLOWLY

Latins Lament Waste of Time

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI)—The summit meeting of President Johnson and other American presidents, a year in the making, got under way today. The accent seemed to be on low-key diplomacy.

Johnson and 18 other hemisphere leaders breezed through an informal morning meeting that started a half-hour earlier than scheduled and concluded an hour earlier than programmed. Then they went to a lunch at the golf club as guests of Uruguayan president Oscar D. Gestido.

Some of the Latin American presidents expressed unhappiness over what they termed the loss of a half-day's deliberations in the scheduled three-day summit aimed at solving the continent's old problem of poverty.

Delegates get into the major substance of their talks—aimed at providing the economic tools to end poverty in their area of the world—in a round of 10-minute speeches starting this evening.

SPEAKS THURSDAY

Johnson does not plan to speak until Thursday.

Severe security measures prevailed at the San Rafael Hotel conference site.

The government leaders in their motorcycle escorted limousines rolled up to the hotel past police and national guardsmen sealing it off from the outside, and then were ushered through a corridor of silver-helmeted troops to their meeting hall.

Syrians, Israelis Trade Bullets

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP). — The Syrian army reported fighting on the Syrian-Israeli frontier today for the second day in succession and claimed three Israeli soldiers were killed and two were wounded.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli army spokesman said only one Israeli farmer was wounded when Syrians and Israelis exchanged fire across the border.

A Syrian army communique said an Israeli patrol crossed the armistice line shortly before noon in the northern sector of the frontier and was intercepted by a Syrian patrol about 210 yards inside Syrian territory.

A spokesman said there were no Syrian casualties.

The Israeli spokesman, in giving a different version, said the clash took place near the village of Gonen in the Huleg Valley, north of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said a Syrian post had opened light arms fire when a party of farmers from Gonen went out to check the wire fence on their pasture.

An Israeli escorting unit returned the fire, he said.

Athens Strikers Riot

ATHENS (AP) — Striking building workers demonstrating against rightist Premier Panayiotis Canellopoulos battled with police in downtown Athens today. The police said 44 persons, including 24 policemen, were injured and at least 15 workers arrested.

Students Fight Police

MADRID (UPI) — Rock-throwing students battled with truncheon-swinging armed policemen at Madrid University today in the capital's second university student demonstration in two days. About 50 students were arrested following the turbulent on-again, off-again demonstration. No injuries were reported.

Push Toward Pole

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) —A Canadian and four Americans pushed ahead again today for the North Pole after being stranded more than 24 hours on a floating ice island.

GOLD BARS

Second Shipment Missing

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Dutch security officials today were investigating the disappearance of gold worth 100,000 guilders ($30,000) from a KLM Royal Dutch Airlines plane.

This is the airlines' second missing gold shipment in a week.

An airline spokesman said a box of gold disappeared Sunday on a KLM flight from New York to the tiny island of Aruba, in The Netherlands Leeward Islands.

The spokesman said two boxes, each weighing 60 pounds, were loaded on the plane, but when it arrived at the island one was missing.

On April 7, four gold bars valued at $38,500 were reported missing from a KLM plane at London's Heathrow Airport. The spokesman said that there had been no further developments in this case, but the investigation was continuing.

Court Defied By Troupers

CALGARY (CP)—Three members of the San Francisco Mime Troupe notified a magistrate today they won't come to Canada to face drug charges because they have "no confidence" in Canadian justice.

Two of the men, Ronald Guy Davis, 33, and Ronald Jerome Stallings, 20, failed to appear on marijuana possession charges today and warrants were issued for their arrest if they enter Canada.

Harmac Mill May Be Idled Over Suspension of Men

Thirteen workers at the huge Harmac pulp mill near Nanaimo may lose their jobs Tuesday — 13 days before the Canadian pulp union applies for bargaining rights.

The result may bring the mill, which employs almost 1,000 persons, to a standstill.

MacMillan Bloedel announced late Tuesday it will suspend from employment 13 workers who have failed to pay dues to the certified union — unless they reinstate themselves with the union.

The action was requested by Local 695, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, under the union security clause providing for compulsory union membership as a condition of employment.

On May 1, another union — Local 8 of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada — will apply to the Labour Relations Board for certification as bargaining agent.

A company spokesman said today the 13 men have been advised but there has been no reply. But an international spokesman said "four or five" of the 13 have joined the union.

"We do not want to discharge or suspend employees as the international union has requested, nor do we want to see the mill down with consequent loss of employment or production."

Soviet Getting NATO Secrets?

OSLO (Reuters)—Security police announced today they have uncovered a spy-ring operating in northern Norway, a strategically-important NATO area since the end of the Second World War.

They said the ring was suspected of working for the Soviet Union and that three persons have been arrested. Two of them have "partially confessed," police added.

The statement said the espionage affair dated back to the Second World War when some Norwegian citizens in foreign countries were educated as radio operators.

"On returning home following the liberation of Norway they continued their activities.

"They have been assigned to provide and transmit information on military situations, mainly in north Norway.

"At the present time there are no indications that military personnel are involved."

SEPARATE PROBES

Investigations were going on in different parts of Norway, the statement said.

The two men said to have "partly confessed" were identified by Norwegian newspapers as Haldor Lindval, 50, and Selmer Ingebret Nielsen, 34.

The third, Edmund Nielsen, 51, was arrested in Kristinehamn, Sweden. Police said today he was being interrogated in Oslo.

The first two arrests were announced last Saturday and the third confirmed today. The three men had been remanded in custody.

The main base for the alleged spy ring was the small deserted fishing village of Bajfjord, near North Cape, Norwegian press reports said.

FISHING VILLAGE

Police using helicopters and seaplanes Tuesday brought Lindval and Selmer Nielsen separately to a spot where it was believed the ring had hidden a radio transmitter, the reports said.

The Oslo newspaper, Aftenposten, says one of the espionage targets might have been the big Swedish arms factory Bofors. It says several large Swedish industrial combines are situated in district of Vaermland bordering Norway.

Execution Carried Out

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) —Aaron Mitchell, convicted slayer of a Sacramento policeman, died today in San Quentin prison's apple-green gas chamber. The execution was the first in California in more than four years and the first in the U.S. in 1967.

The 37-year-old Negro went to his death while opponents of capital punishment protested in front of the prison where many had maintained a night-long vigil.

It was the first major protest at the grey-walled prison since Caryl Chessman, a convicted kidnapper and rapist turned author, lost his 12-year battle to escape the gas chamber in 1960.

Mitchell Tuesday slashed his arm with a razor blade after giving his tearful mother a hand-written appeal for a reprieve, which was rejected by a federal judge.

With Mitchell's death, San Quentin's death row still held 60 convicts.

THAT'S JANE

Something In the Middle

LONDON (UPI)—Hollywood's Jayne Mansfield (44-26-38) created a sensation today by going to the House of Commons in a miniskirt with a plunging top.

Members of Parliament, who hardly give the leading ministers of the land a second glance, stared upwards when Miss Mansfield entered the gallery running around the chamber and sat in the seat normally occupied by Mary Wilson, the prime mininster's wife.

A buzz of conversation ran through the members. It was so loud that the speaker, Dr. Horace King, had to call for order so that Defence Minister Denis Healey could be heard answering questions.

Blonde Miss Mansfield in her cream and black dress, was taken into the gallery by Opposition Conservative member Timonthy Kitson. She appeared to listen closely to the parliamentary questions and left during a speech by a leading opposition member, Ian Macleod, on the budget announced Tuesday.

Miss Mansfield came to England March 24 for eight weeks of club appearances but the firm which brought her over teminated her contract after only two weeks. The firm charged she had arrived late for several engagements, did not keep time with the music, and had appeared for performances in her street clothes because she had not brought stage dress.

Her lawyer, Sam Brodie, said the charges were "untrue, comical, ludicrous and diabolical."

Miss Mansfield said she was signing a new contract to appear at a northern England club for a week at the beginning of May and hoped to do other cabaret appearances.

GUILTY OF TAKING CHARTS

State Safety Not at Stake

OTTAWA (CP). — Bower Featherstone was found guilty Tuesday of one charge under the Official Secrets Act, and acquitted on a second charge.

The jury of 11 men and one woman found the 28-year-old government lithographer guilty of a charge of obtaining two copies of a confidential navy chart that might be useful to Soviet submarines.

He was found not guilty of retaining the two charts for a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the state between Feb. 13 and Oct. 25 last year.

Judge Peter Macdonald remanded Featherstone in custody until April 24 at 10 a.m. for sentencing. The conviction carries a maximum penalty of 14 years in prison.

The jury returned to the Carleton County courtroom at 4 p.m. after deliberating for three hours and 10 minutes at the end of a six-day trial.

The judge told the jury that in his opinion they had reached the proper conclusion.

The jury earlier interrupted deliberation after an hour and 40 minutes to ask Judge Macdonald to clarify the section of the Official Secrets Act referring to "a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the state."

The judge said the act puts the onus on the accused to show that he had an innocent purpose if and when he kept a secret government document.

ONUS REVERSED

He said that the normal onus on the Crown to prove an offence is reversed in the Official Secrets Act in connection with the purpose of the accused.

There was no obligation for the Crown to prove that Featherstone acted with an illegal purpose when he retained two copies of a confidential navy chart printed in the mapping branch of the energy department where he was employed.

The jury foreman said this was the point that confused the jurors.

The Official Secrets Act was passed after the outbreak of the Second World War in 1939 to protect the federal government against espionage. Each conviction under the act carries a maximum penalty of 14 years in prison.

Zeballos Strike Ends

ZEBALLOS (CP)—A strike by 90 workers at the Zeballos Iron Mine on the west coast of Vancouver Island ended today after the Labor Relations Board issued an ultimatum to the workers.

The board said it would not consider a bid by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers to become bargaining agent unless the miners returned to work. The workers now are represented by the Tunnel and Rock Workers, the Teamsters and the Operating Engineers.

The men struck Sunday when the company refused to establish a committee to investigate four underground accidents at the mine.

Officials at the mine said today all but seven of the workers are back on the job.

tion," MacMillan Bloedel said.

Orville Braaten of Vancouver, president of the Canadian union, said there can be "no doubt" the international wants "to initiate a work stoppage at the Harmac pulp mill.

INJUNCTION

"Should closure of the mill take place an uncontrollable situation could easily develop."

Gordon Wickham, president of the Canadian union's Local 8 at Harmac, said a move is being considered to get an injunction against MacMillan Bloedel to stop any suspensions.

"The international would like to see the mill shut down to thwart our certification application," he said.

An internaitonal union spokesman in Vancouver called the comments of the Canadian union "pure poppycock."

"On the one hand, the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada did not hesitate to shut Prince Rupert (mill) for 34 days in an illegal strike last year," he said.

"Nor did they hesitate to use the union security clause to dismiss an employee at a converting plant who refused to join their union."

SECURITY ATTACKED

He said "no amount of hysterical flag waving" can disguise the fact they are attacking the union security provision of the contract.

"This goes to the heart of trade unionism. We are not going to abandon our position."

MacMillan Bloedel said in its statement:

"We take this step with regret effective next Tuesday since it is wholly the result of a union jurisdictional dispute which is totally beyond the control of the company.

"The company is caught in an onerous position through no fault of its own but solely due to rivalry between two unions. The company's only intent in this whole inter-union dispute is to live up to its contract with the union that has jurisdiction."

In the meantime the company was asking the labor department to determine whether the men must be suspended under the contract.

CONFUSION

Mr. Braaten said "it appears almost certain" the international union is prepared to cause "chaos and confusion throughout the province in the hopes of stopping the growth of the Canadian union.

"All union members and the general public should be fully aware the international has less than 100 supporters out of the 950-man work force at Harmac.

"The Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada continue to have the backing of all the rest.

"Union security is not the issue. The issue is the right of men to democratically change unions.

"The solution is simple—give the vote the men have been asking for since May of last year. The government should act now."

A mill spokesman confirmed this morning the international union only asked for suspension of the 13 workers and not others who are not paying dues to this union.

Union shop clauses are common in contracts between companies and unions. They provide for compulsory union membership as a condition of employement.

The employer may hire who he likes, but the person must join the union within a short period after starting work. It is different from the closed shop, where only union members may be hired in the first place.

JOKESTER AT EVERY WEDDING

Prisoner of Love Just on Honeymoon

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Service station attendant Edward Facundus read the note that had been tucked in the gasoline cap of a car he had serviced a moment earlier.

"Help, I'm being kidnapped and forced to pose as his wife," it read. "Call the police."

Facundus did, and law enforcement officers throughout California quickly were alerted to watch for a red Chevrolet carrying a man and woman. The bulletin warned the man might be armed.

About 30 minutes later, near the coastal community of Gaviota, California highway patrolmen Paul Whiting and Frank Loper halted the car Monday and ordered the driver out at gunpoint.

"What's this all about?" asked bewildered Arthur Baker, 35, of Rialto, Calif. "Why are you doing this? Why the gun?"

As Loper explained about the note, Whiting asked the woman, "Are you all right?" Did he harm you, ma'am?"

The startled woman quickly produced a marriage licence which verified that Baker and she had indeed been married.

"We were married Sunday," the former Susan Marie Cosentino, 27, told the officers. "We're on our honeymoon."

The officers decided a friend placed the note in the gas cap as a practical joke.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A weather system lying across central B.C. from the southwest is giving rain and snow in the Cariboo and rain to the south coast. The disturbance will be accompanied by scattered showers as it moves across southern B.C. later today. Cold Pacific air flowing in behind the system will bring a turn to colder unsettled weather to the province for the next few days.

THREATENS TO SUE TORY

Hellyer Has Rough Time During Debate

By DENNIS ORCHARD

OTTAWA (CP)—The debate on armed forces unification hit another rough phase in the Commons Tuesday, sprinkled with the words "deception" and "lie" and even a threat of legal action by Defence Minister Hellyer.

GROOS
. . . conservative

Mr. Hellyer said he will take Terry Nugent (PC—Edmonton-Strathcona) to court if Mr. Nugent repeats outside the Commons a charge he made in the House Tuesday night.

Mr. Nugent had expressed admiration for what he called Mr. Hellyer's skill in using "the big lie" technique developed by Adolf Hitler. The defence minister said if the same thing were said outside the Commons where there is no immunity from legal action, "I'll have him prove it in a court of law."

Mr. Nugent said he would repeat the statement in a speech tonight at St. Anne, Man., just outside Winnipeg.

Other remarks Tuesday had almost the same bite. It was the seventh day of clause-by-clause debate on a government bill to transform the armed forces into a one-uniform, common-rank single service. The Commons remains stuck on the first of 65 clauses.

At one point in an hour-long, wide-ranging attack, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said of Mr. Hellyer:

"The minister withheld information, he did not give a true picture, and he tampered with the evidence of witnesses before it was given to the Commons defence committee."

Mr. Hellyer hit back, saying Mr. Diefenbaker had not given a single example of the alleged deception of Parliament.

"Where is his sense of British justice?" asked Mr. Hellyer.

"Where is his regard for the Bill of Rights?"

Mr. Hellyer said both he and External Affairs Minister Martin have denied that government policy is to restrict Canada's armed forces to a United Nations peacekeeping role.

"Yet the leader of the Opposition repeats the lie as his followers have on numerous occasions during the course of this debate."

The defence minister compared his program for the armed services to the birth cycle. Integration and unification are like conception and childbirth—all part of the same natural phenomenon, he said.

"Once you start integration and proceed to the extent that we have, to the extent we intend to proceed . . . you lead to unification."

Mr. Hellyer had a reply ready for Conservative MPs who have read into Hansard scores of anti - unification quotes from testimony of retired officers before the Commons defence committee.

He said these officers, as chiefs of staff, had to protect the vested interests of their service—guarding its traditions and rank structure and making sure of a fair share of appointments and military expenditures.

"I believe if you were to select anyone in the whole world you could not find anyone who would be more biased in respect of military unification," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Liberals are 'hell-bent" on pushing through unification so that Mr. Hellyer can attend Expo with 400 green-apparelled men. The maple leaf flag had been brought in by closure and the government intended to use the same method with unification.

SAVINGS NOT SHOWN

Mr. Hellyer had stated he would save 'millions and millions." But the defence budget this year was up by $115,000,000.

"You cannot deceive Parliament," he said.

Creditiste Leader Caouette said his party supports unification because it would save money for use in supporting domestic agriculture and promoting peace by supplying food and technicians to other countries.

NAVY

Always Against Changes

OTTAWA (CP) — Victoria Liberal MP David Groos, a former naval captain, Tuesday derided the "overly conservative" attitude of some naval officers.

He said in the Commons defence debate that "you should have heard the uproar when sailors were allowed to mix a cola with their tot of rum."

Even Amiral Horatio Nelson would have liked the mix because he was a very progressive admiral.

Mr. Groos said many naval officers refused to wear the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal in 1941 because it was different.

There had been "great hostility" when Canada shoulder flashes were introduced and many officers refused to put them on for many months.

During the Second World War, the painting of maple leafs on the funnels of Canadian warships had spread like wildfire.

But orders had come down to take them off.

The maple leafs used to be painted secretly on funnels at night and painted out by order in the daytime, Mr. Groos said.

Not until the war was over did the maple leaf become official on funnels.

Mr. Groos, former chairman of the Commons defence committee, said Parliament is creating a morale problem in the forces by talking so long about unification.

The "deadly pall of uncertainty" hanging over the forces should be removed. The services should be allowed to get on with their own route and timetable toward unification.

Mr. Groos said he is so strongly in favor of the bill he would return to the navy willingly tomorrow.

U.S. Copyright Laws Get First Overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives approved Tuesday by a roll-call vote of 379 to 29 the first general overhaul of U.S. copyright laws since 1909.

The measure now goes to the Senate, with final action expected later this year.

The Senate heard singer Julie London demonstrate Tuesday her contention that the new copyright law should provide long-term record royalties for performers as well as composers.

The vehicle for Miss London's demonstration of song styling was the theme song of television's Mickey Mouse Club. She played a recording of that marching song for children, then one of her own which transformed the song into a sad ballad.

The copyright bill extends coverage time for authors, playwrights, composers and lyricists and takes into account technological advances since 1909. For example, it provides copyright coverage for material fed into computers and stored there.

The existing law permits a maximum coverage of 56 years, while the new bill extends this to a period covering the author's lifetime plus 50 years, starting in 1969. Copyrights now in existence would be extended to a maximum 75 years.

Alberta Legislature Ends Without Expected Vote Call

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta legislature prorogued Tuesday without the widely-predicted election call.

Premier E. C. Manning has given no hint of a possible election date, although it had been speculated that he would dissolve the house at the same time it was prorogued. He need not call an election until June, 1968, although an election as early as June is still possible.

Since coming to office in 1935, the Social Credit government has established a pattern of elections every four years.

Standing in the 63-seat house is Social Credit 58, Liberal three, Coalition one and NDP one. Redistribution will add one seat each in Edmonton and Calgary for the next election.

The most spectacular debates of session revolved around Garth Turcott (NDP — Pincher Creek - Crowsnest) and his charges that Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke and former provincial treasurer E. W. Hinman used or attempted to use their cabinet posts for personal gain.

PASSED LEGISLATION

But the house also passed several important pieces of legislation. Among them:

1. A bill providing for a rebate of 75 per cent of the federal state tax to Alberta estates;
2. A new Trust Companies Act, providing for tighter control and inspection of trust companies;
3. A bill providing for a new Alberta health plan with improved benefits and premium subsidies to persons with low incomes;
4. A rewritten and expanded Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act;
5. A bill establishing a human resources development authority.

Floods Hit Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — About 20,000 people have been left homeless by steady rains in the interior of northeastern Brazil, reports reaching here Tuesday said. Reports from capitals in a five-state region told of roads and railroads cut by flash flooding and crops destroyed by some overflowing rivers.

ALGERIAN AIRLINER

Oasis Crash Kills 35

ALGIERS (CP) — Thirty-five persons aboard an Algerian Airways DC-4 airliner were killed Tuesday when the plane crashed near an oasis in southern Algeria, the transport ministry announced. There were four survivors.

Official sources said the 33 passengers included 18 Swiss tourists and at least one Frenchman. Three of the six crew members were French.

The Swiss embassy said 16 of the Swiss tourists were killed and the other two injured.

One report said the four-engined aircraft, on a routine weekly flight, crashed into a mountain while attempting to land at the remote desert oasis and military post of Tamanrasset, about 1,000 miles south of Algiers.

Reports said three of the survivors were severely injured.

More of the Same

THE BUDGET BROUGHT DOWN yesterday by Mr. James Callagan, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, continues the evolution of national budgets into instruments of control over the economy rather than mere reports on future revenues and expenditures.

And in this role, the document made clear that the heavy regulation of the British economy which has marked the last two years will continue. But here, too, a new trend will be followed: the growing practice in western countries such as Canada and the United States of budgetting on a flexible, continuing basis, rather than through a rigid, once-a-year statement.

Thus, even in announcing his budget, Mr. Callaghan gave clear hints of early revisions which could affect the bank rate, tax relief for depressed regions, or tax changes to stimulate purchasing or deter it as required. With control of the economy as the major role of the budget, such almost day-to-day manipulation becomes necessary if each developing trend in production, exports, employment, consumption, credit and other facets of the economy is to be encouraged, diverted or slowed in keeping with overall national policy.

Mr. Callaghan has given the taxpayer and consumer little to cheer. The tax rate will remain high—41 per cent on personal income—the 10 per cent increase in sales tax which was imposed last July will become permanent, wages and prices will be prevented from conforming to upward pressures after the special restraints end on July 1, spending abroad will continue under restriction, and in general the economic regimentation that has been imposed in an effort to restore British trade, combat inflation and protect the pound will be maintained.

The Spectator, of London, in pre-budget comment criticizing earlier projects of Mr. Callaghan, looked forward "for the first time to a display of masterly inactivity." This, in a sense, is the present prescription, or as Mr. Callaghan himself put it: "Steady as she goes."

The truth appears to be that, having inherited a difficult problem in Britain's balance of payments, regional unemployment and inflationary pressures, the Labor Government finds itself in a frustrating closed circle. Each move to cure one aspect of the problem is felt in another part of the economy, perhaps with adverse effects.

Mr. Callaghan professes to see an optimistic future, with the British economy headed in the right direction and increasing its pace. But the country is still a long way from the freedom of initiative and the escape from governmental restrictions which once characterized the economy.

Britain provides a classic example of the fact that even with vast powers and almost unlimited economic advice, a Socialist government has no special key to the administrative problems of a modern state. Too many global forces are beyond London's control today, too many problems of production and trade in a rapidly changing world economy appear insoluble on a national basis. Higher productivity apparently is the most important guide-post on the long road back to prosperity, but that is complicated by social as well as economic factors.

'Complain to Mr. Bennett'

REEVE HUGH CURTIS HAS given weight to expectations that the Greater Victoria community this year faces the stiffest property tax bills on record.

The situation is blamed, basically, on the provincial government's unwillingness to absorb an adequate portion of rising school costs. Reeve Curtis points out that it would be false economy to eliminate some essential projects in the general municipal program merely to offset the jump in educational spending, and suggests that any distressed taxpayer, unhappy about the manner in which the levy is to be increased to meet school needs, "should properly direct his complaint to the minister of finance".

The reeve's reaction — doubtless reflecting that of other municipal leaders in the community — provides further impressive evidence of the need for the provincial government to discuss with the municipalities the whole issue of provincial-municipal finance with a view to easing the mounting burden imposed upon the home-owner.

On the school tax issue the inequities and unrealistic position of the Social Credit administration in its relations to the municipalities are harshly revealed. The province has the authority to decide the broad policies for education. The municipalities, with the right to add extras if they want them or can afford them, must follow provincial policy. But in its basic sharing arrangements, the province fails to provide an adequate supply of money to meet the rising demands of the program. The added burden falls on the home-owner.

This year, computations made at city hall indicate that the widely publicized increase in the home-owner's grant — a return by Mr. Bennett of some of the money he collected from the home-owner in the first instance—will not compensate for the higher school costs. Thus even the pretence of giving the home-owner sufficient to meet the educational account raised by the municipalities falls flat.

A flow of complaints to the minister of finance may not persuade Mr. Bennett to change the rules for 1967. It should, however, draw attention to what are expected to be the highest tax rates on record, and convince the premier that the long-denied provincial-municipal conference on financial relations should be held without further delay.

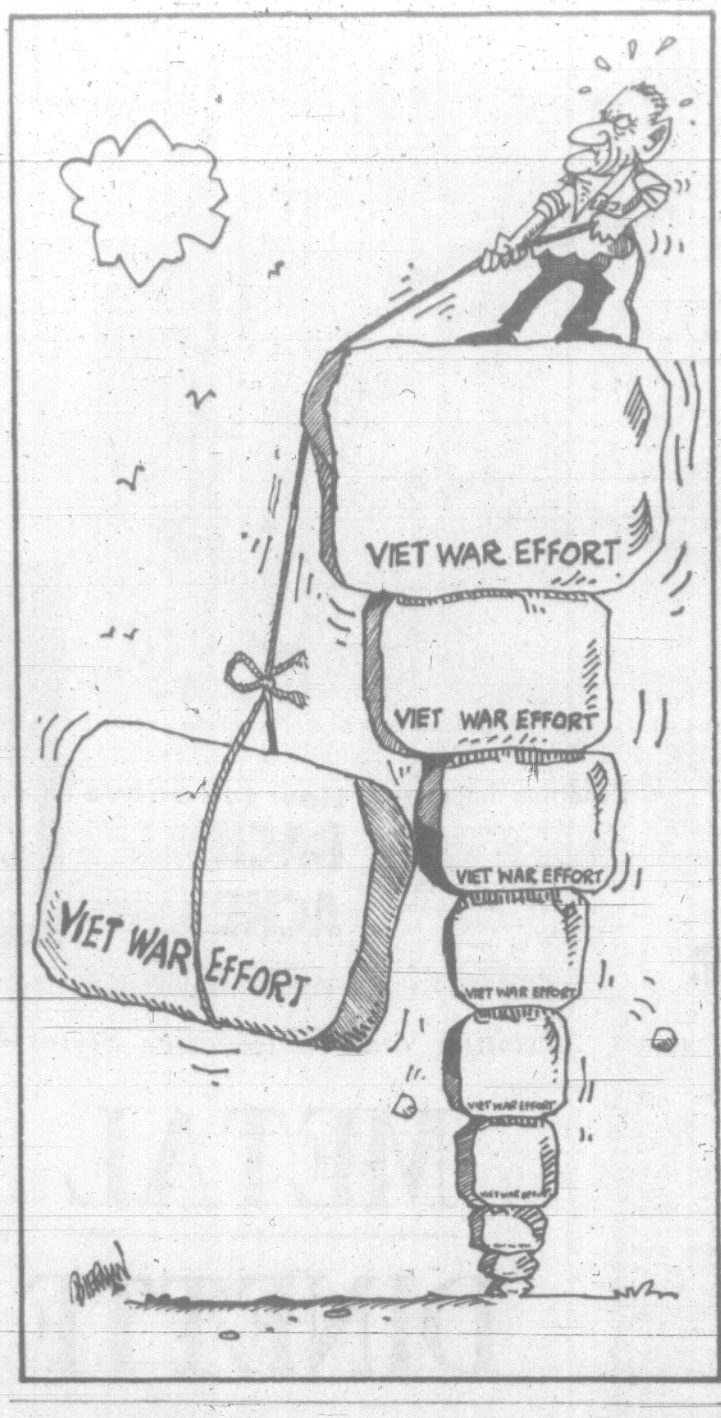
Fast Travel on Historic Roads

ONE OF THE LARGER QUESTIONS raised by the effort of many under-developed countries to stride rapidly into the last third of the twentieth century concerns the ability of their formerly untutored peoples to absorb the technical knowledge which physical progress demands.

How can the boy from the village become a technician? How can the resident of a tribal area master the mechanics of modern society and production?

A partial answer seems to have been provided in a report from the UN Development Program which notes that 70 per cent of the students at Kenya Polytechnic passed the annual City and Guilds of London examinations last December. This compares favorably with the showings of students from European polytechnic schools.

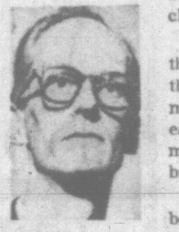
In this field of advancement, it appears, the emerging countries need not suffer from technical disability to travel relatively quickly over the highway to applied learning hacked laboriously through the forest of ignorance by the western trail-blazers.



FROM QUEBEC CITY

By STAN McDOWELL

Puzzles of the Lazy Stork



McDowell

IN 1959 there were 142,383 births in Quebec, highest total ever in a province with an impressive record for fecundity. Although births dropped to 138,850 in 1960 and 137,174 the following year, two professional demographers who undertook a study of Quebec's population in 1962 saw no reason to believe that the figure of 1959 had been any sort of peak. Professors Jacques Henripin and Yves Martin predicted that between 1961 and 1966 Quebec would average 149,000 births. This average would rise to 165,000 a year between 1966 and 1971.

Instead the birth rate went on dropping. Only 120,607 births were recorded in 1965.

Dr. Paul Parrot, provincial government demographer, estimates the 1966 figure could be in the neighborhood of 108,000. If the trend continues, says Dr. Parrot, there may be no more than 95,000 births in Quebec this year. In ten years the population would stop growing and then gradually begin to shrink.

Cries of Alarm

Dr. Parrot's predictions, made in widely published newspaper articles liberally punctuated with exclamation points, have provoked answering cries of alarm.

Professor Philippe Garigue, dean of social sciences at the University of Montreal, has warned of catastrophe head.

"Birth control, which many thought to be a wise necessity for the improvement of living conditions," he said in a Montreal speech earlier this year, "is now bearing Quebec toward the brink of the most gigantic collective error: that of the refusal of its own existence."

The Saint Jean Baptiste Society has warned against "national suicide."

Last year Dr. Lomer Pilote, a mecical doctor who is an amateur demographer, published the results of his study which purported to prove that by 1986 the English-speaking could be a majority in Montreal. If Dr. Pilote is right, which professional demographers doubt, Montreal's population would be 50.8 per cent English-speaking, and 49.2 French-speaking in 1986.

A New Separatism

If that were to happen, Dr. Pilote fears, the English would seize political control of Montreal, declare its independence from the province of Quebec and perhaps even annex it to Ontario.

But there is a catch to all these alarming predictions. It is the phrase with which the prophets hedge their bets: "If the present trend continues."

And finding the real trend that lies behind the bare statistics is not just a simple matter of seeing whether the figures themselves are running up or down. Even the figures themselves can be misleading.

As already noted, the total number of births went on rising year after year from the Second World War to 1959. But the birth rate, the number of babies born in a year for each thousand members of the population, reached its peak, 31.1, in 1947 and has been falling ever since. It has fallen more quickly than the Canadian average and in 1965 was slightly below it, 21.3 as compared with 21.4.

The steady fall in the birthrate, like that in the total births, is impressive at first plance but by itself gives almost no clue to the future.

Fewer women of child-bearing age in the population, fewer marriages among these women, fewer mothers among married women, or fewer babies for each mother: any or all of these factors may be the real trend behind a lower birthrate.

In fact, and this is a point that has been largely neglected in the great birthrate debate, the makeup of the population does partially explain the drop.

Since Depression

In Quebec as elsewhere, the birthrate and total births were down sharply during the Great Depression. The low years were from 1933 to 1939, the lowest 1935. This left a thin spot in the generations, which explains the continued rise, until 1957, of the fertility rate (births per thousand women) even though the birth rate had begun falling in 1947.

In the years since 1958, when the fertility rate began falling, the proportion of women theoretically of child-bearing age (15-49) in the population has been about normal. But this normality was only theoretical. A larger than normal share of these women were teen-aged girls, products of the baby boom of the 1940's, or women nearing middle age. In Quebec, the boom began in the early 1940's; elsewhere in Canada it was later.

The thin spot has been in the ages of greatest fertility, 20-24, 25-29 and 30 to 34.

In the last few years, in which the birth rate has fallen most quickly, the thin spot has been centred in the 25-to-29 age group, which, in Quebec, where marriages are late, has been the most fertile.

Fertility Rate

So while the fertility rate for all women in Quebec was down to 87.7 in 1965, one of the lowest rates in Canada — the Canadian average was 91 that year — the fertility rate for married women remains one of the highest in Canada, although it has been dropping more quickly than the Canadain average. In 1964 the Quebec figure was 150.5, the Canadian 139.1, Ontario's 131.

The advance guard of the baby boom of the 1940's is now reaching the most fertile age in Quebec. So the province need fear no shortage of marriageable women in the years just ahead.

There has been no evident trend toward fewer marriages, although Quebec's now-established pattern of later marriages has been accentuated as more young people prolong their education.

That leaves the fertility rate for married women as a key measure of what is happening in the real human world behind the statistics. This rate is still among the highest in Canada, but it is falling more quickly than the Canadian average.

The reason behind this fall is the puzzle demographers must solve to judge how well Quebec may hope to keep its proportionate strength in the over-all Canadian population, a question which could have important political implications for Quebec and for Canada.

WHAT'S IN THE TILL?

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Bills for the Revolution

Hutchison

IN viewing the recent cabinet changes, the Liberal party's quarrels, the Conservative party's blood feuds and the resulting, unearned benefits to the New Democratic party, we are apt to miss the main point in Canadian politics. It is that the whole existing situation has become artificial, incalculable and temporary. We are living in the last days of the tumultuous Pearson-Diefenbaker era. Before another year has passed, perhaps sooner, a new era will begin, under new leaders, with new ideas, new policies and a backlog of unsolved problems shaking to contemplate.

The prime minister obviously foresees the vast changes ahead and prepares for them, as well as he can, by pushing youthful colleagues to the top before he leaves. Conceivably but improbably the opposition leader may be planning to stay, if he can, but if he does, after a demoralizing upheaval in his party, he is too old to revive his earlier magic and remaster the nation.

For reasons of age, and various other reasons, both these men will shortly belong to history and government will belong to younger men. Hence the nation's only practical concern is the prospects of the new generation now on the threshold of power. Those prospects, I venture to think are not what they seem to be in the current debate which blurs more than it clarifies the nation's real business.

If we could stand a little way off from a system of politics operating under its own Canadian law of perpetual commotion we would realize, first, that the Pearson-Diefenbaker era has been the most revolutionary in Canadian experience. Between them the old leaders have transformed our society. Or at any rate, they were the agents of the transformation even if they never knew precisely what they were doing.

We would realize, second, that the bill for this peaceful revolution has yet to be paid and the new generation must devise the means of paying it. The potential leaders who are promising still more revolutionary changes will suddenly find, like Mother Hubbard, that the cupboard is exceedingly bare. How can it be replenished? How are the commitments already made to be financed while extra commitments are being made every day? These are the true and daunting questions that face the new generation and will color the new era.

Clearly the nation needs some years to digest the heavy meal of the Pearson-Diefenbaker era but it may not be given that chance. To any warning against the danger of indigestion the new generation or at least its most articulate members, reply that the nation's wealth will grow faster than the state's demands on it. How far can it count on this cheerful assumption?

We know, to begin with, that Canadian governments, Conservative and Liberal, have never balanced their budgets and have continually increased their debts for the last decade — and this in the middle of an unprecedented boom for the last five years. The policy of endless deficits — attacked as ruinous by the Liberals when the Conservatives introduced it, and maintained by the Liberals when they reached office — is sanctified in the name of Maynard Keynes, though in fact he recommended just the opposite in good times.

These retrospective arguments of pure theory are no help today. They do not tell us whether the national economy can support the load contracted by the old generation and the additional load promised by the new. We are not without factual informarion, however, and it comes from the most reliable sources.

By an odd and vivid coincidence Mr. Louis Rasminsky, the able governor of the Bank of Canada, issued his annual report when Mr. Sharp issued his estimates of expenditure for the next year. The two documents instantly illuminated everything.

Sharp's Task

Mr. Sharp, who may well be prime minister less than a year from now, has undertake gigantic, almost unbelieveable expenditures which he cannot possibly meet out of present tax rates unless the economy grows at high, uninterrupted speed. Even with this growth he may have to raise taxes or repudiate the doctrines of honest finance courageously laid down in his last two budgets. Or else he can take the easy way and continue to inflate the currency, despite all his vows to the contrary. For a man who hopes to succeed Mr. Pearson the situation is not only temporary but very awkward.

Mr. Rasminsky penetrates through this thin financial surface of events into the economic subsoil and, unlike Mr. Sharp, is alarmed by what he finds there. The slow growth of Canadian productivity, the huge wage costs incurred last year and not yet reflected in prices, the consequent threat to our exports, the onerous and increasing expenses of our 11 governments — these fundamental distortions worry the non-partisan central banker even if the new generation tries to ignore them and bids for its own power without counting the cost to the people.

Waiting To Erupt

Certainly the bank governor has no interest in politics but his economics may soon appear as the sovereign political issue in the new generation. For the moment it is smothered by the power struggle and the ambitious candidates for party leadership are unlikely to mention it. Nevertheless, it is there, waiting to erupt.

The eruption, when it occurs, will be quite violent, shattering the present temporary, artificial situation and threatening all the confident premises of the new generation. In short, the taxpayer, the housewife, the great non-partisan mass of ordinary Canadians have yet to be heard from, but they will be heard from once the bill comes in, as taxes, prices and deep economic trouble of all sorts.

Thus the new generation, too young to have known any real trouble so far, will then have plenty on its hands. And the new era following that of Mr. Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker is likely to be very different from the lavish blueprints of its apprentice architects.

Letters to the Editor

Confused Canadian Republican

As supporter for a republic for Canada I am very confused over the stand of Premier Bennett and members of his cabinet over this important issue. This is the hottest issue in Canada today and their doubletalk isn't helping matters.

Mr. Bennett continually gives us the impression that he wishes to separate and then on the other hand he says he is a British Empire Loyalist and is true to the Crown. He cannot be both and he knows it. We are fed up with being treated like a bunch of children.—Ken G. Barbour, 1980 Balaclava St., Vancouver.

Prestige Symbol

In answer to a handful of people who sheepishly came on TV and stated—"There are an awful lot of seals," and that one third of the population of Canada who last year and this year signed petitions of protest and wrote letters were emotional, interfering and trouble makers. I recommend they read the paperback copy by Peter Lust—"The Last Seal Pup" and the Canadian Audubon magazine March, April 1967.

We can but plead to the women Canada to refrain from buying sealskin coats.

In the Victorian era, the social status symbol was to own a sealskin coat, not so much for warmth but prestige.

Today, there are many varieties of synthetic furs which sell from $59 to $125, from Persian lamb, mink, seal, etc., etc., which need little care, and, are light and warm.—B. R. Tremiers, 3955 Telegraph Bay.

Gun vs. Bow

Concerning the article on bow hunting in your April 6 issue, I am afraid Mr. A. Williams, bow maker, is not too sure of his facts relating to the killing ability of an arrow. An arrow has penetration without shock effect, thus killing an animal after several hours of bleeding. A well designed bullet of a hunting cartridge gives both velocity, penetration and shock, which, in most cases if delivered well, causes an animal to die in a very few minutes.

I truly believe the bow is excellent for target work, but should not be used when hunting deer. — V. Lovey, Humpback Rd.

Looking Back

From The Times of April 12, 1907.

The suggestion contained in the Times last evening that the Mayor, aldermen and a delegation of citizens should wait upon the government and urge upon it the creation of a Normal School here has been everywhere acclaimed.

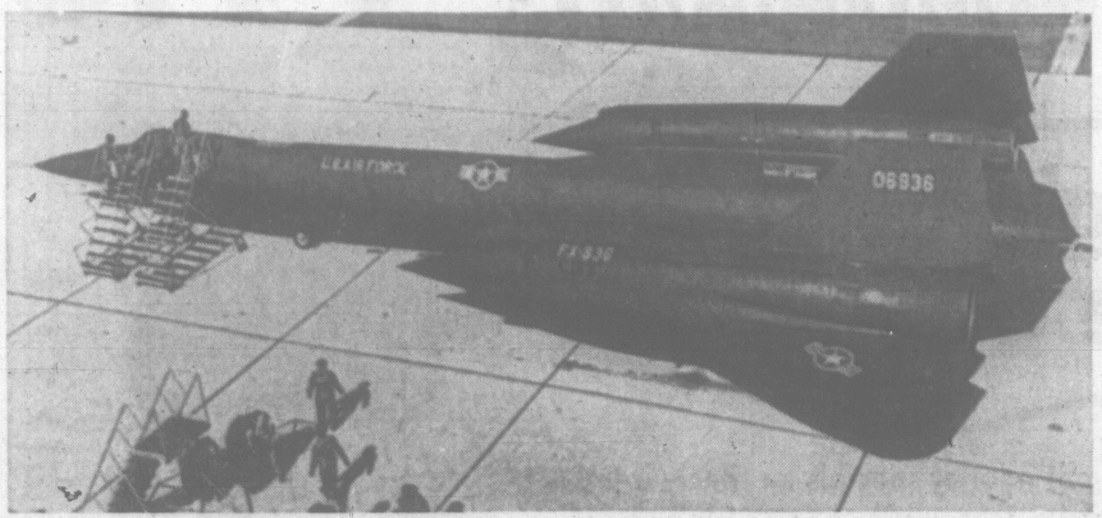
Speaking of the matter this morning, Mayor Morley stated that while he had not been able to give it his entire attention he thought that such action was desirable. He believed that a Normal School would be an admirable asset to the city.

Canada's NORAD Renewal Options Are Limited by Heavy U.S. Pressure

Military, Economic Leverage

By PETER C. NEWMAN

(Last in a Series)



One of the first moves Canada would likely have to make on renewal of the NORAD treaty is the re-equipping of its three Voodoo squadrons with a new aircraft, probably the YF-12, above, a 2,000-m.p.h. interceptor firing nuclear missiles which rush toward target at six times the speed of sound.

OTTAWA—Unless the Pearson government has some dramatic second thoughts, it now looks as if Canada will be forced to renew its North American air defence agreement, an act that could enroll this country in the kind of Buck Rogers anti-missile warfare which has been described in this series of articles.

A close examination of the issues involved leads to the uncomfortable conclusion that our options are at best limited. This kind of fatalistic reasoning is based on the rather mundane fact that despite their emphasis on intercontinental missiles (and anti-missiles) the Russians have also maintained their bomber fleet as a leading element of their attack forces.

Newman

Consisting of 155 "Bear" jets, this fleet is capable of two-way bombing flights over North America, and unless we keep up our existing defences against them, they would get what military planners call "a free ride" over our cities.

Because these bombers remain a real threat, the Americans are exerting tremendous pressure on Canada to maintain its anti-bomber defences, including the three remaining Voodoo squadrons, the two Bomarc sites and all of the attending communications and radar nets.

Strong Case

The Americans have a strong case here. They financed two-thirds of the cost of these installations and the $14 million North Bay base is an important part of the NORAD alert system. For Canada to scrap these anti-bomber defences now would be militarily senseless, politically difficult and diplomatically impossible.

Yet to keep them as part of a renegotiated NORAD agreement would commit us automatically to the new, more dangerous directions of air defence in this missile age. No one has yet determined how it could be possible for Canada to remain part of NORAD, while specifically opting out of any future anti-ballistic missile network.

Military sources in Ottawa claim such a dsitinction is simply not practical.

One decision that would face our government soon after signing another NORAD treaty would be to re-equip the existing Voodoo squadrons with new interceptors, probably the YF-12.

These new fighters, originally designed to replace the high-flying U-2 observation planes, soar at speeds of more than 2,000 m.p.h. and fire AIM nuclear-tipped missiles that rush toward their targets at six times the speed of sound. (The YF-12 travels so fast and generates so much heat that its experimental models have had to have their fuel tanks plated with gold, to conduct the heat away from the volatile fuel chambers.

Any possibility of opting out of NORAD is also limited by the great leverage the Americans are able to exercise over Canada through the defence production sharing agreement between the two countries. Since the Second World War, the Americans have bought armaments here worth more than $5 billions, and their annual purchasing rate here of about $300 millions is an important factor in keeping many of our aircraft and electronic plants in operation.

The Pentagon has broadly hinted that it would abandon the special concessions we now enjoy under the defence sharing agreement, unless we remain loyal members of NORAD.

Several compromises are now in the works. One suggestion is that instead of enlisting in NORAD for another 10 years with a blank cheque approach, we limit our participation to a rolling, NATO kind of five-year treaty with annual reviews.

A much more dramatic break with Canadian military tradition is being advocated by some of Ottawa's younger Liberals. They want, in effect, to demilitarize our unified armed forces and turn them into an economic instrument. This would mean moving young men into temporary service in the armed forces during periods of economic recession, giving them trade training while they serve, and letting them rejoin the labor force when jobs become available again. At the same time, the Department of National Defence would be turned into the headquarters for a sort of domestic and foreign peace corps.

Under this scheme, armed forces personnel would be used to work on community projects here and abroad. Yet another, less drastic suggestion being discussed is that Canadians become military specialists in, say, communications, instead of trying to spread our thin assests over all military functions.

Not Policy

It must be emphasized that none of these startling ideas are in the process of becoming government policy. They reflect only the serious questioning that's going on about Canada's military future.

But the dialogue has at least started. A government that has already dared to challenge its national military traditions once through its unification program, may do so again.

Within the next fearful decade Canada may be playing a dramatically different military role in world affairs.

Strong Back, Weak Mind All Mining Gentry Want

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

Jean-Luc Pepin was a professor of political science for 10 years, in part this explains why his speeches in the House which tend to set out all aspects of a matter, pro and con, seem poorer party politics than their logic deserves. Why give any notice to the other guy's side?

Crowe

For 16 months Mr. Pepin has been Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources. He believes teaching was an excellent prelude to one part of his ministerial chores, the giving of about three speeches a week to diverse audiences.

He insists that the model of the lecture is the best one. Be taut and spare in words and ideas; set out the object or theme; develop it; don't over-elaborate; in conclusion, summarize your analysis; end it!

Fisher

Mr. Pepin doesn't sound like a whiner but a bit of a fatalist when he muses wryly on the echoes of his speeches which reach the general public. How rarely are these from the gist of his material!

For example, last week he spoke to students at his old school, Ottawa University. His subject was the changing relationship between the federal government and the provinces. The mimeographed outline of the speech which he showed us is clear, well-put, and controversial. One might label it Trudeauism."

Mr. Pepin thought the speech persuasive to his audience, many of whom favor separatism, at least emotionally. In the post-speech discussion he made some remarks which dismissed any personal ambitions for higher rank and indicated his support of Jean Marchand for Liberal leadership, if the Quebec leader of the federal Liberals wants it.

* * *

This was "the" news, not the interpretation of Confederation, not his analysis of the present psyche of English Canada, not his present optimism about the national future.

If this was a Pepin failure in "feed-out" another speech he gave — at the large assembly of the Canadian Mining and Metallurgical Institute — had better luck. It made a sharp, if chilling, impress on the mining men and was picked up and spread widely in its essentials by the press.

To us it was the most forthright speech ever given by a federal minister to a powerful, if not conceited, industry. The upper crust of the mining gentry has never asknowledged the social requirements of the 20th century. Too few politicians and fewer journalists ever raise the worst shortcoming of the mining industry. Raising cain about "wash trading" and "bucket shops" is much more popular.

Why are the mines left alone on the poorest part of their record? Because most mines and the surrounding communities are far from urban centres where the press is vigilant and criticism seethes. In the rare exceptions, e.g. Sudbury and the International Nickel Company, the local business community, the press and the politicians seem in awe of the sheer power of the corporation. Oh, they bleat occasionally but there's a shivering reverence toward their Golden Goose.

The hard-rock mining gentry — the owners and managers, not the miners — are very anti-union, the tone set by the powerful Noranda grouping. Their theme: never give an inch unless disaster threatens! Not until Rene Levesque became a Quebec minister did a major politician ever meet Noranda and its cliche free enterprise head on.

It is instructive that another French Canadian, Pepin, has called the magnates' bluff on their manpower demands. They want 10,000 strong backs and uneducated minds from abroad to meet the shortage of miners. They want special arrangements and dispensations. For these to be effective there would certainly have to be a "tied" requirement, at least for a year, put on such immigrants.

* * *

Mr. Pepin said "no" to the request. He pointed out that more than six times the number of 10,000 came in last year as sponsored immigrants, i.e., not needing to meet educational or skill requirements. Obviously, the strong backs were coming.

Why weren't the mines getting them? He looked at the labor turnover in metal mining. It is a scandal. A turnover of entire staff on the average of once every 10 months.

The minister could have searched out worse statistics. We know one mine, one of Ontario's wealthiest, GECO, a Noranda creature, which two years ago had more than a 300 per cent turnover, according to information given us by a union business agent.

Mr. Pepin said that there were many unskilled workers in Canada without steady work who could be absorbed in mining "if the conditions of work and the amenities of life are sufficiently good to overcome the loss of social contacts and recreational opportunities available in the urban areas".

Then he set out some intelligent suggestions on how they might do this. Nowhere in his speech — perhaps he did not want apoplexy striking in front of him — did Pepin mention the anti-unionism of his auditors. But several of the examples he gave of ideal industrial communities abroad, such as in Sweden, are representative of a corporate-union co-operation that is positive and forward-looking.

We feel certain the the question Mr. Pepin wanted to leave in the gentry's mind was this: Has our despotism, enlightened or otherwise, made us blind to what might be done to create stable communities where people, miners and their wives and children, want to stay?

Suburbia Is No Longer An Unqualified Paradise

Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung

It is not surprising that of late people have been taking a hard look at the economics of house-buying. Many of them are busy calculating just how much interest their capital will have accumulated at some fixed time in the future if they invested it in a totally different way. Land prices are of course an important consideration here.

Most people are aware of the many disadvantages of buying a new house, whether it is a modern-style terrace house in a new estate or a detached house in a residential area. The chief problem is the distance, not only from one's place of work, but also from the city centre. Suburbia is no longer the unqualified paradise it once was.

●

Social psychologists, town-planners and welfare workers are united in warning of the massive amount of land that would be consumed by a nation-wide explosion of self-contained one-family dwellings.

The disappearance of the community spirit, the isolation of the children, the high public expenditure involved in opening up these outlying settlements and the eventual despoilation of the countryside — this is the combination of factors that could and should dampen this very passion to have a home of one's own that was deliberately fired not so long ago by government social policy.

●

It is an open question whether a development that has been fostered by the powerful instrument of state subsidies can be reversed. A home of one's own is more than a catchy phrase. It is the expression of a deep-seated desire for a solid foundation in life and, above all, security.

This is an unalterable sociological fact however politicians and technologists may construe it.

In discussions on the merits of a property-owning society it is often argued that the vast majority of people simply want to have their own house as a kind of status symbol, in much the same way as the type of car they drive is considered to be a true reflection of their station, or what they conceive to be their station in life.

This is a rather cynical argument and it certainly does not clarify every aspect of the phenomenon. It may certainly be true of a small proportion of people buying bungalows, but even so this particular motive does not deserve the universal opprobrium that is heaped on it.

Why does a house have any less right to be regarded as an expression of social status than a suit, a holiday abroad, membership of a club or a car?

●

If, however, more and more of the countryside is being swallowed up merely for reasons of social prestige, then it is time to pay attention to the public interest rather than private wants.

What, on the other hand, is the position of the great majority of the population who are doggedly saving up for their long-awaited four walls and their own patch of garden? Can it really be that these families are motivated primarily by the quest for status?

Whatever any amount of inquiries and surveys may say, it must be fairly evident that prestige is not necessarily the motive behind this desire for inalienable possession. There are other, quite different motives.

●

People do not want to remain tenants all their lives at the mercy of some property-owner. They want their own plot of land where their children can grow up away from the prying eyes of others. They want their own gardens too. These are all valid reasons and they explain just why people with moderate, and often very low incomes skimp and save for years to raise the deposit on a mortgage, and then continue to go without in order to meet the repayments.

In the towns the in-cult of switched-on teenagers is spreading. In the cities everything is happening, from the mini-skirt to the drive-in boutique. Families are moving to the country and vegetating there because of the difficulties of living in city society with children.

●

In the country life is less hectic, less liable to sudden change, less trendy than in the city. And so father and mother concentrate their minds, or what is left of them, on the lettuce patch and the terrace.

Our cities have become strange and artificial because, if they have any community atmosphere at all, it is false, cheap and meretricious. It is time thought was given to injecting more community spirit into city life. That would be a great contribution towards bridging the chasm between the with-it mods and the new backwoodsmen.

But the first step is to realize that there is a problem and that its social and political implications are endless.

Now That April's Here Gulls Bring in the Morning

By ART STOTT

The gulls, flying their dawn patrol from Trial and Chain Islands, wheel over the shore rocks off our bay about 5:45 these mornings. Their quarrelsome argument over who's going to light where sets up a "wakey-wakey" chorus which contains no music for me. I shall bring the matter to the attention of one of my near neighbors who has taken to holding conversation with the birds. Perhaps she can exert some influence on them before the "wakey-wakey" starts an hour earlier, clock time, when daylight saving begins.

Stott

Though, like a gentleman of historic wisdom, I marvel at the flight of the birds in the air, I am not, strictly, a gull man. They are bad housekeepers. Their careless attempts at nest-making create one of the slums of nature. For all their arrogance, they are squabbling scavengers, screaming shrilly at their fellows in unseemly fights over food, frequently offal. They do a disservice to my green roof at the ridgepole and they are more disagreeably assertive than a student demonstration for free speech — or anything else they want free.

Their chief offence, of course, is waking me too early. Yet, perhaps I owe them something even for this.

* * *

Were it not for gulls I probably would have no time to look south from my bedroom window and see the delicate tint early morning washes over the snow planes of the Olympics. Had I slept, I should not have heard the soft and, to me, appealing, fluid notes of quail who speak modestly as they scuttle across the foot of the lawn. Nor would I have had time to stare at the red currant that has loosed the tassels of its purses at the bottom of the border, or noticed the new green of a young dogwood which still withholds the promise of blooms.

When the year's at the spring, the day's at the morn and morning's an hour and a quarter before seven, a certain longing is satisfied just by saying "Ah, to be, now that April's here". And you don't have to be anywhere but here.

Fleetingly, perhaps, the garden wears its new dress fresh as a dainty miss, new-preened in crisp cleanliness. The lady of the house has greened her thumb taking out weeds. The Beer-shebas respond with a show of white-cream elegance that is a benediction of the daffodils. The jonquils add pert attractiveness to the display of appreciation.

Where the japonica has been trimmed back to the buds, bright red buttons of color flash in profusion from branches not yet in lush foliage.

A robin hops, head canted, over the turned earth of the vegetable plot, scrutinizing the surface critically, seeming to assess the quality of the digging as he seeks worms.

Inshore, where the bank still shades the water from the early sun, a hen mallard dutifully follows her gaudy and imperious drake, foraging and possibly looking for a nesting site. Nearby a butterball, impeccably dressed in black and white, up-ends in a quick dive. From my window I can trace his submarine course among the sparse eel grass below, darting after small fish.

* * *

The long-ranging wild ducks that wintered in the bay have gone now, slipping away on whistling wings to distant marshes where their broods will be raised. The harlequins have moved again out to the kelp line, but still the cormorants, iridescent black, take sentinal posts on the small island close to shore, ungainly seabirds with a strange, awkward formalism of posture.

Soon, now, the blue heron we call Ichabod will be stalking the shallows, shoulders hunched and head poised to strike at sand flounders, bullheads and minnows that swim unwarily by.

The bell-notes of a redwing's spring song ring from the thicket above Woody Bay, and the ratchet call of a kingfisher will shortly herald warmer days.

A man roused early by the squawk of gulls has opportunity to gaze a little on these activities, hear the calls and anticipate the sights and sounds that nature will bring in days crowding closer.

It is a pleasant interlude, before the noise of steady traffic starts, before the rush of work begins — something a man would miss if his head stayed on his pillow. Perhaps I'm undebted to the gulls.

PARITY WITH $

Pound Pushed Up by Budget

LONDON (CP)—The British government's no-change budget got a frigid reception from most Britons today, but it pushed the proud sterling to parity with the U.S. dollar for the first time in 13 months.

International money dealers expressed their confidence Tuesday by raising the dollar rate to just a fraction below the parity level of $2.80.

Before the start of official dealings on the foreign exchange market today, the pound was quoted at $2.8003 in consultations between dealing houses.

James Callaghan, chancellor of the exchequer, in the blueprint he unveiled Tuesday, chose a safety-first policy for the pound sterling and ruled out any relief from the austerity of freeze and squeeze.

It was, as the experts predicted, a neutral budget, with little or no relief for the average taxpayer.

The Conservative Daily Mail said the budget expressed Prime Minister Wilson's determination that the country would never again have a sterling crisis.

The independent left-wing Sun said Callaghan was right not to be generous, "but did he have to be quite so uninspired and uninspiring?"

DEMAND AID

Members of Parliament, businessmen and union leaders reacted with disappointment and disillusion. Twenty Labor MPs signed a House of Commons motion demanding more state aid for poor families.

Hopes for tax cuts or measures to boost investment and reduce unemployment were dashed by Callaghan.

Callaghan did cut instalment plan deposits on purchase of motorcycles and extended the maximum allowable repayment time to 27 months from 24.

Asked in a television interview why motorcycles were the only sector of the economy to get relief from the nine-month-long credit squeeze, he replied:

"Motorcycles are always thought of in terms of the young man in a black jacket at 100 miles an hour along a bypass.

"In fact, 95 per cent of motorcycles are low-powered and are used by people for getting to work. I want to help this cheap means of getting to work."

'LOST' PROGRAM

Businessmen agreed with Conservative Leader Edward Heath that Callaghan had produced a "lost opportunities" program by not cutting taxes to encourage investment.

Labor unions were galled by Callaghan's warning that no big wage increases will be tolerated after the compulsory freeze ends in July.

The budget increased allowances for single or widowed women with dependents and gave slight relief to authors and other creative artists who now can spread certain taxes over six years instead of one.

But there was no relief for citizens wanting to holiday abroad—the £50 travel limit was retained.

IN CHARGE of answering the centennial commission's mail from people who want to know about Canada's birthday is Ann Altimas, 21, of Ottawa. She gets an average of 300 letters a day with peaks of 1,000 and some of them demand leg work to raise the answers. Others can be cleaned up with prepared pamphlets about Expo 67.

National Health Plan 'An Exploding Abyss'

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Complete government provision of health services could wipe out personal responsibility and initiative, a former president of the British Columbia Medical Association said today.

"We live in a time when political handouts can pass for policy," Dr. Peter J. Banks of Victoria warned the regional conference on health services.

Still, he said, it has long been obvious governments would have to finance health programs and "intelligence, an open mind, experiment" were the only ways to tackle the complex and changing problems.

Among problems involved in establishing a national health program Dr. Banks listed cost. "And this isn't a pothole, this is an exploding abyss."

He also said manpower will present a problem. Canada was losing some of its best doctors because of the wide disparity in research money spent in Canada and the United States.

"Our researchers, who are also our medical teachers, are being drawn into the U.S. where greater opportunities, rewards and challenges exist," Dr. Banks said.

Big Canoe Project Delayed Until Winter

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Construction at Thunderbird Park in Victoria of one of the largest Indian canoes to be built in years has been postponed until next winter.

Provincial anthropologist Don Abbott said today the construction of a 35-foot Nootkan canoe has been set aside in favor of another project.

"We won't have time to build it this summer," he said. "We have other work to do."

The huge cedar log donated to the Provincial Museum by B.C. Forest Products Ltd. is at Port Renfrew.

News of the delay was received with mixed feelings by tourist officials.

Sam Lane, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group, hoped Mr. Abbott would reconsider.

"It's a first class project for centennial year," he said. "It's not every day people can see a boat carved out of a huge log.

"This project could be worked up to attract attention in eastern Canada and the United States. There is no necessity to drop it.".

Instead of the canoe, the carvers have been put to work carving house poles to be used in the construction of a three-quarter section of a Kwakiul house.

The Indian house will be erected in the new museum in December. All but two sides will be made of wood.

The house will be used to stage live Indian ceremonial dances, Mr. Abbott said.

"We haven't got room at the park to undertake the canoe at the same time," he said.

He was cool to a suggestion that the canoe be built at some other site, such as Beacon Hill Park.

Some Port Renfrew businessmen would like to see the canoe started in their locality. It would be an added attraction for visitors to the west coast logging community, they said.

B.C. Forest Products searched for months for a suitable log of sufficient length and free from rot. It was finally found in a cedar forest in the Gordon River district.

ADVISE, ASSIST YOUTH

N. Cowichan to Organize Auxiliary Social Workers

By DON DINGWALL

NORTH COWICHAN—A panel of auxiliary social workers will be formed in this district to "advise and assist young people in difficulty".

The panel will be an offshoot of the North Cowichan family and Children's Court committee.

It is the brainchild of Mrs. Beth Rustalka and probation officer Stan Mouncey.

Mr. Mouncey said: "The object is to provide a source of friendship, interest and support."

He claimed initial inquiries have been favorably received.

"Such a panel might utilize this goodwill and give members of the community a real opportunity to become involved in rehabilitative work," said Mr. Mouncey.

The committee will work out details regarding recruitment, training and administration.

Recruits will be sought from church groups and other lay organizations.

PROBATION OFFICER

The committee also decided to appoint an unpaid but officially approved probation officer to work mainly on the reserves with Indian children.

Mr. Mouncey hoped similar schemes can be started at Lake Cowichan and Chemainus.

The probation officer will make a second approach to the city of Duncan to see if it will form its own family and children's court committee or join the municipal body.

One suitable foster home has been found to take transient juveniles who are before the court.

Mr. Mouncey said: "We would like to hear from other families prepared to accept children in their home on a temporary basis while inquiries can be made into their background and parents located."

Rev. William Hill, Chemainus, has been appointed new chairman of the committee with Mr. Mouncey as secretary and members Reeve Donald Morton, Mrs. Betty McKierahan, Mrs. Peter Williams and Mrs Rustalka.

Look Promised At Teen-Town Hall Proposal

DUNCAN—City council will stick with the development of playing fields for its centennial project.

But Monday night council agreed to refer a teen-town plan for a community hall to the combined city and North Cowichan parks committee for study and report.

The teen-town presentation was backed by a delegation of teen-agers and ratepayers from Centennial Heights subdivision.

Arnie Falconberg of Teen-Town's senior advisory council said the plan calls for a building of 18,200 square feet costing about $55,000 to $60,000.

It would accommodate up to 500 for concerts.

Mr. Falconberg said this hall would be over and above the auditorium complex needed in the district.

NEAR PARK

They had in mind a piece of property adjoining Pioneer Park offered by the municipal council.

Jim Quaife, adult advisor to Teen-Town, said: "We've been after city council support for a hall the past two years.

"North Cowichan has offered assistance for a joint project with the city and we are offering assistance. I can think of no better project than a community hall whether it is to be part of an overall complex or not."

Mayor Jack Dobson said: "It is impossible for the city to support this hall plan alone and have it go through as a centennial project."

He said council is on record as stating the centennial grant will be used for playing field development and a changing room at Wharncliffe Park.

Ald. Hamish Mutter said a $1,000,000 recreational complex which many people envisaged for the district would have to be paid for from the taxes of a wider area than the city of Duncan.

Manslaughter Charge

WILLIAMS LAKE,B.C. (CP) —Steven Arthur Croft, 22, Alfred William Conkie, 20, and Robert Leslie Wilson, 23, all of Williams Lake, were charged today with manslaughter following the discovery Sunday of the nude body of a woman near Lac La Hache, 30 miles south of here. Police said an autopsy showed the woman, believed to be about 20, died of a broken neck.

PIONEER LOGGER

Hemmingsen Rites Set for Thursday

Funeral services will be held Thursday for a pioneer in the woods industry.

Mathias Hemmingsen, who introduced the technique of high lead logging to B.C., died in Victoria Monday. He was 90.

He was superintendent of Victoria Lumbering and Manufacturing Company in the early 1900s and looked after logging the commpany's holdings and its mill at Chemainus.

He was a 50-year member of Temple Lodge No. 33, AF and AM BCR, in Duncan.

Funeral services at McCall Brothers' main chapel, Johnson and Vancouver, will be at 11 a.m. Thursday with Very Rev. Dr. Hugh McLeod officiating. Cremation will follow.

He is survived by the widow, Margaret; three sons, William of Victoria, John of Vancouver and Robert of Ottawa; two daughters, Mrs. Hugh Beck, Victoria, and Mrs. Gordon Tomlin, Victoria.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — Badly needed rain fell over the drought-scarred southwestern U.S. today, setting off an eight-cent decline in wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Liquidation by longs was at a furious pace which one knowledgeable trader termed "like a race after rabbits."

The decline in wheat prices had a strong effect on all other grains.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices showed irregularity on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today following recessions in U.S. commodities, particularly wheat and rye.

Declines in the Chicago market were in response to the widespread rains received by dry winter wheat areas in the U.S.

Some Winnipeg commodities resisted the declines with flax showing firmness due to light offerings and overseas support. Trade reports indicated 1,500 tons of flax were sold to the continent and 1,000 tons to Britain.

Rapeseed prices were easier but there were indications of some export business being conducted.

Oats and barley prices were steady and trade reports indicated 4,000 tons of barley were sold to Britain.

Rye prices were easier following declines in Chicago.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and Domestic wheat were all up ⅛.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Drop Continues

Lack of blue chip leadership continued to plague the Toronto stock exchange as prices declined for the fourth straight session today. Volume was also sluggish.

The New York market was mixed in moderate trading.

AT TORONTO, Famous Players and Dominion Textile fell 1 each to 36½ and 26 and Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 23⅝. Supertest added 1¼ at 26½ and Beaver Lumber and Thomson Newspapers 1 each at 41 and 25¼.

Western oils tumbled after being sharply up in earlier activity. Dome dropped 1½ to 54¾, Banff ⅞ to 14⅛ and Central-Del Rio ⅛ to 10⅞. Canadian Superior moved up 1⅛ to 36⅛.

Among base metals, Preston rose 1⅛ to 16⅜ and Falconbridge and Pine Point ⅞ to 87¾ and 52⅞.

AT NEW YORK the average was dragged down by fractional losses of such stocks as Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Alcoa, American Cyanamid and Standard Oil New Jersey.

Among Canadian stocks Dome Mines and Walker Gooderham were up ¼, Canadian Pacific ½. Granby Mining was down ¾, International Nickel ⅜, Alcan ⅛.

AT MONTREAL the market remained uncertain of direction and as a result most sections were mixed in light trading today.

CPR, Canada Cement and Molson A all advanced ½ point to 68½, 42 and 24½ respectively among the industrials. Dominion Textile eased ⅝ to 26 and Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 23⅝.

Among the utilities B.C. Telephone added ½ to 67, while Interprovincial Pipe Line lost ¼ to 100¾.

AT LONDON British funds advanced strongly on the stock market today following the chancellor of the exchequer's reference to his hopes of "continuing strength" in the market.

Equities eased after an uncertain opening. A feature was provided by gold shares which were in demand following the U.S. treasury denial of gold policy change—regarded as open to doubt in some quarters—and interest was further stimulated by a heavy demand for the metal in London.

Dollar stocks were mixed, the tone seeming to improve during the morning. Canadian Pacific was a soft spot and small falls elsewhere amongst Canadian stocks were headed by International Nickel.

AT VANCOUVER Placer Development put on .62 to reach a new high of $34.62 in pre-noon trading.

Otherwise, most mining issues lost ground although Taylor Bridge was strong and gained .07 to .31 on 44,500 shares.

Adera was the heaviest trader with 74,000 shares and dropped .03 to .67. Brenda fell .30 to $6.05, Atlas lost .10 to $2.20 and a .06 loss went to Brenmac at .50.

In the industrials, B.C. Tel rose .62 to $66.62 and Scott Paper was .50 better at $19.50.

The oil section saw Bata dip .06 to $2.44 on 27,600 shares.

Retail Trade In Victoria Shows Growth

Retail trade in Victoria, judging by cheque clearances at the chartered banks, was in better shape at year's end than in Vancouver, with a 30 per cent edge over the mainland city based on November.

And in further support is a statement by the owners of Mayfair shopping centre, who report their 22 tenants last year did 12 per cent more business than in 1965.

Canadian Allied Property Investments Ltd. said in an annual statement Tuesday, "The Mayfair shopping centre has made steady progress," completing its third year of operation in 1966.

It serves not only Greater Victoria municipalities, but "indeed a wide area of southern Vancouver Island."

CAPI improved its net profit position last year by $3,200 for a total of $33,506.

Prior to November, the company received most of its revenues from Mayfair, but its largest development to date — Guildford shopping centre in Surrey — is expected to take first place as it becomes fully operative.

Bank clearances for Victoria in December were $495 million, up 5 per cent from the previous December and 28 per cent from the previous month.

Vancouver figures showed $2.8 billion, a decline of 4 per cent from December 1965, and 2 per cent off November.

The Victoria forecast for June 1967, according to Babson's Canadian Investment Letter, is a 5 per cent improvement over last June, while Vancouver will remain unchanged.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Production Near For Atlas Chain

By AB KENT
Business Editor

This is the month for Atlas Chain Co. Ltd., the month in which shareholders hoped to see production commence a year ago.

But maybe this year will be different. At least president Hershell Smith is confident enough of the Victoria firm's ability to overcome its many problems in time to go into full production by the shareholder's meeting April 24.

In his 1967 report, Mr. Smith says:

"By the date of our annual meeting I am hopeful that regular assembly production and sales will have commenced."

KENT

Most of the delay encountered by Atlas in its striving to begin making power saw chain has been referred to as "pre-production problems."

In establishing a new industry from the ground up, especially where the product evolves from some original ideas, the technical and mechanical prerequisites are often formidable. Perhaps Atlas has had more than its share.

But in the back shop all machinery is now in readiness, and according to the latest word, only the final development of one small part remains.

There is little doubt that Atlas has a satisfactory product.

The promise has been sufficient to warrant an interim agreement with one of the world's largest chain saw makers, McCulloch Corp., relating to manufacture and distribution.

Samples have been tested here, and at logging centres on Vancouver Island, at Prince George and in New Brunswick. All major chain saw makers in Canada and the U.S. have been given samples and more has gone to Germany.

Mr. Smith said he has no doubts about the company's "ability to develop and make chain competitively, bearing in mind the time and finances required to assure success."

The financing referred to by Mr. Smith is one of the matters that will be dealt with at the annual meeting.

A fledgling company does not run on air, and without revenue from sales Atlas has had to borrow and sell debentures, with the result that liabilities, including shareholder equity, came to $2,027,876 as of Dec. 31, 1966.

Total pre-production expenses for the year were $335,769, or $428,695 including 1965.

There were equipment commitments for $44,474; rent and interest must be paid. Shareholders, no doubt, will be asking how much longer the money will go out before it starts coming in.

Rumors around town have it that an Edmonton group is buying Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd.

A check with president Harold Husband disclosed that "discussions are taking place and have been for some time. But there is nothing definite."

VICL over the years has developed from a local operation to a service extending into the northern island and on special trips to the mainland, the U.S. and Alberta, using the latest in highway coaches.

The executive director of Hong Kong Chamber of Commerce will be guest speaker at a meeting Monday of Victoria chamber's retail merchants group, at Century Inn, noon.

His topic will be Hong Kong — A Natural Canadian Partner.

Consulting engineer Dr. P. T. Mikluchin, on behalf of the Canadian Structural Clay Association, will give an analysis of National Building Code rules on the use of masonry in load bearing walls when he appears Thursday at the Red Lion Inn.

He will explain how the code permits buildings of 20 stories or more with eight-inch clay masonry bearing walls.

Canadians Eye New Gas Fields

TORONTO (CP) — Still another Canadian company is hoping to get a piece of the action developing in the billion-dollar-plus potential of Europe's new-found gas fields.

Consumers' Gas Co., which distributes gas to customers in southern Ontario and the Ottawa Valley, has sent teams of technical and marketing experts to five European countries to give advice on handling natural gas.

Billing itself as the company which can offer the wisdom of hindsight, Consumers is putting itself into competition with consulting engineers from many parts of the world in hopes of winning some of the rich fees that soon will be available from European gas companies.

Although the use of gas as a fuel has a long history in Europe, most of the continent's experience has been with manufactured gas. Now, with major discoveries made under the North Sea and in England and intensive exploration still going on, most countries will be switching to natural gas.

HELP TO SAVE MONEY

Consumers, which went through the change a decade ago when natural gas became available in the east to replace manufactured gas, figures it can save Europeans a lot of time and money by passing on its experiences.

So far, about 75 men have worked in England, Holland, Belgium, Germany and Spain and an equal number have been tabbed for further overseas work, some possibility going to Australia Japan.

The company won't say what fees have been collected, but a spokesman says they have more than paid their way for the services given.

Consumers experts have helped work out rate structures and sales programs for companies that will be switching to natural gas, as well as giving advice on public relations and tchnical problems involved in preparing existing distribution systems to take the new fuel.

B.C. Carpet Firm Acquired by Imbrex

VANCOUVER (CP) — Imbrex Ltd. of Montreal has acquired Maguire's Carpet Distributors Ltd. of Vancouver in a $1,000,000 deal that gives the eastern floor-covering company coast-to-coast distribution.

Imbrex, formed last April through the merger of three floor-covering distribution firms, is headed by R. Guy Godbout, who is also president of Delorimier Distributors Inc. of Montreal. Other firms in the group are A. B. Green Agencies Ltd. of Hamilton, Ont., and H. M. Lennox Ltd. of Moncton, N.B.

SAUNDERS LEAVES LAURENTIDE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Financier Peter Paul Saunders Tuesday terminated his association with Laurentide Financial Corporation.

His resignation as vice-chairman and director was announced at a meeting of board directors. Mr. Saunders helped to found the company in 1950 and headed it for 16 years.

He said he immediately will establish an organization for the development of capital projects, particularly in western Canada.

In addition to his post with Laurentide, Mr. Saunders was active in development of British Columbia's only independent television company and in recreational development on Grouse Mountain.

One-Hour Loan Call To BIF President

TORONTO (CP) — Sinclair Stevens, president of British International Finance (Canada) Ltd., said Tuesday he thinks testimony he gave before the Commons finance committee may have influenced the Toronto-Dominion Bank in calling a loan of about $32,000 on one hour's notice.

Loans to his wife, Noreen, and to Philip B. MacDonald, a senior officer of the BIF group, were called at the same time. Total value of the three loans was about $65,000.

Mr. Stevens said the bank's move came less than a month after he told the Commons committee the bank had shut off the BIF group's line of credit.

The BIF president told the committee Feb. 8 that the group's line of credit was cut off by Toronto-Dominion and other Canadian banks, partly because of BIF's interest in the Bank of Western Canada.

He said Tuesday the Toronto-Dominion loan was phoned by R. F. Redpath, manager of the bank's downtown Toronto branch, March 3, and told his BIF common shares, and his shares in the Bank of Western Canada and York Trust and Savings Corp. that secured the loan, could be sold within one hour if the loan was not paid off in cash.

He said the shares securing all three loans were valued at more than twice the loan amounts.

Mr. Redpath refused Tuesday to discuss what he called "accounts of customers." He did not deny the one-hour loan call.

Here's What The Experts Are Saying About The New Model
VOLVO 144s

"The word for Volvo's first new sedan in 10 years is RUGGED! Call it safe, with a touch of luxury—and drive it forever!"
Reprint from "Popular Imported Cars Magazine"

"In our opinion 10 safety features really establish the New Volvo 144s as a true safety performance automobile, the firm already enjoys a reputation for building quality, durability and safety into its automobiles", but the 144s far exceeds anything, safetywise that is, the company has thus produced.

There are actually 10 safety features of the 144s all of which are standard at no extra cost and which deserve merit. We'll start the ball rolling with the 3-wheel split brake system, which has it all over our domestic set-ups which have received "rave" notices over the past few months."
Reprint from Hi-Performance Cars Magazine

"The Volvo B-18 Engine is one of the most, if not THE most, reliable, rugged and unbreakable passenger car engines being built today."
Reprint from Sports Car Graphic Magazine

"Together the door pillars on the new Volvo 144s can support 15 tons and the roof of the car can actually support the weight of 12 neatly stacked cars on top of it. Now that's what I call built-in, not added-on safety engineering."
Reprint from Hi-Performance Cars Magazine

"Built to last 11 years in Sweden, you'll need an axe to finish it off in the U.S."
Reprint from "Car and Driver Year Book"

LISTEN DETROIT!—and you might learn something about building a really safe performance car from, would you believe, little ol' VOLVO!
Reprint from Hi-Performance Cars Magazine

"Once there was a Volvo with an ordinary 99,999 mile odometer. It lasted so long the company took to referring to it as "Old Friend" and last year they phased it out of production after 23 years to make room for more "Young Friend" Volvos, the 122 model. Swedes and other people kept these cars so long that when they sold them the buyers couldn't really tell whether their "new" used Volvos had covered 40,000 miles (just barely broken in properly), 140,000 miles (usually a very healthy used car if properly cared for), 240,000 or even 340,000 miles (perhaps pretty tired even for a car as tough as a Volvo) and since most Volvos go through several hands before hitting their 11-year optional retirement age, Volvo sales engineers thought it only fair to do something for these future owners. They specified a 999,999-mile odometer."
Reprint: Foreign Car Guide

"The Volvo 144 seats themselves, are the epitome of comfort providing sufficient support for the thighs and cradling the back in a manner that would make long drives a real pleasure."
Reprint from Popular Imported Cars Magazine

"The engine and transmission are virtually unbreakable and it's as loyal as a puppy. We doubt anyone can drive a Volvo without getting a lasting impression and if he buys it, that impression will last and last and last."
Reprint from Car and Driver Year Book

"We've always said that the Volvo was a good car, the manufacturer has not let us down with this new model 144s. We're convinced that dollar for dollar the new Volvo is a most impressive buy."
Reprint from Popular Imported Cars Magazine

"It has been storied about that various Detroit manufacturers have spent large sums of money to make car doors slam shut with the solid, reassuring sound of quality. It is doubtful whether it involves anything intentional, but shutting a Volvo door sounds like about eight and one half million dollars."
Reprint from Car and Driver Magazine

"When we consider that this car can be purchased with a fair number of options for less than $3,600, and at that price will outperform most and outlast anything that can be considered remotely competitive, you better believe that you are getting one heckuva automobile for one heckuva bargain. Unfortunately, there are precious few makes that share that distinction.

$2.5 MILLION RELOCATION PROGRAM FOR NATAL, MICHEL

Residents Can Leave Air-Polluted Valley

SPARWOOD, B.C. (CP) — A $2,500,000 relocation program to take the people of Natal and Michel out of their valley ridden with air pollution was signed Tuesday.

Sparwood Reeve Orlando Ungaro said the agreement paves the way for negotiations to begin between Natal-Michel property owners and the district which will buy their land.

The residential sections of the twin mining communities near the British Columbia - Alberta border are scheduled to be put to the torch and the land converted for industrial use.

A report to the B.C. legislature in 1966 said the growing coal mining and coking industry in the valley fills the air with dust and fumes. Few of the area's 1,500 residents can grow grass.

The agreement was signed by J. E. Brown, deputy provincial minister of municipal affairs, Robert Clauson, regional supervisor of Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., and Frank Bertoia of Cranbrook, secretary of the East Kootenay Regional District.

The agreement calls for financing to be shared 50 per cent by the federal government and 25 per cent by the provincial and district governments.

Sparwood is three miles from the mining area, hit by a mine explosion April 3 that killed 15 men, but is in another valley which is free from the polluted air.

Mr. Ungaro said cash payments will be made to the residents, but there will be no compulsion to move—"they'll be free agents."

He said 350 residential sites are ready in Sparwood as is a new business district with fire hall, hospital, municipal hall and other buildings.

NATAL (CP) — Some of the coal miners who escaped the blast that killed 15 of their co-workers in the Balmer North mine April 3, have asked for new jobs, or are leaving town.

Six already have left, another 20 have asked for transfers to other mines or surface jobs, a Crows Nest Industries Ltd. spokesman said Tuesday.

Mine manager James Morris said the reaction was not abnormal.

Mr. Morris said clearing of the mine's seven miles of tunnels is proceeding on schedule and should be finished in two weeks.

PER-MILE RATE IS ANSWER

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Canada has been trying unsuccessfully to get agreement on a fixed passenger rate per mile for international flights, Air Canada President Gordon McGregor told the Commons transport committee Tuesday.

"I'm sorely tempted to say that CPA bucked it," he added.

"You've already said it," one MP interjected.

Mr. McGregor was replying to L. R. Bud Sherman (PC—Winnipeg South) who complained that air fares from Winnipeg to Europe are higher than from Montreal, despite Winnipeg's shorter route over the pole. The Air Canada president said a per-mile rate "is the logical approach and I'm sure it has got to come."

He was not asked to elaborate on his brief reference to Canadian Pacific Airlines on the fares question.

AIR CANADA CHIEF SAYS:

Expanded CPA Service Would Slash Revenues

OTTAWA (CP) — Air Canada expects to lose between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 in potential revenue this year if Canadian Pacific Airlines expands its trans-continental service, president Gordon McGregor of Air Canada said Tuesday.

However, he told the Commons transport committee it is not known when CPA will take advantage of a recent government decision to allow it four trans-continental flights daily instead of two. Aircraft might not be available for some time.

Mr. McGregor said in reply to Ed Schreyer (NDP — Springfield) that the revenue loss would not necessarily place Air Canada in a deficit position. It had a net income last year of $2,909,878.

Lat4r he said the increased CPA competition might mean a reduction of $1,500,000 in Air Canada's profit on the trans-continental route, which runs between Vancouver and Montreal.

It was Air Canada's first appearance before the committee in almost three years.

Most complaints raised by members were about changes in Air Canada regional schedules. Mr. McGregor said planned improvements in regional service were being held up by delayed deliveries of the DC-9 jet, a short-range aircraft which is to replace the Viscount and Vanguard fleet.

He told Don Jamieson (L—Burin-Burgeo) that the airline is showing a profit on its total North American operation and a "good profit" on international operations.

He advised David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) that most of the regional air routes within Canada have been losing money and estimated the total at $15,000,000 a year.

Among the losers were Vancouver-Victoria, Edmonton-Calgary, Vancouver-Seattle, Halifax Boston, Toronto-Lakehead and eastern Quebec.

Mr. McGregor agreed with Mr. Orlikow that the operation of unprofitable routes, carried on in the public interest, makes it impossible to compare Air Canada and CPA from the standpoint of efficiency.

Grant Deachman (L—Vancouver Quadra) was told that Air Canada is continuing a study of new services between Vancouver and major Prairie centres.

Replying to Raymond Rock (L—Montreal Jacques Cartier-Lasalle), he said the U.S. airlines strike last year diverted $3,500,000 worth of business to Air Canada and the Canadian railway strike brought in an estimated $900,000.

However, the strike of Air Canada machinists last fall cost $3,700,000 in lost business.

Mr. McGregor said Air Canada expects an increase of 24 per cent in passenger traffic this year, due chiefly to Expo and Centennial Year events. Last year's increase was 17 per cent.

L. R. Bud Sherman (PC—Winnipeg South) was assured that Air Canada made every effort to obtain a Winnipeg-Chicago route during bilateral negotiations with the U.S. last year.

Mr. McGregor said Canada was unable to obtain the route because its negotiators ran out of bargaining points. He promised that a determined effort will be made when the air treaty is reopened in 1969.

Food Chains Profits Scored by Senator

OTTAWA (CP) — The steady increase in profit margins by the five major food retailing chains was criticized Tuesday by Senator David Croll, co-chairman of the Senate-Commons committee on consumer prices.

He said the stores "wanted the best of both worlds." They were not content with increasing profits by increasing sales, but increased the percentage of profit as well.

The committee was discussing a profitability study of the five major food chains prepared by Clarkson, Gordon and Co., chartered accountants, assessing the profits of A and P stores, Loblaws, Dominion Stores, Safeway and Steinberg's Ltd. over the last several years.

The report showed that the profits as a percentage of sales increased from 1.35 per cent in 1961-62 to 1.66 per cent in 1965-66. In terms of the percentage of total assets it was from 6.25 to 6.65 per cent.

Donald C. Scott of Montreal, a partner in the firm of Clarkson, Gordon, warned that the figures should be treated generally due to the difficulty in clearly defining what aspects of each chain's operation was food retailing and what was manufacturing or wholesaling.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City and more than a dozen states and other cities have filed anti-trust suits accusing 10 chlorine-manufacturing companies of conspiring to fix prices, it was disclosed Tuesday by J. Lee Rankin, city corporation counsel.

In a suit filed Friday in federal court in San Francisco, Rankin said, the city claimed it was overcharged $1,400,000 on chlorine purchases made since 1948 and asked triple damages under federal anti-trust laws.

He identified the companies as Allied Chemical Corp., Diamond Alkali Co., Dow Chemical Co., EMC Corp., Hooker Chemical Corp., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Pennsalt Chemicals Corp., Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Stauffer Chemical Co. and Wyandotte Chemicals Corp.

The truth about swinging Britain

Not all of Britain swings. There's still a traditional Britain that's truly unforgettable. It's simply a matter of choice. Some of our passengers fly to Britain for a swinging vacation. Others prefer the things which you find only in Britain . . . splendid castles, the changing of the guard. Hillsides ablaze with purple heather.

Only BOAC with Air Canada flies direct to Britain, and this summer we offer you the choice of up to 12 jet services a day from Toronto and Montreal. And there are several flights a week from western Canada; including direct services to London.

Plan your trip now. See your BOAC travel agent and he'll plan your kind of British vacation.

ADJUDICATOR:

'Excellent Basic Work' In Dancing

By AUDREY JOHNSON

Dance sessions in the Victoria Music Festival concluded Tuesday with adjudicator Miss Shirley Nalevyken expressing pleasure in the excellent basic work being done.

She was particularly pleased to see the many boys and large groups taking the floor at Central Junior Secondary School.

Among the most impressive performances was Quadra School with 120 dancers in one entry and Victoria West School which had a total of eight groups entered, topped three classes and took the Lilian Smethurst Award with a 91, the highest mark in the dance section.

An honor performance by groups selected by Miss Nalevyken takes place tonight at Central Junior auditorium.

In two Centennial classes for school bands (players under 19) Tuesday night, Mount View Senior Secondary totalled 189 marks, leading the group of six entries.

Conducted by Howard Denike, Mount View will now compete next month for the right to represent this region in the provincial finals in Vancouver in June.

Also placing in the competition will be Colquitz Junior Secondary band conducted by Emil Michaux. Sole entry in the class open to any junior or school band, Colquitz achieved 185 points.

A major award was made Tuesday when John Lees, 19, received the coveted Congress of Strings scholarship for his performance of the first movement of the Mozart A major Violin Concerto.

Most valuable scholarship in the festival, this is awarded by the Victoria Musicians Association, Local 247 AF of M. The winner is sent with all expenses paid, to an eight-week session with the finest string teachers in the United States.

Mr. Lees was the only entry this year but adjudicator Barton Frank said that he had no hesitation in recommending that he receive the award. He gave him a mark of 90.

Another 90 in violin classes went to Darien Hunt for his performance in the senior sonata section.

A class of young cellists delighted Mr. Frank, who awarded first place with 86 marks to George Kiraly. Each of these cellists had a really fine talent, Mr. Barton said, and he again spoke highly of the excellent training evident throughout the string classes.

Brass and woodwind performers drew high marks and praise from adjudicator Robert Miller. Highest solo mark was scored by C. Salm with 97 for a woodwind solo. One mark behind was Don Mayer in the same class. Dennis Johnston was third with 95.

Earlier in the day Glen Thompson, Ian Fetterley and Richard Carswell had scored 93, 91 and 90 respectively, in a brass solo class.

In brass ensemble classes, Oak Bay Senior Secondary drew 95 and the Mount View Trombone Quartette, 94. Gordon Head Junior Secondary woodwind ensemble also scored 94.

Robert Miller said that in a wide adjudicating experience across the United States, he had heard no finer playing. 'I wish some of the teachers and players there could come and hear you people in Victoria," he said.

Tuesday results:

TWO JAILED IN DUNCAN CAR THEFTS

Duncan — Jail terms were handed out Tuesday to Brian Kenneth Robinson, 19, of Duncan, and Carson Andrew Alexander, 19, of Lantzville.

The two appeared on remand for sentence after having previously pleaded guilty to charges of car theft and breaking and entering.

Magistrate George Hallett sentenced each to nine months' definite and nine months' indeterminate.

The charges arose from a March 20 incident when Robinson and Alexander broke into the office of Duncan Garage Ltd. used car lot and stole several sets of car keys.

LUSAKA, Zambia (Reuters) — Zambia's trade with Rhodesia, formerly its biggest trading partner, last year dropped by about a third on the import side and about half on exports, figures released here on Tuesday show. Zambia's trade with the United States, Britain and South Africa has increased.

'IN THIS CORNER, WEIGHING . . .'

There have been some dandy fights in New York's Madison Square Garden and if you took all the people milling about the ice here you could just about fill a fight card. The main eventers were Montreal's Terry Harper, No. 19, who obviously likes to lead with his left, and New York's Reg Fleming, No. 9, who apparently likes to lead with his chin. Limited to scowls and threats the contest was rated a draw. Rangers fared less well against Montreal, losing 3-2. (AP Wirephoto.)

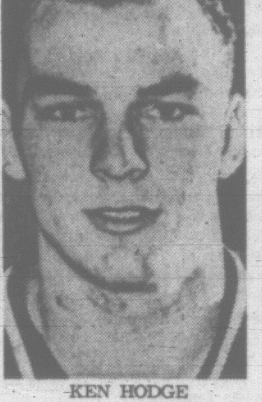
Hawks' Billy Reay Screeches 'Foul'

Hodge Penalty Provokes Uproar as Toronto Wins

By DAVID MILLER

TORONTO (CP) — Billy Reay didn't mince his words Tuesday night—he screamed foul.

The fiery little Chicago Black Hawk coach objected to a cross-checking penalty in the second period to Ken Hodge. Frank Mahovlich scored on the Toronto Maple Leafs power-play and the Leafs went on to win the game 3-1 to take a 2-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.



KEN HODGE
. . . his 'sin' costly

"The referee called Doug Jarrett for cross-checking in the first period and Hodge for the same thing in the second," Reay said.

"But just before Hodge's penalty, Larry Jeffrey cross-checked a guy right in front of the referee and it wasn't even called."

The next game is scheduled Thursday in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

In the Leafs' dressing room, Punch Imlach, Toronto coach and general manager, was also complaining — about Chicago scoring ace Bobby Hull.

"That guy was charging all night and he never even got a penalty. He's like a bull when he charges. He charged George Armstrong Sunday night in Chicago and put him out of action for this game.

"I don't want to lose a couple of players to that guy."

TERRY DRAWS PRAISE

But both coaches had praise for Toronto goaltender Terry Sawchuk, who turned away 35 shots and frustrated the Hawks continually early in the first period.

"He kept us in the game for the first five minutes or so, while we were still a bit shaky," Imlach said. "He played well throughout the game."

Reay said the Black Hawks had all the chances in the first half of the period, but "Sawchuk played well. You can't take anything away from him."

But the Hawks could not take advantage of the Toronto lapse and when Ron Ellis scored near the 10-minute mark it was Toronto from then on.

Mahovlich and Jim Pappin scored in the second period and the veteran Sawchuk appeared to have his 12th playoff shutout until Hull scored on a Black Hawk power - play late in the final period.

HALL BEATEN CLEANLY

Both coaches said all the Toronto goals were picture-plays and Reay refused to blame Chicago goaltender Glenn Hall.

"I thought Ellis' goal was a beauty," he said. "He had about a six-inch circle to put the puck in and he put it in there.

"On Pappin's goal, I don't know how many stops a guy should have to make. Hall made two and had no chance when the puck finally went in."

Most of the Hawks said after the game Leafs have been much tougher in the playoffs than during the regular National Hockey League schedule.

"They're getting the breaks," said defenceman Pierre Pilote when reminded the Leafs didn't get a win on Chicago ice all season. "We make one mistake and the puck's in the net. It goes that way sometimes."

MISS MOHNS

Doug Mohns, of the Hawks Scooter line of Stan Mikita and Ken Wharram, did not play Tuesday night because of a hip injury.

And the Hawks missed him. Dennis Hull took the left winger's shift in the first period and Red Hay played it briefly in the second.

On the other side of the injury ledger, George Armstrong was out for the Leafs with a knee injury sustained in Sunday night's game. Brian Conacher moved from left wing to Armstrong's spot on right wing and nearly scored in the first period.

"I missed a few good chances out there," Conacher said. "but I put that down to inexperience."

Imlach scheduled an early Leaf practice today but Reay said "we won't work. A few guys will skate at an afternoon practice."

LACROSSE WORKOUT

A practice for midget division lacrosse players—boys between 14 and 16 years—will be held Friday at Stevenson Park, starting 6:30 p.m.

Mathews Likes Those Openers

By The Associated Press

In his many years with Boston, Milwaukee, Atlanta Braves, Eddie Mathews used to specialize in great opening-day performances. But it is his debut in a Houston uniform that the slugging third baseman may remember the longest.

A mighty triple against the centrefield wall in the seventh inning Tuesday night gave Mathews' new club a 1-1 tie against his old one and soon afterwards the Astros had a 6-1 opening-day victory over the Braves.

"Are you kidding," Mathews said later when asked if he'd particularly enjoyed playing a decisive part in beating his ex-team-mates. "I'm playing the team I was with for 15 years."

When the Braves traded Mathews Dec. 31, 1966, the thing that rankled him most was that the club told the press before it told him.

HE'LL TAKE IT

"I'll remember this opener," Mathews said. "I've had some good opening days. I hit a couple of home runs two or three times in the past in the opener, but I'll settle for this one."

In other National League games Tuesday, all season openers, Pittsburgh Pirates beat New York Mets 6-3, Chicago Cubs took Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 and St. Louis Cardinals blanked San Francisco Giants 6-0. Cincinnati Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers had an open date.

In American League opening games, Baltimore Orioles bounced Minnesota Twins 6-3, Kansas City Athletics edged Cleveland Indians 4-3 and California Angels beat Detroit Tigers 4-2. Chicago White Sox at Boston Red Sox was postponed because of cold weather. New York Yankees and Washington Senators were not scheduled.

The big blow in the Astros' six-run inning was Aaron Pointer's two-run double. Before the inning Denny Lemaster was pitching a one-hitter, but when he left after tiring, the roof of the Astrodome fell in on the Braves.

WILLS SPARKLES

Maury Wills showed the change from a Los Angeles to a Pittsburgh uniform hadn't affected his style as he singled twice and stole a base against the Mets. The Mets appeared not to have changed much either, committing five errors in cold Shea Stadium.

A double steal and a pop single by Lee Thomas accounted for two runs in the sixth inning that gave Chicago its triumph. Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham, Ont., went the distance for the Cubs, giving up six hits, while Jim Bunning took the loss for Philadelphia.

Bob Gibson struck out the first five men he faced, tying a National League record, and fanned 13 Giants over-all. Lou Brock's three-run homer was the big blast for the Cards, who pounded Juan Marichal for 14 hits, the most he has given up in one game.

The fashionable Kansas City Athletics have countered the mini-skirt rebellion with a new style of their own, and it was enough to touch off another Charles O. Finley colorful controversy.

INDIANS COMPLAIN

The American League doormats of the past have foresaken their former drab existance and stepped into first place Tuesday night wearing white shoes that left Cleveland Indians kicking.

The A's opened their 1967 season by beating the Indians 4-3 on Fred Whitfield's error with the bases loaded in the seventh inning.

Joe Adcock, making his debut as Cleveland manager, claimed the white shoes worn by Kansas City pitcher Jim Nash distracted his hitters and protested the game after the first pitch.

However American League president Joe Cronin and Cal Hubbard, supervisor of unpires, already had given the Athletics permission to start the season with their classy and colorful footwear.

"White shoes aren't going to bother a hitter," said Kansas City manager Alvin Dark. "A pitcher has both feet on the ground when he releases the ball. A hitter is going to be following the ball, not the shoes."

Nash stopped the Indians on five hits and three runs for seven innings before leaving for a pinch-hitter.

SOFTBALL WORKOUT

Century Inn (formerly Island Tug) of the Stuffy McGinnis Softball League will hold a workout at 6 tonight at Macdonald Park. All interested players are invited to attend the session.

Francis Isn't Ready To Throw in Towel

BOBBY ROUSSEAU
. . . weird but wonderful

NEW YORK (CP)—Toe Blake and Emile Francis, bitter adversaries in their semi-final round of Stanley Cup jostling, agree on one thing—there is some rough going ahead before a series winner is declared.

Coach Blake's Montreal Canadiens, defending Stanley Cup champions, took a stranglehold on the best - of - seven round Tuesday night with a 3-2 win for their third straight victory.

Canadiens had previously won 6-4 and 3-1 decisions on home ice.

Francis told reporters after the loss that his team is "not a bit demoralized" but is in a precarious position.

"You think you saw action in the game," Francis said of the hard-fought contest. "Wait until you see Thursday's game."

Blake refused to concede his club as a shoo-in to advance to the finals.

"They're not giving up and they could still be dangerous," Blake said.

Canadiens showed signs of running the home club out of the rink in the first period as Claude Larose scored his first series goal with just 13 seconds elapsed. Then Jean Beliveau, a tower of strength for the winners all night on both offence and defence, gave Montreal a 2-0 lead at the 3:09 mark.

Beliveau's hard shot from the left side and just inside the blue line came while Montreal's Terry Harper and New York's Reggie Fleming were serving minor penalties for exchanging shoves along the boards.

However, Montreal's Bobby Rousseau was caught slashing at 15:48 and 63 seconds later defenceman Jim Neilson put Rangers back in the game as he beat rookie goalie Rogatien Vachon with a screened drive from the point.

Forechecking by Habs Prime Factor

Rousseau scored near the two-minute mark of the second period when he deflected Henri Richard's goal behind Rangers' goalie Ed Giacomin. New York's Wayne Hillman was serving a penalty for interfeing with Montreal's Ralph Backstrom at the time.

Two minutes later, Earl Ingarfield moved the Rangers to within one goal of the Canadiens again with a backhand shot.

CARRY PLAY

The teams battled through a scoreless third period with Canadiens pouring the puck into the New York end and forechecking the Rangers before they could organize an attack.

Larose said his early goal had been the result of a bouncing puck that eluded Giacomin.

Despite the unsettling affect of Larose's goal, the Rangers rallied to outshoot the Canadiens by 15-11 margin in the opening period. However the winners outshot the New Yorkers by 13-9 and 14-6 margins in the remaining two periods.

Blake said his club's forechecking — especially in the third period—was the prime factor in the win.

"We played well defensively though and when we were protecting that one - goal lead we allowed them only six shots on goal."

"You can't make mistakes against Montreal," said Francis "and when you spot them two quick goals you're going to have an uphill climb all the way."

WEIRD—BUT COUNTS

Francis and Giacomin agreed that Rousseau's winning goal was "weird."

"I don't know what happened on that one," Giacomin said.

"It just hit a stick and somehow went in. I didn't see it."

Beliveau missed his second last - minute, empty-net goal in two games. A Ranger defender crossed his path before he could get his shot away in the final minute of play after Giacomin had been yanked in favor of a sixth attacker. He hit the goal post on a similar situation in Saturday's game in Montreal.

Referee John Ashley called seven minor penalties during the rugged contest - four to Rangers.

OWE HAS FASTEST

The early goal by Larose fell short by four seconds of setting an NHL playoff record. The fastest goal in Stanley Cup play was scored by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings in nine seconds April 1, 1954, against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Richard, the Canadiens' centre, became embroiled with an avid New York fan during the third peiod. Richard and Harry Howell locked themselves in a shoving match along the boards. A fan reached over and grasped Richard's stick and when he refused to let go the Montreal player smashed it atop the glass partition.

Both teams have workouts scheduled today at Icelands, a small skating rink on top of Madison Square Garden.

Donna, Princess Score Victory In Mat Feature

Donna Costello and Princess Little Cloud defeated Betty Boucher and Toni Rose in a women's tag-team match that highlighted Tuesday night's professional wrestling card at Memorial Arena.

In other bouts, Don Leo Jonathan decisioned Cry-Baby Cannon, Don McClarty downed Ike Hansen and Rocky Johnson beat Fred Baron.

Next card is scheduled for April 25.

ALBERTA COACH

EDMONTON (CP) — Clare Drake has been named head football coach at the University of Alberta. He replaces one-time Eskimo star Gino Fracas, who has accepted a new university position in eastern Canada.

Champions' Tourney Moves to New Setting

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, who have dominated the last five Tournament of Champions, figure to continue the role when the $100,000 golfing event gets under way for its 72-hole run Thursday.

Palmer bagged the winning loot in 1962, 1965 and 1966, and Nicklaus was the big man in 1963 and 1964.

The field of professionals numbers 25, each having qualified to compete here by winning one or more tournaments sanctioned by the Professional Golfers Association during the last year.

Included is the newly crowned Masters champion, Gay Brewer, who tied for the lead with Palmer here a year ago and lost in a playoff.

This year's cast is confronted with a different course for the first time since the tournament was inaugurated in 1953 at the Desert Inn Country Club.

With the Desert Inn under new ownership, the event was shifted to the Stardust Country Club.

The Stardust course measures 6,625 yards and par is 36-35—71, and is regarded as not quite as difficult as the Desert Inn's 7,200 yards and par 36-36—72.

Palmer, Nicklaus and Art Wall Jr., who won the tournament in 1954, are the only former victors back this year.

SUNDAY GREY CUP GAME AN APPEALING THOUGHT

VANCOUVER (CP)—The acting commissioner of the Canadian Football League says he thinks the next Grey Cup game played here should be played on a Sunday.

Allan McEachern was commenting on a Vancouver Grey Cup Festival committee recommendation that asks the CFL to reschedule its traditional Saturday afternoon game to a Sunday.

"I personally like the idea," McEachern said. "It would be good for those who work on Saturdays and would also help the downtown businessmen."

The Vancouver downtown business association estimated they lost $500,000 due to last year's Friday night Grey Cup parade and the game on Saturday.

HAL HAD A PAIN IN HIS WINDOW

TORONTO (CP) — Harold Ballard, executive vice-president of Maple Leaf Gardens, Ltd., today may be regretting his choice of choice seats for Tuesday night's Stanley Cup semi-final between Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Sitting high above the ice in his executive box reading his program, Ballard suffered the fate of Joe Fan when he had his glasses and his nose broken by a drifting shot off the stick of Chicago scoring ace Bobby Hull.

The accident occurred during the pre-game warmup when Hull's shot got away from him and scooted over the protective glass around the boards.

Ballard was not available for comment, but Hull said after, while expressing his regrets:

"It wasn't a real rattler, but I guess it proves you can break a pane of glass from 70 feet."

COURSE FENCED OFF

Penticton's Golfers Are Back in Bounds

PENTICTON (CP) — Duffers are again swinging at the Penticton Golf and Country Club following a weekend dispute over rent that saw a part of the course fenced off and play halted.

Rachel Paul of the adjacent Indian reserve claimed the golf club was not paying their annual lease on the only part of the course not owned by the city.

Mrs. Paul built a fence on the fourth fairway, land owned by her family, to back her case.

"It's just the confusion that exists between the Indian Affairs Department and the lessees that caused the confusion," said Charles Raitt, club president.

"But these things happen in every day business."

Raitt said the club was given its assessment late and the rent was subsequently held up. It has been paid, he said Tuesday.

Ah! Tea! A Survival Kit 'Must'

TORONTO (CP) — Carl Brewer, former National Hockey League tough-guy defenceman, says he relied on tea laced with honey and lemon juice to pull him through the recent world championship hockey tournament in Europe.

Brewer was suffering from flu while playing in the championships for Canada, which finished third in the tournament.

He said he would have starved if it hadn't been for tea. But then Brewer has hung up his skates for the summer and is working for the National Tea Council to promote Canadian Tea Week, April 10-16. His labors will take him to Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg, St. John's, Halifax and Ottawa.

BOWLER OF WEEK

Defending women's tenpin title in fourth annual Bowler-of-the-Year rolloff on April 30 will be Peggy Trickett, who has qualified for rolloff by winning tenpin award in 25th week of Times Bowler-of-the-Week contest. Peggy earned chance for second successive crown by topping distaff trundlers with 183-179-191—553 series in Unity Ladies' League at Mayfair Lanes.

SPORTSMEN'S SHOW . . . . . . OFFERS VARIETY

Emphasis on Outdoors

Emphasis will be on outdoor activities when the Kiwanis Centennial sportsmen's show goes on view for a three-day stay at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

"Something for everybody" will be the theme for the first annual show scheduled by Saanich Kiwanians for April 20, 21 and 22.

Show officials announced Tuesday night that a full list of exhibitors has been obtained. In addition to extensive displays of outdoor equipment, spectators will be able to watch several experts demonstrate their skills and will be able to try their own talents in some activities.

Members of the Victoria Bowmen will demonstrate bow-and-arrow techniques and permit visitors to try their luck in firing targets. Another participation activity will be "instinct shooting," a new and fascinating indoor method of improving shooting ability at a small cost while providing an opportunity of teaching gun-safety.

For salmon anglers, guide Jim Gilbert will be at the show each evening to demonstrate bait-cutting, tackle-rigging and knot-tieing. He will also be available to answer questions on salt-water fishing.

Golfers haven't been forgotten. Fairways addicts will find Victoria professionals at the show offering tips on shot-making and suggesting solutions to golf problems.

Nevada Governor Vetoes Heavyweight Title Fight

CASSIUS CLAY
. . . slugged by politician

LAS VEGAS (AP) — The champion went home and the challenger cancelled his airline reservations while the promoter huddled with his lawyer to decide where to stage the Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title fight.

Nevada Gov. Paul Laxalt, a former amateur boxer, Tuesday asked the Nevada Athletic Commission to rescind its approval of the licence for the April 25 fight here.

Within two hours of the commission's four-minute meeting, promoter Al Bolan had an attorney on a plane bound for Las Vegas.

At the airport Bolan repeated earlier heated remarks about Laxalt.

"He says the fight would give the state a black eye. I say he has done that with this action."

Bolan hinted some legal action may be taken against the state to cover expenses his promotion firm, Championship Sports Inc., had incurred in setting up the fight.

The announcement of the commission's decision came less than an hour after Clay told a news conference that fans might be watching their idol fight for the last time.

Clay has been ordered to report for induction into the army April 28.

Clay, who immediately flew to Los Angeles en route to Chicago, said he was "disappointed but not surprised" at Laxalt's action.

MAY CREATE SUSPICION

At the emergency meeting in Carson City, Laxalt told the commission, "You can not sanction this fight."

He said Clay, who defeated Patterson here with a 12th round technical knockout Nov. 22, 1965, "indicated he carried Patterson for eight rounds.

"Any new fight would create suspicion throughout the world," Laxalt said.

One commission member, Las Vegas newspaperman Don Digilio, said Laxalt feared the fight —no matter who won — would damage Nevada's reputation.

He said the governor was deeply upset by the prospect of Patterson winning, and the charge being made that the fight was fixed so Patterson could regain the title before Clay went into the army.

Digilio added that if Clay should win, Laxalt feared the boxing world might think Clay knocked off another easy pigeon before retiring undefeated and unmarred during his military service.

Asked if he thought Laxalt was justified, Clay remarked:

"Well, it's his state and his laws. He can do what he wants, I guess. But I don't think they should stop fights because they're easy. They've never done this before."

Wally Takes 'Easy' Way To First-Round Victory

PROSS CLARK
. . . first-round victim

"Swing easy and hit them straight."

That's the fairway system adopted by Wally McAlpine and it could steer the veteran Vancouver swinger to the championship final in the 37th annual Empress golf tournament.

Formerly one of Vancouver's sharpest amateur swingers and member of B.C.'s Willingdon Cup team McAlpine doesn't try to bust the ball with his old-time enthusiasm.

Instead, he concentrates on accuracy and a good putting touch. The system paid off Tuesday at Victoria Golf Club in first-round matches of the men's championship. Wally, who now plays to a three handicap, was just one stroke over par as he eliminated Ben van Loon of Edmonton, 6 and 5.

Today, he was giving the "easy" system another try in a match against Ken Crowshaw of Calgary. Crowshaw, a former Victorian, marched into the second round with a 5-and-3 win over Portland's Steve McClain.

FORMER CHAMPS FALL

Another Vancouver ace, Herb Fritz, the defending champion, also advanced Tuesday. Fritz, a four-handicapper, defeated former champion Pross Clark of Portland by a 2-and-1 count, repeating his close victory over Clark in last year's final.

The first round was tough on former champs. Also biting the dust was another Portlander. Jim Snider, titlist two years ago, dropped a 2-and-1 decision to G. A. Millin of Regina.

Former pro hockey players found the Oak Bay links to their liking. Eddie Wiseman of Red Deer bested Dr. Paul Rondeau of Vancouver and Art Wiebe of Edmonton defeated Seattle's John Malloy, the tournament medallist.

In the women's competition at Uplands, medallist Mrs. E. S. McClain remained in the title chase. The Portland swinger eliminated the lone Victoria qualifier, Mrs. C. F. Ricketts, 2 and 1.

Runner-up in the qualifying round, Mrs. S. S. Leahigh of Portland advanced with a one-up win over Calgary's Phyllis Chisholm.

Edmonton Club Sends Junior Set to Limit

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Movers defeated New Westminster Royals 5-0 Tuesday in the sixth game of their Alberta-British Columbia junior hockey championships, tying the best-of-seven series 3-3. Winners advance to the west Memorial Cup semi-finals.

Seventh game will be played today.

It was Edmonton's second consecutive victory. Movers, who were down 3-1 at one time, overwhelmed Royals 11-3 in the fifth game Sunday at New Westminster.

Al Cameron paced Edmonton with two goals. Rusty Stevens, Rick Lelacheur and Steve Carlyle added singles.

Movers grabbed a 2-0 lead with two minutes gone in the opening period. Lelacheur opened the scoring at the 42-second mark, and Stevens beat Royals' goaltender Don Wallis at 2:05.

Edmonton outshot Royals 35-26, and took six of 11 minor penalties.

A CURLER'S NIGHTMARE —NO ICE!

EDMONTON (CP)—A crisis arose Monday at the Northern Alberta Ice-Makers bonspiel. They ran out of ice.

It didn't bother the shotmaking of the contestants, who customarily spend their time preparing their rinks for other curlers.

But it affected their activities between games. Their liquid refreshments were served at room temperature.

The bartender couldn't find an ice cube in all of north Edmonton.

Puck Lottery

TORONTO (CP) — A major lottery selling tickets on the Stanley Cup semifinal between Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks has been smashed, police said Tuesday. Two detectives seized more than 50 tickets from a milkman making his rounds, then netted more than 12,000 similar tickets in a raid at nearby Brampton.

Beman Plans To Turn Pro

NEW YORK (AP) — Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., twice winner of the U.S. amateur golf championship and beaten last year in a playoff, announced Tuesday plans to turn professional.

Beman, rated by many as the best amateur in the world, said he has applied to the U.S. Professional Golfers Association for playing membership.

Angel Shortstop Goes to Twins

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Twins have acquired shortstop Jack Hernandez from California Angels to complete the trade in which Minnesota obtained pitcher Dean Chance in exchange for Jimmie Hall, Don Mincher and Pete Cimino.

The Twins assigned Hernandez to their farm team at Denver in the Pacific Coast League.

Boycott Cools Turf Interest

NEW YORK (AP)—It almost seemed as though the bettors had lost the habit of going to the races.

Just 17,136 turned out Tuesday to welcome the Thoroughbreds back to Aqueduct after the end of a boycott by members of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association that had closed the track for five consecutive racing days.

A total of $1,732,123 was wagered on the nine race card. This compared to the crowd of 26,751 and a mutuel handle of $2,830,648 a week ago Tuesday, the last day of racing before the horsemen's boycott for higher purses.

PURSES INCREASED

New York Racing Association agreed Monday to increase minimum purses from $3,500 to $4,000 and the state promised to reduce its take next year to 9½ per cent from 10 per cent.

The failure of the legislature to do that this year irked the horsemen and led to the boycott.

A total of 108 horses were entered for today's nine races compared with 103 for Tuesday.

Before the boycott, the usual entry list for weekdays ran between 70 and 80.

PHANTOM PURCHASE

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Pittsburgh Phantoms of the National Professional Soccer League have purchased the contract of Theo Laseroms from Sparta Rotterdam, the Dutch soccer club has announced.

Barons Stumble On Friendly Ice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don't talk to Cleveland or Rochester about home ice advantage. They operate in reverse.

The Barons won the first two games at Rochester in the best-of-five quarter-finals of the American Hockey League Calder Cup playoffs. Then Rochester took a pair in Cleveland, evening the series at 2-2.

The final game is tonight in Rochester.

Ed Joyal and Stan Smrke banged in goals Tuesday for a 2-0 Rochester victory as goalie Bobby Perreault stopped 25 shots in the only AHL game scheduled.

The winner of the Cleveland-Rochester series meets the survivor of the Baltimore-Quebec series for the AHL's semi-finals. The Clippers are at Quebec tonight. The Aces lead that series 2-1.

The Americans, defending AHL champions, scored at 5:28 of the second period on Joyal's 30-footer that sailed over goalie Ernie Wakely's shoulder.

Television Calling Hockey's Shot Now

TORONTO (CP) — Ron Andrews of Montreal, publicity director of the National Hockey League, said Tuesday an NHL contract with CBS means there will be no Saturday night or Sunday games in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final this year.

"Any weekend game will be played Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:35 p.m. (eastern time)," Andrews said. He was in Toronto for the third game of the best-of-seven semi-final series between Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs.

Andrews said games during the week will be played as usual on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

CBS had a contract to televise four playoff games this year on Saturday afternoons. A strike by members of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) cancelled the first scheduled for last week, a game between New York Rangers and Montreal Canadiens.

Pro Boot Loop Seeks To Encourage Attack

LOS ANGELES (AP) — National Professional Soccer League officials have made a radical change in computing league point standings to encourage a more offensive game.

League officials, noting that the Los Angeles Toros' 1-0 victory Sunday over the Chicago Spurs produced only the sixth goal scored here in three games, are seeking to encourage what they call "an attacking game." This would be in contrast to the defensive emphasis of the Europeans.

Under the new rules, a win will be worth six points, a draw three points and additional points go for each goal up to a maximum of three.

Soccer standings throughout the world generally operate on a 2-1-0 system, giving two points for a win, one for a draw and none for a loss regardless of the score.

On Sunday, the Toros attacked repeatedly but were unable to cash in because Chicago Goalie Manuel Camancho played superbly.

Sport Helping Crack Barrier

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Sportsmen today greeted Prime Minister John Vorster's decision to allow racially-mixed teams from abroad to play locally against white South African teams as a step which may lead to a breakdown in the country's apartheid system.

But Vorster, in a statement to Parliament Tuesday, made it clear the rigid rules on South Africa's segregated internal sport would still apply.

"On this there can be no compromise, negotiations or abandonment of principle," he said.

Bill Clements, secretary of the Welsh Rugby Union, said:

"We feel sport is doing something, however small, to break down the apartheid policy and this decision is evidence that sport can do this."

In London, S. C. Griffith, secretary of the Marylebone Cricket Club, ruling body of British cricket, said:

"It's great news—what we've all been hoping might happen one day."

In New Zealand, J. G. Leggat, chairman of New Zealand's Cricket Council, said that "any relaxation of this kind is to be welcomed, especially if it does something to preserve the sporting bridgehead between South Africa and the rest of the world."

Vorster's statement was aimed mainly at preventing South Africa from being isolated in international sport because of its apartheid policies.

Celtic Reign Comes to End

PHILADELPHIA — A seven-year reign came to an end on Tuesday night when Philadelphia 76ers reached the National Basketball Association final.

The 76ers eliminated the defending - champion Boston Celtics in the fifth game of the Eastern Division final by scoring a 140-116 victory.

Philadelphia will meet the Western Division winner in the NBA final. San Francisco Warriors lead that series, 3-2.

Peru To Compete In Pan-Am Games

LIMA (AP)—Peru will participate in the Pan - American Games to be held in Winnipeg July 22 to August 7.

The Sports National Committee agreed this week to take part in the games.

Soccer, swimming, volleyball, basketball, shooting and track and field are among the sports for which Peru will send competitors to the games.

South Viets Suffer Rout

MANILA (AP) — The Philippines won its last two singles matches Monday to complete a 5-0 sweep of South Vietnam in the eastern zone Davis Cup tennis series.

Sam Ang Jr. defeated Luu Hoang Duc 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, while Eddie Cruz disposed of Bo Ban Vahn 12-10, 9-7, 6-1.

The Philippines won the right to meet Japan in the regional finals in Tokyo this month. Japan won over Indonesia 5-0.

De Gaulle Miffed at Canada's 'Bad Manners' on Vimy Ceremony

PARIS (AP)—The newspaper Paris-Presse has reported that President de Gaulle almost called off a visit to Canada because of what he considered a failure to follow international etiquette during a ceremony commemorating the 50th anniversary of the battle of Vimy Ridge.

The ceremony was held Sunday with Prince Philip representing Queen Elizabeth. France was represented by a general and a high civil servant.

Paris-Presse says:

"This little drama is the result of a series of blunders in the organization. In Canada, a bilingual country, the English-speaking people are naturally ferociously traditionalist; this phenomenon is pushed to the extreme in the army, but among the war veterans is only an obsession.

"Now it was precisely the Canadian veterans ministers who was charged with organizing this manifestation which the survivors of the battle considered a little like a golden wedding. In their impetuous zeal, they thought only of the material success of the ceremony and were deaf to the discreet reminders of the political ministers concerning etiquette, on which all depended.

"For Gen. de Gaulle, a stickler for etiquette, respect for protocol is the good manners of nations. Having been neither invited, nor informed and having learned by chance that Prince Philip would participate at the commemoration, Gen. de Gaulle could only with great difficulty go there or have himself represented by a high ranking personality.

"At the first outbreak, the general took the whole affair very badly and it was only by a thread that his official trip to Canada failed to be called off.

"No major difference will be brought up during the trip that Gen. de Gaulle is supposed to make to Canada in the second half of the month of July . . ."

EXPLODE MYTHS

Marriage School Would Help

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Statement made by Most Rev. Remi de Roo, Roman Catholic Bishop of Victoria, that if divorce is made easier then there should be better preparation for marriage, has a full measure of common sense.

In this day of affluent everything, we give our youth all benefits of education except that of learning to live as man and wife.

Forbes

We feed them "isms" by the armload but we forget to tell them that it takes a lifetime to create a successful marriage. Consequently the majority of young people have no idea what lies ahead when they exchange marriage vows. Even more shattering is the fact that they are not even remotely concerned about it.

* * *

Talk to doctors, church leaders, social workers and other community minded citizens who ARE concerned about high divorce rates and unhappy marriages and they will add their backing to Bishop De Roo's suggestion.

They will tell you there is definite need for some form of marriage school or course in family living where newlyweds or about-to-be-weds could receive programmed counselling and answers to social, economic and medical questions.

It would be a splendid thing, they say, if attendance at such a school or course, could be made mandatory.

Some go so far as to add that they would like to see a day when engaged couples could not be married unless they had taken such a course.

* * *

About two years ago, now, an experiment of this sort was conducted with engaged couples in Chicago. Result has been a lower divorce rate and a greater percentage of happy homes among the 800 couples who discussed all aspects of marriage with competent people before they took their vows.

It's a sad indictment of present day affluence that the greater number of young people have little sense of responsibliity as far as marriage is concerned.

Any standards they have acquired as to what is needed in making a home have been created by the impact of advertising, movies and television.

Add to this the fact that relatively few who get married today have any real knowledge of the economics of maintaining a home and you have the explosive conditions that result in misunderstandings, recriminations and, in many instances, separations.

* * *

A marriage school or a properly conducted course in family living would naturally include lectures by doctors, lawyers, social workers, clergymen and priests, sociologists and bankers.

Couples would need to attend together. And discussions would cover every subject that touched in any way on marriage and its problems.

Bishop De Roo has said — "Everyone has a right to marry but, before they marry, they should be made aware of the great responsibility. . . ."

This is a truth plainly spoken. But how are we going to do it?

Some have suggested that a marriage school or course in family living could be included in YM-YWCA programming. Others say that it could be an added course in night school classes or at our adult education centre.

* * *

One dedicated group of workers believes that what is needed is a course in senior-secondary schools, geared to train boys and girls in the responsibilities of marriage.

In this way we would reach out in a decisive way to youth at an early age and perhaps impress on them that home making is not all sex an having or not having babies.

Whatever the answer, Bishop De Roo has pointed (by inference at least) to the fact that we must face up to it soon.

If we don't we will see increased indifference to marriage responsibilities, many more broken homes and emotionally disturbed children and a future way of living that will result in complete deterioration of home and family life.

SWORN in as a member of the Privy Council of Canada Tuesday was Mrs. Pauline Vanier. The honor, first ever to be conferred on a Canadian woman other than a cabinet minister, came on the eve of her departure for Montreal. "Madame Vanier has a place in the hearts of all Canadians equalled only by that of her late husband," Prime Minister Pearson said in making the announcement.

Divers Study Battleship Lift

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Divers begin this week to study the chances of raising the Nazi battle cruiser Bluecher.

The Bluecher, then Hitler's newest warship, was sunk by a gallant handful of Norwegian coastal battery gunners on her first operation 27 years ago when she was part of the German fleet invading Norway.

She carried 2,300 men, including 1,500 crew, troops and Gestapo officials who were to take over Oslo when it was captured. The exact number of casualties is not known. Estimates on the number of bodies in the wreck range from 600 to more than 1,200.

The salvage attempt is to be made by Ocean Systems Inc. of the U.S. which helped recover the H-bomb dropped accidentally by the U.S. Air Force off the Spanish coast last year.

Chief diver Lyle Kirlin told an interviewer that this would be the first full-scale bid to assess the possibility of raising the Bluecher. She lies aslant—223 feet deep at the stern and 295 feet at the bow.

"If we raise the ship she will be the biggest ever salvaged from so deep," Kirlin said. Kirlin and two other American divers, D. C. Todd and Edward Woods, will begin diving Saturday.

Their explorations will be relayed by television cameras and recorded on videotape.

Kirlin said they want to determine the extent of hull damage and how many watertight compartments were breached.

The Bluecher, the pocket battleship Leutzow and the light cruiser Emden, with escort vessels, sailed from Kiel May 8, 1940. Early next morning they were deep into the Oslo fiord, headed for the capital. Some 15 miles from Oslo they ran into fire from the Oscarsborg fortress, on an island in the narrow channel.

The first two shots were hits but did little damage. Then the main gun, an old piece called Moses supplied by the German Krupp works in 1892, scored a direct hit on the command bridge from more than 1,000 yards although the gunners had no range finder.

Another shot disabled the steering gear and the cruiser slewed across the fiord. Two torpedoes from the fortress exploded the ship's ammunition. She capsized and sank. Hundreds of men lined the decks as she disappeared in the flame-covered waters.

Later in the day the Norwegian garrison was put out of action by a combined air, sea and infantry attack.

Open Novice Class Won by Simmonds

Robert Simmonds of 4200 Blenkinsop won the open novice class in the North Saanich and B.C. plowing championships on Saturday. He received from Gordon Campbell the silver tray donated by Mr. Campbell and his brothers and sisters in memory of their father, the late Archibald Campbell.

COMMITTED for trial on six charges of fraud and theft is Joseph Benoit Brien, 51, president of Prudential Finance Co. He was charged following an investigation into his company's affairs. Bail was set at $10,000.

HOME GARDEN

Never a Dull Period Here

By HILDA BEASTALL

The charge levelled at rock gardens by many people is that dullness takes over as soon as spring gives way to summer.

Hilda

A gardener has only to browse through a half dozen books on the subject to discover how unnecessary is summer dullness, and to visit a few of the outstanding local rock gardens to find examples of the kinds of plants to give color and interest in summer, fall and winter.

The group of plants containing dwarf shrubs is much neglected by new owners of property with rocky outcrops and perhaps a terraced rock facing.

Many of those mentioned here will be only three or four inches in height. They are mostly spreading in habit, some will droop over the rocks, others will adhere to rock and perhaps climb.

A dwarf berberis with evergreen leaves reaches only about six in height and a deciduous dwarf spiraea with crimson flowers in summer is a little taller.

June and July will see compact, spreading brooms with a great variety of leaf and stem form, studded with intriguing yellow, or yellow and brown blooms.

A six-inch miniature jasmine blooms in summer, and a blue-grey mound of foliage produced by Hebe (formerly veronica) pageana is attractive at all seasons.

Andromeda polifolia nana produces pink bells in spring, and has grey-green, needle-like leaves all year around on a six-inch plant. The helianthemums, or Sun-roses, will be in bloom from June into September if the old flower stems are cut off when all the buds have opened.

The three S's, saxifragas, sedums and sempervivums, contain plants perfectly adapted to rock terraces and outcrops, with a period of interest covering the 12 months of the year.

A few herbaceous plants are late enough blooming to classify as fall perennials for the rock garden. Included are zauschneria, lithospermum, gentian, ceratostigma and a dwarf astilbe.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

SAANICH PROBLEM

No Decision On Garbage

Garbage collecton in Saanich was tossed from the public works committee to council Tuesday night without a firm decision.

The move came after a motion was withdrawn that recommended council reject the only tender received for a new service.

Last month, the public works committee first considered the only tender and tabled it until Tuesday night. Now it will go to the full council for further discussion.

Much of the discussion centred on two points:

- The cost and service of new garbage collection;
- Municipal versus private collection of garbage.

The existing service is provided by a private contractor for $11 per household in all but rural and remote parts of Saanich.

This contractor, who did not bid when tenders were called, collects garbage every two weeks except between June and September when it is weekly.

Committee chairman Coun. Leslie Passmore said numerous cities have changed to private enterprise and saved money.

Other points brought out included:

- A nine or 10-month delay in getting new equipment;
- Exclusion of the rural areas would save about 10 per cent of the cost;
- To cover the whole municipality under the existing contractor might cost $13 or $14;
- Another $1 should be added to new figures for use of the privately-owned Hartland Road dump;
- The existing contract can be terminated by either party on three months notice. If the contractor terminates, Saanich doesn't have to buy his equipment. If Saanich terminates, it has to buy the equipment.

ONE BIDDER

The only bidder was Prairie Enterprises Limited of Victoria, for a service encompassing the whole municipality.

Cost would be $18 per household annually for the same frequency of pickups, or $20 for weekly service throughout the year.

Municipal engineer Neville Life concluded in a report that Saanich should decide whether it wants to award the contract to Prairie Enterprises or use municipal crews.

Deadline for a decision is about one month from now as the tender is good for 60 days.

Coun. William Noel said "this is a terrific increase in cost to taxpayers" and Coun. Harold Todd said "I am just not ready to support going into this — mainly because of the cost."

Replied Coun. Alan Newberry: "Sure it will double the cost, but we will get double the service."

He and Coun. Edith Gunning split views on the private enterprise versus public enterprise argument.

WHERE IS COMPETITION

"Private enterprise can handle this better," said Coun. Newberry. "To keep an element of competition is healthy."

Replied Coun. Gunning: "Where's the competition in only one bid."

Foster Parents To Meet

About 70 foster parents and 35 social workers from all parts of the province will meet Thursday and Friday in the Empress Hotel to find better ways of raising foster children.

It will be the second annual foster parents conference called by Social Welfare Minister Dan Campbell since he took over the post early last fall.

One of the discussion subjects will be methods for continuing the increase of foster parent groups in the province which have more than doubled from 15 to 35 since the first conference was held last year in Vancouver.

But the chief purpose of this year's meeting will be to provide sessions for foster parents with psychiatrists Dr. Bennett Wong and Dr. Keith Akins, a workshop on group techniques for the social workers and a panel discussion on the findings of a recent conference here of foster children themselves.

FIRST CHEQUES MAILED

24,000 Asking For $500 Grant

The first batch of about 100 cheques under the provincial government's new home acquisition grants scheme will be going into the mail within a week, Premier Bennett revealed Tuesday.

And thousands more cheques are certain to follow as a result of public response which already has flooded the finance department with some completed applications for the $500 grants.

So far there have been 24,000 requests for application forms and inquiries continue to come in at the rate of about 1,500 a day.

Deputy finance minister Gerald Bryson told the premier, during a press conference, that about 1,000 letters are received daily at government offices in the capital, up to 400 a day at government offices in Vancouver and government agents in interior towns also are receiving inquiries.

"The response has been a lot more than I figured," said Mr. Bryson.

The grants are available retroactively to April 1 of last year to British Columbians acquiring their first home.

Mr. Bennett called the press conference immediately before his departure for a business-holiday trip to California. He would not identify the businessmen he plans to meet nor would he specify the meeting place.

He will return April 24 in time for the visit here by Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie.

'Abortions Becoming Respectable'

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Abortion is becoming more respectable in much of the world, an international panel of doctors reported today.

There are exceptions, notably in countries which have been the most liberal in the past but now are tightening abortion regulations, the doctors told the world conference of the International Planned Parenthood Foundation.

While massive differences on how to handle the problem remain, they said, there is unanimous belief that abortion is one of the great health problems of the world today.

Dr. Edmund Overstreet of the University of California medical school said polls show a majority of the people of the United States in favor of liberalization of abortion laws.

Overstreet estimated the number of illegal abortions performed annually in the United States at 1,000,000.

Private Hospital Changes Asked

The Greater Victoria metro health board wants the provincial government to take "immediate action" to improve conditions in private hospitals.

The board's request follows complaints regarding the operation of local private hospitals, which resulted in a "rapid survey" of 17 hospitals by metro health staff.

One of the recommendations of the survey, forwarded to Health Minister Wesley Black on March 28 said that "immediate action should be taken to require private hospitals to improve their staffing arrangements and their nutritional standards."

"The public health nurse will visit hospitals periodically to observe meals and inspect nursing care," the report stated. The medical health officer, health inspector and director of nurses, who now inspect them, will continue to do so.

"Rehabilitative or re-activation programs should be started under the supervision of our physiotherapist in all continuing care hospitals carried out by the hospital staff.

"Three hospitals are active in these programs now."

The report on hospitals by metro health staff, discussed in secret at the last meeting, was not released.

CAR PARK EMERGES

Muddy Condition Good Economics

Dumping of fill on the waterfront near Oak Bay Marina may be a nuisance to some people but it's good economics, council's "B" committee decided Tuesday night.

Mrs. H. J. Davis of 1239 Beach Drive objected to the drone of bulldozers and trucks, the apparent extension of the car park and the muddying of water when fill is washed out.

But the committee was told by municipal engineer G. O. White the situation isn't as bad as it seems.

He said that council has placed a limit on the size of the car park and that this has not been reached.

He added that building up the area with fill from excavations is a cheap way of getting rid of fill and that it would cost the municipality an extra $5,000 a year to take it elsewhere.

Mr. White said the muddy condition of the water only exists for a short time.

His stand was supported by the committee.

PAYMENT OF DUES

Payment of employees' dues to professional associations by the municipality should be reviewed, the committee decided.

The municipal engineer, who last year applied for membership in the Engineering Institute of Canada with council's approval, asked that his entry fee of $10 and annual dues of $28 be paid.

Coun. J. D. Watts said these are personal matters and should be paid by the individuals.

Other committee members weren't too sure because other professional fees had been paid by council.

They agreed that all such payments should be reviewed by council and a policy statement made.

ROAD WIDENING

Widening of Beach Drive just south of King George Terrace to provide easier flow of traffic should be a Capital Improvement District Commission project, the committee recommended.

Councillors favored the engineer's plan to widen the drive at one point to 36 feet to include left turn slots. Cost is estimated at $3,902.

Council will be asked to recommend that the CIDC develop the corner.

World's Highest Growth Rate Seen for Canada

LONDON (CP) — Canada's working population likely will increase by 50 per cent during the next 15 years, achieving the world's highest growth rate, John J. Deutsch, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, predicted toeday.

In the 1965-80 period, the Canadian labor force's growth rate will be larger than the combined growth in Britain, West Germany and Italy, Deutsch said in outlining Canada's future during a Centennial conference on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

With the anticipated big expansion in population and increased harnessing of resources, Canada's economy likely would double in the 15 years, reaching the present size of Britain or West Germany.

PARKING ROMANCE ENDS AT 11

Romance legally ends in Oak Bay at 11 p.m. — that is romance that requires a parked car for its setting.

Chief John Green told council's "B" committee members Monday that residents have complained about cars in the "banjo" turnaround of Dalhousie near the waterfront.

He said that people who leave the Esplanade at 11 p.m., when parking restrictions start, go to Dalhousie to the annoyance of residents.

But what the romantics lose on Dalhousie, they gain at Cattle Point on Beach Drive.

Parking there, now limited to 10 p.m. will be extended to 11 p.m. to conform with other quiet spots in the municipality.

OAK BAY GARBAGE CALLS

Cost to Hold Back Flood?

Oak Bay's garbage department won't renege on its offer to make special pickups but it won't encourage more business.

Since council offered extra pickup service for additional fees the department has been flooded with calls, triple the number before council's offer.

"B" committee members felt the situation would correct itself as people learned that the charges might be as high as $5 a call rather than a nominal 50 cents.

A list of requests will be prepared and will be dealt with as facilities allow. If there is a backlog of requests, then a commercial vehicle should be hired to take on the extra work, the committee recommended.

Also recommended is the purchase of a new garbage truck for $13,000 and a packer unit for $8,954.

RIDERS SIGN QUARTER

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders have announced the signing of Jesse Kaye, former quarterback with the University of Tampa. He is the fourth new player signed by the defending Western Football Conference champions.

FINAL APPROVAL FRIDAY FOR BUSINESS LICENCES

Sidney council will give final reading on Friday to its first business licence bylaw.

The bylaw, based on similar legislation adopted by neighboring municipalities, includes a schedule of fees to be paid by various businesses.

In the event that a race track is ever established in Sidney, council set the fee for horse racing at $150 a day—the same as North Saanich.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1967—PAGE 25

Arthur Mayse

There are those on the outside who apply unflattering terms to SEDCO 135-F, the marine oil-drilling rig now nearing completion off Dallas Road. But VMD shipbuilders know the kind of contract that butters the bread and ices the cake, and they rarely call their strangest project anything worse than "The Monster".

Usually, she's just "the rig"; and though her construction provided tense moments and nightmare problems, they'll be happy to undertake another of her kind when or if the chance offers.

Whether it will depends to some extent on what the rig finds when it sets out to pioneer deep-drilling oil exploration off our British Columbia coast.

For close to five years, Shell of Canada scientists in conventional craft prowled above the company's extensive ocean-floor leases.

One trick in their extensive bag consisted of detonating underwater explosions and reading from the pattern of shock-waves what they could of the earth-layers below. Their findings lent hope; but informed speculation isn't enough.

If a multi-billion barrel oil pool does indeed lie thousands of feet below our portion of the Continental shelf there's only one way to make sure. This is by drilling through strata beneath which may lie the black gold we know as crude oil or petroleum.

★

To this vertical exploration, the rig will soon apply her 18 million pounds of welded, fabricated, designed and re-designed special steels.

Three towboats will lug her out to her first location. There, the man-made island will ride to her nine anchors with decks 50 feet or more above the heaving surface. Her partially-flooded caisson legs will be sunk to the tapered upper sections that the yard-hands have nicknamed "pepper-pots."

From their weather studies, her planners learned that the worst North Pacific blow of the last hundred years rolled up combers 75 feet high. The rig is built to withstand even heavier stresses.

American specialists will be on board, but the rig will be worked by Canadians from the Alberta oil-fields. These will spend seven days on the job. Then the rig's helicopter will fly off-duty men to shore quarters near Ucluelet. From the nearby Tofino air strip, a fixed-wing plane will provide shuttle service to Pat Bay.

Seven days later, the chopper will deposit these seafaring landsmen back on their ship's launching pad.

But the drill that plunges through the spider-deck grid-work from the lofty derrick up top will never be off shift.

Except when yet another section must be coupled on, it will keep turning within its casing, in a lubricating bath of mud.

★

Today, VMD president Harold Husband tells me, his firm has no other major ship-building contract in sight.

Should the exploratory rig make a rewarding strike, however, this situation could change in a hurry.

"Platforms" would be needed — permanent pumping installations equipped with reservoirs. From these, company tankers would draw a rich cargo.

The ultimate step — and here we take a reckless plunge into a future that may never materialize — would be pipe-lines to shore.

It's a dream, this, based on an educated gamble.

Still, gambles do sometimes pay off, and Victoria's Harold Husband involved his firm in certain educated risks with a bid for an oil rig so huge that the Panama Canal couldn't accommodate it.

Acceptance came in September of 1965, and now, more than 18 months later, the end of the big job's in sight.

There she stands, a ship like none before her, imposing her ugly beauty or beautiful ugliness upon a waterfront that won't look the same when she moves out to the ocean . . . perhaps to expand a new industry for British Columbia.

Tots Cheat Death But Close Calls Tell Grim Story

He was three years old.

Fair haired, blue eyed — and close to death when they wheeled him into the poison control centre.

And he was just one of the 277 pre-school children in Greater Victoria who, in 1966, were taken to the grey zone between life and death by neglectful parents.

"We had no deaths," said Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical health officer when he presented his annual report Tuesday to the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health.

"But many of them, especially in the one to four years category, were very serious. We had more close calls than otherwise," he added.

Most of the 387 poison cases reported during the year were caused by parents who failed to heed the constant warning that medicinal products and household cleaning compounds be kept out of reach of young hands.

"Medicines and cleaning fluids should be kept well out of reach of children," Dr. Whitbread said. "They should be kept under lock and key. It's no good putting them in a medicine cabinet if the child can get a chair and reach the cabinet anyway."

149 Cases in Saanich Lead Area

Of the 277 pre-school poison cases reported, 121 came from Saanich, a municipality which earned the doubtful distinction of leading the field with a total for all age brackets of 149 reported cases.

Victoria was second with 130 cases, 84 of them in the one-to-four-year category.

Of the 149 total poison cases recorded in Saanich, 88 residents were victims of medicinal products, 49 ingested household compounds like bleach or other similar products, and 12 fell victim to poisonous vegetation—of which the laburnum seed is most prolific.

In Victoria 84 children between one and four were poisoned during the year, in Oak Bay 21 in the same age bracket, in Esquimalt 10, in School District 62 there were 38 victims and in School District 63 poisoned children totalled three.

In Victoria, as in Saanich, medicinal products led the list of potential killers.

Total poisonings in the city during the year were 130, of which 85 were caused by medicinal products, 37 by household compounds and eight by poisonous vegetation.

10-14 Age Bracket Most Sensible

The 10 to 14-year bracket appeared to be the most sensible when it came to handling various poisons.

Only three poisoning cases were reported from that age group, one in Oak Bay and two in Saanich.

But all the poisonings were not confined to children.

Between the ages of 20 and 39 years Victoria reported 23 poison victims, Saanich 11 and Oak Bay five. Other areas reported one or two poisonings in the same age bracket.

Victoria also reported 10 poison cases in the over-40 bracket, Saanich eight and Oak Bay four.

Some of the reported cases in the higher age categories were undoubtedly suicide attempts.

"But we have no statistics on that," said Dr. Whitbread. "That is a matter for the personal physician and a psychiatrist. As far as our records are concerned, none of the reported cases were attempted suicides. We don't go into that aspect."

Both major hospitals in Victoria maintain well-equipped poison control centres.

"Both are located in the emergency wards at Jubilee and St. Joseph's," said Dr. Whitbread. "Both are right up to date on treatment techniques and antidotes."

He left unsaid the sad thought that neither would have much work to do if parents obeyed simple safety rules and locked away dangerous drugs and equally dangerous household cleaning compounds.

'QUITE ENTHUSED'

Montreal Conductor Returning for Talks

Montreal conductor Laszlo Gati, first of the four guests who conducted Victoria Symphony Orchestra this season, returns to the city Friday for talks with Symphony Society directors.

At a board meeting Tuesday night, it was decided to invite Mr. Gati to return so his possible appointment as resident music director and conductor could be further explored.

LASZLO GATI
. . . here Friday

A morning newspaper report that his appointment was confirmed was in error.

Symphony president John Meredith, in making the announcement, says that prior to this decision the various alternatives were thoroughly discussed.

The alternatives are to continue with guest conductors for another season, appoint a non-resident conductor who would be responsible for filling in with guests, or arranging for several to conduct a series of possibly three concerts each.

It is felt that none of these alternatives would be in the best interests of the orchestra.

Mr. Gati, it is pointed out, was selected by Otto-Werner Mueller, prior to his resignation, to guest conduct the January pair of concerts.

While appointment of the Hungarian-born Canadian is pending Mr. Mueller expressed pleasure this morning that consideration is being given to Gati whom he regards highly as a musician and able conductor.

Contacted at his Montreal home by phone, Mr. Gati was "quite enthused" about the prospect of coming to Victoria.

LIKES ORCHESTRA

"First there are many things to be talked about," he said, "but I like the orchestra very much and would enjoy working with it.

"Its standard of performance surprised and pleased me and I think we could work together to maintain and develop it — to establish a certain definitive style.

"I like the people I met and the prospect of living in Victoria and sharing in the big musical development stirring in the city delights me and my family."

Before coming to Canada in 1956, Mr. Gati was a member of the Hungarian State Philharmonic Orchestra and a violin professor at the Budapest Conservatory. He was a protege of the great Hungarian composer, Zoltan Kodaly, who died last month in the United States.

At present he is conductor of the Montreal Chamber Orchestra and not long ago returned from a tour of Europe and the Middle East.

He is married and has two daughters.

'HONORS' ON TONIGHT AT FESTIVAL

First of three special events, the honor performance of Victoria Music Festival dance classes, takes place tonight at Central Junior Secondary auditorium.

The following schools were selected for the program by adjudicator Shirley Nalevyken.

Shelbourne, Glanford and Strawberry Vale elementary, to combine in dancing the German folk dance, Man in the Hay.

Tolmie, Grade 1, Chimes of Dunkirk (French); Oaklands, Grade 1, the singing game, Turn Me Round; Uplands, Grade 2, Gustaf's Skoal (Swedish); Cloverdale, Grade 3, Virginian Reel; George Jay, Grade 3, Maypole; Victoria West, Grade 4, Durham Reel (English).

St. Patrick's School, Grade 5 will dance Reinlander (Norwegian); Willows, Grade 6, an Israeli dance, Kuuma Echa; Monterey girls, Grades 6 and 7, Cauld Kale and boys, Grade 7, Oxdans.

From Victoria West Grade 7, girls will dance Gathering Peascods and Grade 6, a Romanian dance, Ciocarlanul; Oak Bay Junior Secondary, a French minuet and Quadra, Grades 4, 5 and 6, the Circassian Circle.

The performance begins at 8 with doors opening at 7:30.

Pollution Board Revamped

The provincial cabinet today revamped its Pollution Control Board.

It expanded the two-year-old board from seven to nine seats, reappointing all except two civil servants who had served on it.

In their place, it put two doctors for the first time.

One is a civil servant, Dr. Kenneth I. G. Benson, assistant deputy minister of health.

But the other, Dr. Cortland G. J. MacKenzie, of the University of B.C.'s preventive medicine department, fulfills an indication at the last session by Resources Minister Ray Williston that a non-government doctor would be added to the board.

TWO TO FILL

With two seats still vacant on the new board, he will still have room to fulfill the other indication that some representative of local government or the public at large would be appointed.

Mr. Williston, who is responsible for the board, did not disclose how he plans to fill the remaining seats.

Deputy water resources Minister Arthur Paget was re-appointed as chairman of the board, as were mines department inspector J. W. Peck and deputy forests Minister F. S. McKinnon.

Also re-appointed were James S. Allin and Robert G. McMynn.

Dropped from the board's membership were William Bailey, director of public health engineering, and C. J. Keenan, the board's executive engineer who is slated to fill the new administrative position of director of pollution control.

The cabinet also passed new regulations for issuance of waste disposal permit under the revised Pollution Control Act created at this year's session, but they did not differ significantly from previous procedures for obtaining such permits.

STYLISTS NAMED

Barbers Cutting New Image

Shaping a new image isn't too hard when you're a hairdresser.

It just needs a razor, a pair of scissors and a hair dryer.

To prove that local barbers aren't as dull as some people imagine, the Victoria Men's Hairdressing Club staged a styling contest this week.

Fifteen barbers took part at the Glamour School on Broad Street with prizes being awarded for workmanship, style, originality and finish.

Said organizer of the event, Phil Eggersman: "We hope to have similar competitions twice a year.

"We want a new image. It's been thought for too long that anybody can get a barber's job in Victoria.

"But the barbers here are comparable to barbers in any of the larger cities."

Winners of the contest were: 1, Henry Behder; 2, Len Maycock; 3, Frank Hartman.

Trophies will be presented at the annual meeting of the B.C.Barber's Association in the Empress Hotel April 23.

'These Crimes Must Be Stopped'—Mayor

Woman Beaten, Robbed

Mayor Hugh Stephen today called for severe action against three youths who brutally attacked and robbed a Blanshard Street jewelry store clerk.

"On crimes such as this—when the perpetrators are apprehended and found guilty — the punishment should correspond with the offence," the mayor said.

Three young men entered Hebden's jewelry store shortly before 5:30 Tuesday evening and beat into unconsciousness Mrs. Queen Victoria Wilkins, 60.

They escaped with $50 and two watches worth $150 each.

'BRUTAL, CALLOUS'

Mayor Stephen called the attack "a brutal and callous disregard for human life.

"It is this sort of crime which gives me so much concern—the type of crime we must try with all the means in our power to eliminate.

"This sort of thing just has to be stopped and I am confident that our police department will leave no stone unturned to find the culprits."

Descriptions of two youths seen near the jewelry store have been turned over to police.

Mrs. Wilkins is in fairly good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital suffering two bumps and a one-inch wound on her scalp.

She told police that one youth was about 20 years old with light brown hair and dark sweater and pants.

Another had dark hair and white pants but she gave no description of the third.

Mrs. Alice Hardisty of 2418 Hamiota told police she was walking past Benny's cafe on Blanshard when she saw two youths about 18 to 20 near the jewelry store about 5:15. Both were about five feet eight and were dark and of average build.

Mrs. Joan Smith of the Dutch Beauty Salon described a similar pair she saw outside the beauty shop between 4:30 and 5 p.m.

TOOK MONEY

Roy Hebden, owner of the store, said he had left his premises shortly before the theft, taking most of the money with him, leaving Mrs. Wilkins with only $50. She was putting watches away in the safe when the robbery and assault occurred.

He said the men entered the store at 1006 Blanshard on the pretext of buying a railwayman's watch.

Two Local Students Among 35 Selected For Science Seminar

Two Victoria students have been selected to attend the Royal Canadian Institute's summer science program at Lakefield College, Ont., this summer.

They are Heather Heppenstall, 17, of Oak Bay Senior Secondary School and Peter Lawrie, 17, of Mount View Secondary.

They are among 35 top high school students from all Canadian provinces who will attend a six-week seminar at Lakefield.

"Leading scientists will demonstrate science as a spectrum of knowledge rather than as collections of test-tubes or specimen jars," a spokesman for the Royal Canadian Institute said.

'GREAT EXPERIENCE'

"It will be a great experience," said Miss Heppenstall, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Heppenstall, 2341 Middowne.

"I've been studying biology for the past year and I'd like to take up science as a career."

Miss Heppenstall attended Brunskil elementary school, Saskatoon, and came to Victoria four years ago. She recently presented a paper on biology at the University of Victoria.

Peter Lawrie, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lawrie, 4026 Quadra, is an advanced student in chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics.

He attended Quadra elementary school before going to Mount View secondary and is a member of Metropolitan United Church.

LATEST EQUIPMENT

"The science school at Lakefield has all the latest in scientific equipment," he said. "I'm certainly looking forward to it."

After the six-week seminar, the students will go to Expo 67, Montreal, where they will meet 350 other students from Britain, Europe and the United States.

At Lakefield, the students will be on the go from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, with films and special lectures in the evening. Weekends will be devoted to sports.

FIELD TRIPS

They will work in the laboratories, take field trips and join discussion groups. One of the projects will be setting up and operating a small meteorological station for five weeks.

"We neglect the mundane bread-and-butter aspects of science," a college spokesman said. "We treat science as the spectrum of life."

The Royal Canadian Institute's summer science program is a centennial project of United Investment Services, Ltd., Toronto.

United stepped in when it heard that the project was stalled for lack of funds. Cost of the program, begun in 1963, rose to more than $25,000 by 1965 and was dropped. United then donated $20,000 a year for three years. The cost this year is estimated at $27,000.

Young Couples' Canoe Race Set for July 1

A young couple's canoe race from the Inner Harbor to Portage Inlet and back will be held July 1.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said today he had received confirmation from the Greater Victoria Centennial Society that an application for trophies for the event would probably be looked on with favor.

The society has around $1,500 left in the kitty to sponsor new events for the balance of the year.

Ald. Edgelow said he would form a committee immediately to iron out the details of the race.

Water Vote Urged At Prospect L. Without Sparton

Saanich council will be asked to put the water main extension plan to a vote of Prospect Lake and Westholme Road residents without including Sparton Road.

The public works committee made this recommendation to council at a meeting Tuesday night.

The original plan did not include Sparton Road although one resident told council he favored it. Council will consider the recommendation Monday night.

FILL 'ER UP AND CHECK THE AFTER-BURNERS

By MORGAN MacGREGOR

Tourists are always welcome to Vancouver Island . . .

. . . even little green tourists with antennas poking out of their heads.

To make sure space travellers feel at home, two Port McNeill businessmen have started work on a landing pad for flying saucers.

Gerry Furney and Bill MacLeod have already cleared one patch for the Martians.

But just in case other planets are interested in visiting the logging town on the Island's northwest coast, they're providing parking space for a second machine.

They consider the landing strip behind Port McNeill Motors ideal.

Water, fuel, lubricants, power and welding equipment are all laid on.

In case the visitors have any earthbound relatives there's a phone handy.

And what could be more necessary after travelling a few million miles than a men's room (ladies too in case of mixed crews).

Professing all seriousness in the project, Mr. Furney said this week: "There have been many sightings of UFOs (unidentified flying objects) in the past few weeks.

"People here are really keen on our project.

"They think it's terrific. They are all in favor of attempting to communicate with space beings."

The two hope to have an official opening date for B.C.'s first such landing pad on July 1.

"The pad is a simple concept," said Mr. Furney. "Compacted earth, a couple of unused gas pumps wearing helmets . . . just to make anyone landing feel right at home."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tupman (at right) had their best man and bridesmaid with them, Sunday, when they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and Mr. Tupman's 50th year as a choir leader. Mr. Len Tupman, seen at left, was best man for his brother, and Mrs. Tupman's bridesmaid, the former Veda Hemingway, later became Mrs. Len Tupman. The foursome is seen at an anniversary party, held in the Lillian Road home of the honor couple's daughter, Mrs. Wilfred Campbell. Well-known in musical circles, Mr. Tupman now conducts the Arion Male Voice Choir and the Sanctuary Choir at Metropolitan United Church. Many Victoria school choirs have sung under his baton in past years. (James A. McVie.)

DEAR ABBY . . .

Certain Things Are Priceless

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You recently wrote, "nothing is more overrated than money. Ask anyone who has suffered a real tragedy, and he will tell you that no amount of money could have comforted him in his hour of sorrow."

I disagree with you. My husband and I worked and saved to buy a home of our own. It took us 14 years, but we finally got it. Then along came a tornado and our lovely home was demolished! Of course there was no insurance, so it was a total loss.

Now if some kind soul had come along and given us $55,000 it would have comforted us plenty in our hour of sorrow.

So please, Dear Abby, admit that even you can goof once in a while.

VICTIM.

DEAR VICTIM: I admit that I "goof" more than "once in a while." But while losing one's worldly goods is indeed tragic, only he who has suffered an irreplaceable loss, such as a mate, a child, or a beloved friend, knows the meaning of "real" tragedy.

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours recently had a golden wedding anniversary, so several weeks before that date I telephoned a local florist and asked him to send them two dozen long-stemmed yellow roses (cost $24). The daughter of this couple had planned a party for her parents, and she used the same florist I called. She learned of my order so she told the florist they wouldn't be needing any extra bouquets, so to just accept my money and deduct it from her bill.

Since she is well known and respected in town, I don't blame the florist for doing as she requested, however I am very hurt to think that I paid part of her bill rather than to have sent my own flowers.

The daughter did tell her parents about my order, however, because I received a nice thank you note for my "intentions." Am I wrong to feel hurt?

HURT.

DEAR HURT: No. But the florist with whom you placed your order is every bit as guilty as the daughter who dreamed up that chintzy scheme. I can't imagine a reputable florist going along with such a suggestion without your approval. As I see it, you owe that florist nothing!

DEAR ABBY: I was at home preparing to go on a much-needed vacation when I received a phone call from my daughter's boss, telling me I should try to convince my daughter to get some help.

Her boss seems to think she is mentally ill as she has been coming to work with hosiery run to shreds and mismated shoes. He says her hair is uncombed and she is careless about her appearance lately. Do you think she is abnormal?

I have since spoken to a psychiatrist who tells me that these are usually signs of a sick mind.

Please, Abby, tell me the right words to use when I tell my daughter because I know she will be very angry when I suggest that she needs help.

HEARTBROKEN MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: If you "know" she will be very angry when you suggest that she needs help, perhaps you are not the one to tell her. Talk to the psychiatrist again and ask for his suggestions.

Confidential to "Can't Figure Him Out" in Odessa: A man who is constantly bragging about his sex life probably gets more pleasure out of bragging than he does from his sex life.

What are the exact proportions of peroxide, ammonia and soapsuds used to dye hair on arms and legs? —Ramona D.

First of all, whenever peroxide is employed, the process is referred to as bleaching (taking color out). Dyeing implies the addition of color.

The proper proportions are two ozs. of 20 per cent volume peroxide to two or three drops of ammonia (use an eyedropper), plus enough soapsuds or talcum powder to keep the solution from dropping all over the bathroom floor.

Many women prefer a packaged oil bleach, available in drug stores, which is a gentler type of ammonia (ammonia plus oil) rather than straight ammonia. This may be used in the following proportions: ¼ oz. oil bleach to ½ oz. 20 per cent peroxide. Suds or talc may be added to this solution as well, if you wish to make a paste.

Apply whichever type solution you choose with a cotton swab. Leave on five to ten mintes, or if it stings some, for less time. Remove with lukewarm water and apply a bit of cream or rub with an ice cube.

Leg Loop

I have bowlegs. How can I walk so the problem won't be so noticeable? Is there any way I can camouflage them? — Miss Eileen G.

There are many lovely beauties with bowlegs, so take heart! However, you're wise to want to make the least of them.

When walking, always remember your posture. Keep your head erect, your chin held high. Step forward, placing one foot slightly in front of the other, toe pointing a bit outward. Practice this walk in front of a full-length mirror (walking both toward and away from it) until you feel graceful.

Be sure your skirts are a flattering length, regardless of the mini-skirt fashion craze.

Wear skin-colored stockings. Avoid textured effects which call attention to the legs.

Leg makeup is great fun and you might like to try it. Choose a shade darker than your natural skin tone and apply it on the outer area of your calves to create the illusion of straightness.

Double Trouble

My hair is extremely oily and must be washed every other day, but the ends are split and dry. What should I do? — Linda L.

Oily hair is a common complaint especially during adolescence when glands are overactive and excrete more oil than usual.

Brush your hair well before shampooing to carry the oil down to the ends.

Have the split portion of the ends trimmed off or do it yourself. If you don't, they'll tend to continue splitting wherever dryness occurs. Besides, your hair will look much better trimmed and will have a chance to grow in healthier.

Soak the ends, after trimming, in a little baby or castor oil every week so that they'll be sure to stay pliant.

Continue washing your hair as often as is necessary but use a mild shampoo, such as castile.

FOR SOLARIUM

Mrs. Pearkes to Officiate At Opening of Campaign

Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, will preside at opening ceremonies of the Solarium Junior League's annual spring shower campaign, to take place at the Queen Alexandra Solarium, 2400 Arbutus Road, on Friday at 11 a.m. She will be presented with a bouquet by five-year-old Greg, this year's Appeal Child.

Miss Renee Nicholson, president of the Thetis Chapter (the league's sister group in Vancouver), and Miss Barbara Gardiner, convener of the mail campaign for the mainland group's campaign, will be among those present.

Each municipality has been asked to send a representative. J. S. Holdstock, solarium administrator, and solarium directors will be in attendance.

League officials who will be there include president Mrs. D. Eade, mail campaign convener Mrs. Ted Lunt, one-night drive convener Mrs. T. Chalmers, opening ceremonies convener Mrs. B. Perry, vice-president Mrs. B. Bertoia and publicity chairman Mrs. R. Lindsay.

This year, a mail campaign will be organized by the league and will cover Vancouver Island and all parts of the mainland, excluding the Greater Vancouver area which will be organized by the Thetis Chapter. This year's goal is $15,000.

In the Victoria area, there will be a One-Night Drive next Monday evening and canvassers are still needed. Volunteers should phone Mrs. Chalmers at 478-6635.

The Solarium is the province's only convalescent crippled children's hospital and admits children of every race, color and creed. The ability to meet costs of treatment is no qualifying factor to admittance.

Local Diors Display Their Skill At Unique Self-Made Showings

Yves St. Laurent had better look to his laurels. Monday afternoon and evening, a band of Victoria women proved that haute couture knows few barriers by putting on two fashion shows that were unique, fast-moving and full of surprises.

The scene was the clubhouse of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and the sponsoring group, the Auxiliary to the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Every outfit modelled at the show had been knitted by local women. Sound dull? Not on your life! Any Parisien runway would have been graced by the ensembles that were shown.

For example, one blond model (disguised by sun glasses) gave the capacity audience a preview of summer by modelling the briefest of white bikinis, crocheted in a tiny rib pattern.

Again in white, another model looked dressed for the State Ball as she came on stage in a full-length knitted formal, flatteringly sleek and richly encrusted with pearls on the bodice and the back-slitted hemline.

With the ingenuity common to most women, many of the local Diors had used a nylon hairbrush as an all-important tool.

Sporting knitted suits and coats that looked like tweed they had produced fake fur collars that had to be touched to be believed. This magic was created by knitting with mohair and using a hairbrush to brush it into an appearance that would have any of our four-legged friends completely baffled!

One enchanting sea green cocktail dress was knitted entirely of sequins and another two-piece cocktail ensemble was of pure black silk. Looking exactly like the sheerest of lace, one dress was made of a white and gold yarn, designed to knit up in the form of milady's favorite and most feminine ally.

Dashing enough for Carnaby Street was one raven-haired model who teamed a chic gold mini coat-dress with high black boots and black mesh stockings. In the same gay mood, one local couturier had knitted herself a frivolous orange and yellow dress, the skirt being of large Mod squares and the bodice repeating the motif on a smaller scale.

The small dress — darling of any woman who leads a busy social life — was never interpreted with greater effect than in the charcoal grey beauty that relied on a wide bottom hem of Fair Isle design for extra zing.

One black and gold pant suit drew raves as the model walked the runway, the glint of the gold threads shimmering, like a sky full of stars. If there was one drawback to this ensemble it was that any hostess wearing it would be bound to outshine her guests . . . an unforgivable social sin!

Each outfit had guests mentally checking their stock of knitting needles and making plans to visit Boutique de Laine, the store providing the materials used.

Commentator was Mrs. Malcolm G. Taylor of the store and the first model to make her appearance was her partner, Mrs. G. Soutar. Both had obviously found time between helping others on the path to haute couture to create some knitted wizardry of their own.

Many an outfit was cleverly accented with earrings and other jewelry made locally to match each creation. These were of enamel based on copper and executed in shapes to intrigue at a glance.

Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of the lieutenant-governor, opened the affair, after being introduced by president Mrs. Hershell A. Smith.

General convener Mrs. A. J. Hoey was one of the busiest women in the clubhouse. She not only took charge of arrangements; she also took her turn modelling on the runway. Co-convener was Mrs. R. O. Munson.

The clubhouse was brilliantly decorated with masses of spring blooms, with 30 dozen golden daffodils outshining the gold cloths that covered the tea tables. Decorations were by Mrs. Fred Baylis. She was assisted by Mrs. J. L. Campbell.

The most unusual arbutus tree in town was 'growing' in the large entrance hall. Its branches were aflame with 'blossoms' of a new French lurex yarn, each a masterpiece of color.

Mrs. C. G. Randall and Mrs. F. E. W. Robinson were in charge of tea arrangements for the afternoon showing and Mrs. N. L. Kowalyk arranged the desserts and coffee at the evening presentation. Auxiliary members acted as serviteurs under the supervision of Mrs. G. Day.

Proceeds amounted to $400 and will be used for the general work of the auxiliary. This includes the provision of disposable syringes and other equipment, donating of office equipment and assistance in providing VON nurses with items of uniforms.

Plan Breakfast — Details for a special Mass and breakfast were discussed when the Queen of Peace Council, Catholic Women's League, held its annual meeting and smorgasbord dinner recently, in the parish hall. The special event will be taking place on April 26 to celebrate the feast of Our Lady of Good Counsel. Plans were also discussed for a rummage sale on May 6. President Mrs. M. Kokran and Fr. M. J. McNamara welcomed the guests at the meeting and the latter installed the new officers. The new executive includes president Mrs. Kokran; first vice-president, Mrs. J. Sharp; second, Mrs. H. Bruch, secretary, Mrs. F. Blackley, and treasurer Mrs. R. Stirling. Mrs. E. DeCosta, Mrs. L. Praud and Mrs. A. Smith are councillors.

PLAN BUSY DAY

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes have a busy day ahead of them on Thursday. That morning, His Excellency, General Sun Yup Paik, ambassador for Korea, will pay an official call on the Lieutenant-Governor at Government House. His Honor and Mrs. Pearkes will be entertaining the visitor at a luncheon. In the afternoon, His Honor and Mrs. Pearkes will give a reception for the French editors, journalists, radio and television writers here from Quebec.

For Official Visitors

Members of the Pacific Northwest District, Optimist International, gathered from various points in British Columba and the northwestern United States, Tuesday, to attend functions marking the official visit of international president Mr. Robert Leonard and Mrs. Leonard, of Knoxville, Tenn.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Leonard was guest of honor at a luncheon given by the Oak Bay, Victoria Afternoon, and Evening Opti—Mrs. Clubs in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Phillip Holmes, wife of the district lieutenant-governor.

That evening, guests gathered for a reception and banquet in the Red Lion Motor Inn where Mr. Leonard was guest speaker. An evening of dancing rounded out the day's activities.

Golf Club Dance

Members of the Uplands Golf Club will gather in the clubhouse Saturday evening for their spring opening dance. The affair, which begins at 9:30, will be attended by 130 guests. The Dave Pepper Sound will play for dancing and buffet refreshments will be served.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stewart, of Vancouver, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Mary Jean, to Mr. Andrew Isdell-Carpenter, elder son of Rev. and Mrs. P. Isdell-Carpenter, of Surrey, England. The groom-elect is on the faculty of the English department of the University of Victoria. The wedding will take place in Vancouver on June 3.

Co-Hostesses

A wishing well decorated in white, pink and green tones held gifts of groceries and linen for bride-elect Miss Margot Robins when she was entertained at a shower by Miss Mary Burgess in her Hampshire Road home. Co-hostesses were Mrs. D. St. Claire and Mrs. J. Edwards. The honor guest received a corsage of red carnations, and her mother, Mrs. Cyril Robins, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Jack Burgess, were presented with pink carnations en corsage. Grandmothers of the principals, Mrs. C. Brooks, Mrs. M. Burgess and Mrs. M. C. Ellis, received corsages of white carnations. Those attending included Mrs. J. Brooks, Mrs. F. Child, Mrs. H. Davies, Mrs. R. Draper, Mrs. H. Humphrey, Mrs. D. Ackerman, Mrs. D. Mark, Mrs. A. Beasley, Mrs. G. Parker, Mrs. P. Linstrom, Mrs. P. Beattie, Mrs. A. Sears, the Misses Edna Burgess and Barbara Bonner.

Holiday in South

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hall returned to their San Ardo Place home, following a holiday in California. While in the south they were guests of their son, Mr. L. V. Hall, and his family in San Jose for three weeks. En route home, the couple visited with Mr. Hall's sister-in-law, Mrs. Edna Hall, New Westminster.

Attend Wedding

Out-of-town guests travelling to Victoria to attend the wedding of Miss Laura Hislop and Mr. Bruce Henderson included the bride's great-grandmother, Mrs. C. A. Anderson; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Fitzsimmons, Mr. Gordon Fitzsimmons, Mrs. A. Hoover, Mrs. E. Smasslet, Mrs. L. Erb and Miss Lee-Ann Erb, all of Prince George.

MANSION'S FIRST GUESTS

OTTAWA (CP) — The first guests arrive at the government's new state visitors' mansion at 7 Rideau Gate on Friday and interior decorators and landscape gardeners are scrambling to put on the final touches.

Roland Michener, Governor-General-designate, and Mrs. Michener will spend the weekend there and move into Government House, across the street, after the swearing-in ceremony Monday.

The Micheners will have their choice of the master suite, an elegant three-room ensemble with pale beige carpeting and soft green wallpaper — French aqua the interior decorator called it — or a slightly smaller suite done in blazing sunshine yellow.

Or if they want a little help getting reacquainted with their native land after their sojourn in India, they can choose the Canadian room, the smallest of the guest bedrooms. It has antique pine furniture, including a massive four-poster bed.

Glass Blower's Art Is an Ideal Accent

By Penny Saver

Nothing fascinates more than a glass blower—busy with creation of a delicate ornament from a simple tube of glass. To me, glass blowing is literally one of the finest arts, as the blower has only a few seconds to shape and blow the melted glass before it hardens again. My own attempts at glass blowing were done in the back of a chemistry classroom when I was supposed to be following the instructor and the rest of the class who were performing a simple experiment on our course. Needless to say, neither my glass-blowing antics nor my final chemistry grade showed very much success.

I'm sure the proprietor of one shop must have wondered about me when she showed me a fine blown-glass item—the first thing that came to my mind was those mischievous school days. However, this piece of artistry is really something to rave about. The glass is an aurora of colors. The shape of this wonder, which could be used as a dish for mints, a vase for dainty flowers or just for decoration, is a round base with two slender, tapering arms extending up and almost touching, resembling handles for the base. Price of this item is $8.75.

Lately, on every shopping excursion, I've kept one eye open for jewelry accessories for the season. I've told you about most of my revolutionary finds, but it seems that every time I visit a different shop, beads keep "growing" longer and longer. The longest beads I've ever seen sell in one shop for $1.50. These are dried and painted seeds imported from the Orient. I'm not bluffing—one of these strands, from clasp to clasp, must be from six to eight feet long. These are just the thing for the a-go-go generation who have gone wild over the brightest and longest, dangliest accessories.

If your jewelry box is based on more conventional lines, I found the thing for you in one store. This line of complements is made of British Columbia jade, crushed and set in plastic. Choose from pendants, necklaces and bracelets, priced at $2. The bands and metal settings are in copper or gold tones. These items are perfect for visitors in our province.

Give me a call at 382-2131 if you want to know where to find these items.

Dermabrasion Makes Acne Scar Less Noticeable

Lowman

Fortunately today, there is help for the woman or man who has been scarred by acne. The technique used is called either dermabrasion or planing. It has been employed in the treatment of acne scars and other scars and even wrinkles.

Dermabrasion will not completely remove the scars, but it will make them much less noticeable, much shallower, and seems to be well worthwhile for the woman whose skin is blemished in this way. Depending on the scars, more than one treatment may be necessary for best results. You usually have these about six months apart.

Women write to know just how dermabrasion is done. This is what happens. The skin is frozen with a special freezing compound to form a hard surface. Then the dermatologist or plastic surgeon planes a bit off of the top layer of your skin. He uses a special steel wire brush which is attached to a machine similar to that a dentist uses to drill. But don't let this scare you Of course, there is some discomfort, but it is not severe.

A heavy crust will form within the next two days. The crust will peel off within a week or 10 days. I think you might like to remain at home until the crust is gone. There will be some redness for about a month, but you can take care of this with makeup.

Don't bundle up your wrinkles and rush to the nearest dermatologist or plastic surgeon for dermabrasion. The result would be very temporary. You see, wrinkles are caused not just by the condition of the skin, but also, by the condition of the underlying tissues, muscles and bones.

If I were going to advise my readers about dermabrasion, I would use the lingo of today and say, "Acne scars — yes! Wrinkles — no!"

If you would like to have more information about caring for your skin, send for my free leaflet "Clear the Way for Beauty." For your free copy send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

IN FAIRFIELD UNITED CHURCH

Henderson-Hislop Wedding Vows

A jacket of lace highlighted the floor-length gown of peau d'elegance worn by Laura Doreen Hislop when she became the bride of Bruce Alexander Henderson. The empire-length gown was styled with a train of the same lace. A pearl tiara held her shoulder-length veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Only jewelry was a gold locket, the groom's gift.

Rev. H. W. Kerley officiated at the ceremony in Fairfield United Church, uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hislop, 3271 Cedar Hill Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Henderson of White Rock. The groom's parents and his sisters, Wendy, Sandra, Brenda and Tracy, travelled to Victoria for the wedding. Mr. Hislop gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Sandra Henderson was maid of honor. She was wearing a gown of chiffon over taffeta in turquoise tone, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Bridesmaids, the Misses Isabel and Eileen Hislop, the bride's sisters, were dressed alike in empire-line gowns of peau d'elegance in pink shade. Their bouquets were similar to the maid of honor's.

Little Tracy Henderson was flower girl in a frock of pink taffeta and her headpiece was a band of pink rosebuds. Carnations were in her bouquet.

Best man was Tom Hlencka and ushering the guests were Fred Trimboli and Bruce Kissinger.

The bride's mother made the wedding cake which centred the head table at the reception following in the Club Tango. Adolf Sorboe proposed the toast to his niece.

Master Monster Karloff Began Career in Kamloops

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last week they gave Boris Karloff a party—the first in his honor during almost a half-century in Hollywod.

The occasion was the release of a Decca album, An Evening With Boris Karloff and His Friends, which features scenes from the actor's films, including Frankenstein, Bride of Frankenstein and Son of Frankenstein.

The site for the party was natural enough: The Magic Castle, a spooky old mansion where magicians meet. It's a club where diners and drinkers are sometimes joined by vampires and monsters, presumably imitated by Magic Castle personnel.

Karloff seemed at home in such surroundings, and he responded with his usual good humor. Unlike some stars who resent being typed in their most famous roles, the London-born actor—real name William Henry Pratt—has always spoken affectionately of the cliff-browed monster he first played in 1930.

WORKING AT 80

"I am a very lucky man," he said in reflection. "Here I am in my 80th year and I am still able to earn my bread and butter at my profession.

"I am one of that very small family of the human race who happens to thoroughly enjoy his work. If I didn't enjoy it, I wouldn't go on."

Despite a leg brace to aid an arthritic knee, he maintains an active schedule. He and his wife now live in a London flat and a cottage in Hampshire, but he comes here twice a year for films. During the last year he also made an I Spy in Spain and worked with Raquel Welch in The Sorcerers in London.

His fondness for acting goes back to 1910, when he made his stage debut in Kamloops, B.C., as a villain, and toured Western Canada. He came to Hollywood in 1919 and knew only fitful success until he lurched on to the screen as Dr. Frankenstein's handiwork.

100-Channel Choice Under U.S. TV Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Senate hearings opened Tuesday on an American government plan that may one day require the television viewer to flick through 100 channels to find the program he wants.

Secretary John W. Gardner of the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare department, and chairman Rosel H. Hyde of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) were expected to endorse establishment of a public television corporation at the session.

President Johnson has asked Congress to establish such a company as part of expanding commercial-free educational television. One of the first jobs of the 15-member board of directors of the corporation would be to study the feasibility of satellites for television broadcasting.

A glimpse into the future of satellite broadcasting was given recently at another Senate hearing. Arthur W. Barber, deputy assistant defence secretary, put it this way:

"I understand that it's now possible to orbit an equatorial satellite which would transmit 10 television channels directly to home receivers. At super high frequency bands, where these would operate, a total of 80 to 150 parallel channels could be broadcast simultaneously.

"Just think of a daily choice of 100 channels! Everyone would want his own television receiver to maintain family peace. International television will be even more widely used.

"We might have a choice of skiing in the Tyrol, opera in Vienna, Kabuki theatre from Japan, a Mexican fiesta, the Bolshoi ballet from Moscow, three or four news programs, ten different sporting events, five to 10 operas, 20 education programs and 50 late movies."

Chairman John O. Pastore, (D—R.I.) of the Senate communications subcommittee was expected to question witnesses about the costs of expanded broadcasting.

Representatives of major foundations will discuss various methods of financing such a satellite system during hearings Wednesday.

Advance Of Spring In B.C. Film

Public premieres of two half-hour color motion pictures produced by the province's photographic branch will be held Thursday and Friday in the Interior, it was announced today.

They are Breath of Spring and East 1—West 1, both filmed and directed by Wilf Gray of the travel industry department.

About 20 prints are available here for loans to local groups or organizations from the department's photographic branch.

Breath of Spring depicts animal and plant life and the subtle advance of spring across the B.C. landscape as it moves inland from the sea to the peaks of the Rocky Mountains.

East 1—West 1 deals with the Trans-Canada Highway from the Alberta foothills to Victoria. It won first prize in its category early this year at the Michigan Outdoor Writers' Association Film Festival in Detroit.

Showing the films at the premieres will be Mr. Gray, photographic branch director F. W. E. Round and B. J. Pauls of the B.C. Travel Bureau.

OAK BAY BAND BEGINS TOUR IN ALBERTA

The 55 student musicians flew to Calgary where they will participate in the Alberta music festival and give public and school concerts.

They will play in the festival at the invitation of Calgary school board and will then travel by rail to Edmonton.

Funds for the trip were raised by the students and Oak bay Parents' Association.

With the band are Mrs. J. Vining, band manager; Mrs. E. Wood and W. D. West, chaperones; David Dunnet, director, and Jim Titerle, school students' council president, who will MC the concerts.

Burtons Mourning 'Team' Award Loss

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The film colony basked in the afterglow of its annual self-tribute Tuesday marred only by the miffed silence of two-time Academy Award winner Elizabeth Taylor and husband Richard Burton, who lost for the fifth time.

Miss Taylor, who wasn't in the Civic Auditorium in Santa Monica Monday night for the 39th annual Oscars, won the best actress award for Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?

Burton, her co-star in the film, lost out in the best actor category to another Britisher, Paul Scofield, for his performance in A Man for All Seasons.

The Burtons spent the morning dodging newsmen as they sped in their chauffeured limousine from their plush rented villa in Nice to a picturesque restaurant in Antibes.

Insiders in France said the Burtons had hoped they would become the first husband-wife team to win in Academy history.

EXPERT SAYS:

'Useless to Ban LSD Possession'

TORONTO (CP) — A leading authority on the hallucinatory drug LSD Tuesday night told Dr. Morton Shulman, former chief coroner for Metropolitan Toronto, that he sees little point in prohibiting persons from possessing LSD.

Dr. Abram Hoffer, psychiatric director of the Saskatchewan department of public health, said "prohibition would be something like the prohibition of alcohol, and I think it would do more harm than good because of impure substances which would be manufactured and bootlegged."

Dr. Hoffer, who has been experimenting with LSD since 1952 with the approval of the federal department of health, said he approves of legislation which outlaws public sale of the drug.

He described LSD as a boon to mankind but a dangerous toy in the hands of persons unqualified to use it.

ATTENDING INQUEST

Dr. Hoffer, who was scheduled to be a witness at the inquest into the death of N. John Stern of Toronto, was discussing LSD with Dr. Shulman in a Toronto hotel.

Dr. Shulman planned to conduct the inquest into the Stern death but was fired as chief Metropolitan Toronto coroner last Friday. The inquest opened Tuesday night under coroner Dr. Fred Cruickshank and was adjourned to April 19 after hearing some evidence.

Stern died when he jumped or fell from the Bloor Street viaduct in Toronto. He was said to have taken LSD hours before his death.

Dr. Hoffer said a massive educational campaign should be undertaken among members of the public and among doctors and centres should be set up where LSD could be taken under supervision.

He said that even if legislation could prevent persons from possessing LSD, there are other hallucinatory drugs available in Canada.

CENTURIES OLD

"There's a plant called rat root which grows abundantly across northern Canada from coast to coast. It gives the same effect as LSD. Indian medicine men have been using it for centuries.

"There are drugs that can be bought from the shelves of any drug store—without prescription—which give the same effect, though I don't intend to name them publicly."

Dr. Hoffer warned that LSD can drive persons with schizophrenic tendencies "right over the hill" into disease, can influence some persons to suicide and can cause death by accident to persons who, under its influence, think they can walk through the air.

Dr. Hoffer said he has not been asked to appear at the inquest under Dr. Cruickshank.

Dr. Shulman said the loss of Dr. Hoffer's testimony destroyed at least half the value of the inquest.

Injured Girl Making Good Recovery

A 14-year-old Esquimalt girl badly crushed a week ago when a log rolled on her has made a good recovery.

Mary Gardner of 1213 Juno suffered internal injuries when the log she was walking on at Saxe Point Park tipped and rolled over her.

Initially reported in poor condition, she underwent surgery the day after the accident and has now been moved from the intensive care unit, a spokesman at St. Joseph's Hospital said Tuesday.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merril advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion-beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a small supply.

'INADVERTENT AND RESULT OF NAVIGATION ERRORS'

U.S. Raps Pilots for Worst Bombing Mistake of War

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force has reprimanded three of its pilots, docked their pay and temporarily grounded them for the worst bombing mistake of the Vietnam war.

A board of inquiry cleared a fourth pilot who flew in the two-plane strike March 2. The strike killed 105 Montagnards—mountain tribesmen—and wounded 250 in the village of Lang Vei, in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

The board said the bombing mistake was "inadvertent and the result of navigation errors." It ordered the disciplinary measures against the flight leader and the two co-pilots who were responsible for navigation.

The names of the pilots were not immediately available. The air force also refused to disclose the amount of pay lost and details of the reprimand—which normally would affect promotion and future assignment of the officers—until expiration of an appeal period.

The air force said the three grounded pilots, who are based in Thailand, would go before the flying evaluation board in the next week for another review of the incident.

This was the first report of disciplinary action taken against U.S. personnel responsible for a bombing mistake in the Vietnam war. About a dozen such incidents have been reported, with about 500 casualties.

The bombed village was packed with refugees who had fled from Communist-controlled areas. The strike was aimed at a U.S. special forces camp overlooking Lang Vai in the mistaken belief it was a Communist fortification.

$360,000 STOLEN FROM AIRPORT ROOM

NEW YORK (UPI)—The United States Federal Bureau of Investigation searched today for a shipment of $360,000 in United States currency and $60,000 in Laotian bank notes that mysteriously disappeared from a steel-doored strongroom at Kennedy International Airport.

The fortune, most of it U.S. currency of small denominations, vanished Monday from the cinder block room at the Air France cargo building. From there it was to have been consigned to the French American Banking Corporation in Manhattan.

SOME REJECTED, OTHERS SLASHED

Grant Applications Face Sharpened Knife

By JIM HUME
City Hall Reporter

A tight-fisted Intermunicipal Committee took a hard look Tuesday at grant applications for 1967.

Some they approved, some they slashed with references to "this is going to be a tough year," and some they rejected outright.

But even by penny-pinching wherever they could the municipal representatives still came up with a grant tab of $76,000.

Throughout the longest meeting in months ran an undercurrent of opinion differences which occasionally flared into open challenge.

The touchiest episode of the long afternoon came when it was suggested that Greater Victoria municipalities provide a reception for golfers scheduled to play here in the Commonwealth Golf Tournament in August.

Chairman Mayor Hugh Stephen said he felt the event, a major attraction for Centennial Year, should be supported.

But Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich balked at the idea of using public funds to assist men "well able to pay their own way."

'WELL OFF'

"I am not in favor at all," he said. "It (the golf event) is not deserving of public funds. These people are coming from great distances to participate so they must be fairly well off. I am not prepared to support a grant here, neither am I prepared to recommend support to my council."

Mayor Stephen retorted that he would be prepared to recommend the grant to Victoria council and, if needs be, also recommend that city taxpayers pick up the entire bill.

Reeve Curtis remained unmoved.

"In a city such as this where golf is enjoyed by so many people, I think they should be able to pay their own way," he replied.

Mayor Stephen said the reeve had made his point and that Saanich would be crossed off the support list.

Reeve Allan Cox of Oak Bay said he would take a recommendation to his council that the golfer-reception grant be supported, but he said he would do so with certain reservations.

GOOD POINT

"I would not like it to be thought that I do this with any intention of making Saanich look bad," he said. "They have a good point."

Reeve Ray Bryant of Esquimalt said he too would recommend to his council that the grant be supported.

Golfers were not the only group to feel the sharp edge of the cutting knife.

The Greater Victoria Art Gallery had its bid for $10,000 trimmed to $8,500, Bastion Theatre had its application for a similar amount chopped to $7,500 — but Victoria agreed to pick up the remaining $2,500 to keep the group in business.

Reeve Curtis led the Art Gallery-cut contingent.

"This is going to be one of the toughest years for us," he said. "As we go through these grant applications we should try to cut a thousand here and a thousand there to soften as much as we can the bad news that is coming for our taxpayers in a few weeks time."

On Bastion Theatre Reeve Cox said he was all in favor of the group.

"But I can't see that it is worth more dollar-wise than the Art Gallery," he said.

Thus the theme was set for the afternoon of the long knives.

The Maritime Museum ran into heavy going in its bid for $6,000, but came out of the fire with a $1,000 more than it asked.

But not at the expense of the intermunicipal group.

The city will put $4,000 in the Maritime pot and the intermunicipal committee will share another $3,000 to give the museum a total grant of $7,000 for the year.

In approving the grant several committees expressed keen disappointment that the federal government contributed nothing to the operation of the museum.

While the museum picked up $1,000 the Victoria Symphony trembled in its wood-winds as its request for a six cents per capita grant — or $10,000 — was hacked to $5,500.

At that the symphonic group fared better than the Armed Forces Centre seeking $1,200 in lieu of taxes. The committee rejected the request outright.

Following are other grants approved or rejected:

GRANTS

The Boy Scouts of Canada, $641 for relief of property taxes.

The Child Welfare League of America, $100 if their convention and workshop shows a deficit when it is held here this weekend.

The Girl Guides of Greater Victoria, $230 for relief of property taxes.

Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded, $350 in lieu of taxes — and over a protest by North Saanich Reeve James Cumming who said the organization served no useful purpose in his municipality.

Muscular Dystrophy Association, no grant amount specified but rejected anyway.

The Navy League, $735 ($1,400 asked) and a rider by the Community Welfare Council which prepared the grant recommendations, and Reeve Curtis, that Sea Cadets raise more funds by their own efforts.

Queen Alexandra Solarium, no amount specified but rejected because "it should be supported by government funds."

Red Lion Girls' Drum Corps, a request for $1,900 to send the girls to Expo 67 was rejected with the comment that the sponsor would benefit most from the publicity and should therefore foot the bill.

St. John Ambulance, a request for $2,550 in lieu of taxes, rejected with the suggestion that the $13,500 received from the Community Chest should be enough.

Goodwill Enterprises, $7,500 although the organization had asked for a grant in lieu of taxes which this year will total $13,200 or more.

Sara Spencer Foundation, $3,289 in lieu of taxes.

Victoria City Police Drill Team, no amount specified, rejected.

Victoria Order of Nurses, $8,560 from Victoria, $1,373 from Oak Bay and $1,683 from Esquimalt.

The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Association, $16,500. The organization had asked for $33,000 in lieu of taxes. The committee recommended that the "Y" raise its rates in an endeavor to more closely approach its operating costs.

Victoria Visitors' Bureau, $50,000 from Victoria, $3,000 from Saanich, $1,500 from Oak Bay and $300 from Esquimalt.

Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, $8,000.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce, $2,500 picked up by Victoria.

The Public Personnel Association, an international organization of public servants meeting here in October, $500. The provincial government is granting $3,000 to the organization, the City of Vancouver, which shares the convention with Victoria, is donating $2,000.

For the first time this year each grant application was accompanied by a short brief on the organization and a recommendation from the Community Welfare Council which vetted all applications.

"I think we should thank Mr. (Garth) Homer and Mr. (Brian) Tobin, for their efforts," said Reeve Curtis. "Their organization has done a fine job."

Both men were present for the discussion.

HEALTH REPORT

Illegitimate Births Up In City Area

Illegitimate births were up to 274 from 255 in Greater Victoria in 1966, according to the annual report of senior medical health officer.

Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread told the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Health Board Tuesday that "it was with some consternation that we note the gradual decrease in total live births together with an increase in illegitimate births," in the area.

Along with the increase in illegitimate births Dr. Whitbread reported a falling off in cases of syphilis but an increase in the incidence of gonorrhoea.

Syphilis cases fell to a low of 10 but gonorrhoea cases increased during 1966 from 130 the previous year to 212.

Dr. Whitbread said the increase was "significant and disturbing."

He stressed that "venereal disease is not a problem among our high school students."

Adam Powell Wins Easily In New Harlem Election

. . . what next?

NEW YORK (AP)—For the second time in four months, the House of Representatives faces the sticky problem of what to do with Adam Clayton Powell, who won a lopsided election victory in absentia in his Harlem constituency Tuesday.

While the congressman fished in waters off his Bimini island retreat, unofficial returns gave Powell 27,900 votes to 4,091 for Mrs. Lucille Pickett Williams, a Republican, and only 427 for the third candidate, Rev. Ervin F. Yearling, a Conservative.

The 22-year House veteran, who may be forced to come back as a freshman, lost only 11 of 214 election districts, and those were in a predominately-white corner of his 18th congressional district.

There was little surprise at the long-predicted outcome in Harlem, where community leaders have agreed that the House decision to exclude Powell from the 90th Congress March 1 was a racially-motivated slap which ignored Harlem's wishes.

With Powell rolling up his greatest margin in 13 elections, despite a turnout almost half that of last fall's 60,000 voters, House leaders appeared undecided on what to do.

Speaker John W. McCormack (Dem. Mass.) has told reporters no decision on procedure will be made until it is known what motions will be offered when Powell shows up.

There is still an appeal pending on a federal district court decision not to interfere with the House action, and Minority Leader Gerald Ford (Rep. Mich.), said Tuesday Powell may not present himself to take the oath of office until the case has been carried through the U.S. Supreme Court.

BAHAMAS GAMBLING PROBE

$1 Million Fee to Lawyer By Casino Owners Queried

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—A $1,000,000 fee is listed on casino books for Sir Stafford Sands, a lawyer and former minister of tourism and finance. A commission investigating gambling in this British colony wants to know what he did to earn it.

Sands is expected to accept an invitation to testify after he returns Saturday from Spain. He is reported recovering from a lung ailment.

Sands, 54, one of the leaders of the United Bahamanian party, is still a member of Parliament. He lost his ministry when the Negro-dominated Progressive Liberal party won control of the government in February.

Keith Gonsalves, president of Bahamas Amusements Ltd., which operates the three gambling casinos, told the commission Sands was paid $500,000 in April, 1964, and was promised $50,000 a year for 10 years—for Sands' advice in "advertising, publicity and promoting all phases of the development company."

He said the casino owners also donated $320,000 to the United Bahamian party when it was in power and funnelled the money through Sands as legal fees.

The licence for Monte Carlo Casino was issued in late 1963 by the executive council, a board including Sands.

Others who received fees as consultants, Gonsalves said, included Sir Roland Symonette, also a council member and prime minister in 1964-67, $16,800; Smonette's son, Robert, former speaker of the House, who got $14,000 a year "to promote sports"; Sir Etienne Dupuch, editor of the Nassau Tribune, $5,000 or $6,000 a year for two years to assist us with our public image"; Dr. Raymond Sawyer, a former council member, $5,600 a year for "advice on public health."

The commission also is investigating any link between casinos and American syndicated crime.

CHILD'S DEATH CHARGED TO MOTHER

BARNSTABLE, Mass. — A 30-year-old mother, who is a Christian Scientist, pleaded not guilty in superior court Tuesday to a manslaughter indictment which charged her with "failing to give sufficient medical care."

Dorothy Sheridan of Harwich was released without bail and the case continued to April, 24.

She was indicted in the March 18 death of her daughter, Lisa. No information was disclosed on the circumstances of the child's death.

Mrs. Sheridan's lawyer, Walter J. Skinner, said the case "raises deep and difficult questions." He termed the charge unusual since "it charges the death of the child to the mother.

CANADIAN UNIONS

Autonomy, Service Lack Blamed for Breakaways

By ROGER STONEBANKS

International unionism is rarely the issue involved in Canadian breakaway movements.

This is one of the points in a 55-page booklet — The Role of International Unionism in Canada — written by Dr. John Crispo, director of the Centre for Industrial Relations at the University of Toronto.

The Canadian-American Committee, sponsored by the National Planning Association in the U.S. and the Private Planning Association of Canada, financed Dr. Crispo's 2½-year study.

The booklet, made public today, summarizes a longer report, International Unionism: A Study in Canadian-American Relations, published by McGraw Hill, Toronto.

"When and if local unions in Canada become disenchanted with their international they may attempt to secede," writes Dr. Crispo.

"Recent examples include the Canadian Union of Operating Engineers (a breakaway group from the International Union of Operating Engineers) and the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada (a breakaway from the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers).

"Where such breakaways take place, international unionism as such is seldom the issue involved. More often than not it is lack of service.

"In other cases the secession may result from an international union's refusal to grant the Canadian membership more control over its own affairs."

Later in the booklet, Dr. Crispo discusses the internal trouble "Canadian members may seem to cause" to the American-based internationals.

"Some international union officials feel that their Canadian members are always complaining about lack of service of one kind or another or demanding more autonomy.

"In these situations the Canadians tend to be seen as troublemakers by the international administration."

MANY FACETS

The booklet covers many facets of international unionism, including an explanation of its presence in Canada, advantages and disadvantages and its future.

Dr. Crispo notes that the relationship between the Canadian and American labor movements has given rise to "considerable controversy" but there has been "surprisingly little" research.

"As a result, those with an axe to grind have been able to express themselves without fear of contradiction based on cold, hard facts."

Some of the points he makes include:

- International unions have been dominant in Canada since 1870 but they weren't her first — the Britons were;
- Three international unions, — "for peculiar historical reasons" — have developed separate and distinct constitutions for Canada. They are the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, Mine-Mill and the Seafarers' International Union;
- While some internationals have no Canadian representation on international executive boards, "the Canadian membership is often over-represented" at this level;
- Some internationals have set up "union within a union" situations in Canada, such as the United Steelworkers;
- Internationals "almost without exception" maintain separate Canadian bank accounts;
- Some internationals take in more money than they spend in Canada while others pay out more than they raise. It is difficult to generalize about the flow of funds "because of the paucity of definitive information available";
- International unions have brought "many benefits" to Canadians and have "provided the foundation for a viable trade union movement. This would doubtless have come in time anyway but it might have been delayed for decades and this would clearly have been to the detriment of Canadian workers."

Dr. Crispo says there is "a great deal of misunderstanding" of the power of international unions to call strikes and to veto settlements in Canada.

"While international unions are often empowered under their constitution to refuse to sanction strikes or provide strike assistance, there are only one or two cases where international unions are empowered constitutionally to order strike action.

"This does not mean that they cannot endeavor to persuade their members to go on strike in a particular situation but it does mean that they cannot force them to do so."

'FORCE A STRIKE'

But by the veto power on collective agreements, international unions "can virtually force a strike upon their Canadian membership.

"Only one international union, the International Typographical Union, appears to resort to this veto power very often and it has attracted much attention.

"In the protracted newspaper strike in Toronto, for example, there is no doubt that the international union used its constitutional power to force the continuation of a strike on an unwilling local membership.

"It has done this by threatening to expel any members voting to return to work, thus making it impossible for them to do so without forfeiting their rights under the union's generous pension plan.

Dr. Crispo says "it takes only one such case to give international unions in general a black eye in Canada.

"To avoid misinterpretation, therefore, one must stress that it is exceptional for an international union to be empowered to call a strike in Canada, either directly or indirectly and even more unusual for it to utilize such power.

"For the most part, international unions are more likely to urge restraint than to counsel strike action."

Discussing "the balance sheet of international unionism," he says:

- International unions continue their activity in Canada because they find it more advantageous than disadvantageous to their over-all interests;
- Employers tend to be neutral, or more positive than negative about internationals. The major reservation: the American wage parity issue;
- The average citizen "appears quite ignorant and apathetic" about internationals;
- There is "a great deal of apathy" about internationals among Canadian workers. "As long as their unions are doing a reasonably good job most workers do not seem to care whether they are national or international."

Dr. Crispo says it is "hazardous" to speculate on the future of international unionism.

8 CARD OF THANKS

Our sudden loss, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Thelma Massingham, has left an emptiness in our hearts that can never be wholly filled, but the many kind words and acts of sympathy from our relatives and friends have helped immeasurably. Many thanks to Rev. Venables and Sands Funeral Home.—Mr. F. R. Massingham and family.

9 IN MEMORIAM

FAIRCLOUGH—In loving memory or Mrs. A. Fairclough.

In my heart
your memory lingers, Always tender,
fond and true;
There's not a day,
dear mother,
I do not think of you.

—Sadly missed by her daughter, Miss I. M. Fairclough.

HINKSMAN — In loving remembrance of Frank C. Hinksman passed away April 11, 1962.
—Sadly missed by cousins Jane and Fay.

PEARCE—In loving memory of our mother, Ethel Pearce, who passed away April 12, 1965.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In the early days of contract, Mike Gottlieb of New York was one of the greatest if not THE greatest defensive player. He was also famous for some of his sayings. One was: "When both sides play the same suit, one must be crazy."

It is a good general rule to follow this principle when on defence. If declarer plays one suit, you should play another but just as you shouldn't always return your partner's lead, you should occasionally return your opponents.

South wasn't the least bit happy about his six-club contract. Somehow or other he felt that his partner might have insisted on playing diamonds.

On the other hand, South had nothing to gain by complaining and he started out to do the best he could with the tools at hand.

Opening lead—♥ K

He won the heart lead and played the queen, king and ace of spades in order to get rid of dummy's ten of hearts. He was pleased to see the jack drop from the West hand but he still had to attack diamonds.

He led a diamond and finessed dummy's queen. East was in with the king and led a heart to force dummy. South ruffed, led out four rounds of trumps and spread his hand.

There would have been no defence against the proper six-diamond contract but East could have beaten the club slam if he had thought to lead back a diamond when he got in with the king. Then, if South pulled trumps he wouldn't be able to get to dummy for the rest of the diamonds; if he did not pull trumps West's fourth trump would beat him.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

In the true tradition of show biz, the Oscar telecast went off smoothly complete with cliffhanger suspense.

There are a few areas which can be tightened up in future years, like not inviting Dean Martin back to make a presentation. He was casual all right, to the point of boorishness. A tasteless performance on his part.

Stephen

To offset it though, there was the emotional response of Patricia Neal to a standing ovation.

"I thank you. I'm sorry I've been away so long. It really is wonderful, wonderful, wonderful to be back with you all tonight."

But the real star of the night was Bob Hope. His one-liners on the AFTRA strike and the movie industry were choice.

On the strike:

"Welcome to the on-again, off-again, in-again, out-again 39th annual Academy Awards. What tension, what drama, what suspense. And that was just deciding whether the show was going on or not. I hope the teleprompter knows the strike is over. It could be the first two-hour commercially sponsored pause."

"The strike had one disaster. Johnny Carson quit and everyone was very sympathetic. Joey Bishop (ABC's new late night show emcee) flew into New York just to help him pack."

"The strike took a long time to settle because there was no one from the networks the union could talk to. They were all doing newscasts. It's very disconcerting to haggle with a network vice-president who's wearing makeup."

On the industry:

"How do you like the actors who got nominated? Alan Arkin, Michael Caine, George Segal. They haven't been in the business long enough to make Channel 13.

"This is the night of nights, the one night we forgive each other our trespasses and ban together to beat the English."

"I understand the British contingent had a little trouble getting in here tonight. George Raft is one of the ushers."

"A lot of good pictures were nominated. Alfie was a documentary which proves everything in England doesn't stop for tea."

"Anyway, we certainly learned a lot from pictures this year. Virginia Woolf was really a college education. Alfie was a master's degree, and Georgy Girl was certainly head of the liberal arts department. The next time I see Mr. Clean, I'm going to punch him right in the mouth."

Hope's quips and sallies saved the show. With the number of non-winners present, it wouldn't have been one.

Tailings Good for Lake? He Must Be Kidding!

CAMPBELL RIVER—A remark by Western Mines Ltd. manager Charles M. Campbell that mine tailings are beneficial to Buttle Lake today was termed "facetious".

Anthony Sarich, lawyer for Campbell River Water Board which is fighting the dumping of tailings through the courts, said:

"I think Mr. Campbell is being facetious. He talks on the one hand of the tailings improving the water and on the other of a full investigation being needed."

Mr. Campbell told a service club that the tailings added necessary minerals in the form of copper and zinc to the water.

In reply to this, University of Victoria biologist, Brian Case, said copper-laden tailings kill off insect larvae, eliminating an important element of the food chain for fish.

Of an earlier statement by B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault that the whole controversy is a case of misunderstanding and misinformation which could be settled out of court, Mr. Sarich said:

"I don't think Perrault's statement contributed anything. I've no idea why he would say that.

"Until he toured the mine last Friday he'd had nothing to do with the affair. I think he was just making a political statement."

Agreeing with Mr. Perrault was Western Mines president Harold M. Wright who said he hoped to call a meeting of all parties involved, including the provincial Pollution Control Board, within two weeks.

CLEAN-UP BEACHES CAMPAIGN IN FRANCE

MORLAIX, France (AP) — Soldiers and civilians today labored to remove hundreds of tons of oil washed up on the beaches of northern Brittany from the wreckage of the tanker Torrey Canyon.

But for each bit of oil removed, more seemed to be washed in by the tides. Even the elements seemed to be against the workers. The wind continued from the north, driving the oil toward land.

Troops joined firemen, fishermen, police and local residents at the beach of the village of Pont-Blanc.

Fire engine pumps forced the mass of oil into tank trucks. The trucks carried the oil to an abandoned quarry where it was dumped. Soldiers also used shovels to load the oil into plastic basins which were carried to the tank trucks.

George Gorse, minister of information, announced that the French cabinet has alotted $3,000,000 to begin the cleanup effort on the beaches and said more funds would be made available.

New patches of oil drifted in from the sea during the night and polluted additional beaches.

A net 2½ miles long, suspended from floats, was being stretched across the entry to the Bay of Morlaix in the hope this would stop oil from getting to the oyster beds in the area.

Eight naval ships as well as a number of fishing craft worked off shore to dump sawdust and detergents into the masses of floating oil.

Crown Presses Careless Driving Charge

A charge of driving while under the new 24-hour roadside suspension was withdrawn by the Crown in Central Court this morning, but a charge of careless driving against the driver was pressed.

Police report that Eugene Felter, 640 Cornwall, was involved in an accident at about 1:45 a.m. April 8 at Government and View.

He was taken to the police station and a 24-hour suspension imposed.

He was also charged with careless driving.

A few hours later he was seen driving on Collinson and was charged with driving while under suspension.

In court this morning, Crown pposecutor Peter Birkett said the suspension charge had been withdrawn because the circumstances did not warrant it.

Felter later appeared in traffic court and was fined $35 for careless driving.

Hangars Bought Chant Reports

Works Minister W. N. Chant today said the government bought two hangars at Patricia Bay Airport Tuesday afternoon for $150,000.

Together, they will provide more than 80,000 square feet of added floor space to the present government hangar used as maintenance depot for eight government aircraft. Earlier Tuesday he reported negotiations for the hangars were under way.

Free Food Stall In Urgent Need

The larder is empty at Victoria's Free Food Stall.

"We are urgently in need of contributions for our next free stall on Saturday, April 22," Mrs. Joan Price, convener, said today.

Donors should call Mrs. Evelyn Corbett at 479-3437 or Mrs. Price at 479-4870.

Hospital District Backed by Morton

NORTH COWICHAN — Reeve Donald Morton came out strongly Tuesday in favor of a regional hospital district embracing Duncan, Lake Cowichan and Ladysmith school districts.

"Hospital districts can easily be used for other functions by agreement of the member areas," he said.

"This is a positive approach to the regional area problem."

The mechanics of such a regional hospital district are being worked out by the provincial government.

Reeve Morton said that while in principle he supported total amalgamation of North Cowichan and the city of Duncan it could take years to bring about.

"A regional district could be working within a few months," he said.

Following failure to get city services extended, municipal water and sewer bylaws have been defeated in the past two years.

North Cowichan council has received petitions from south end residents who wish to secede and join the city.

Mayor Jack Dobson of Duncan said Monday he favors a regional district as the means of solving the general area's recreational facilities problem.

COURT ACTION

Champagne Key Word In Battle

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice W. R. Jackett Tuesday adjourned for 30 days proceedings in an Exchequer Court case in which the government of France is suing Chateau-Gai Wines Ltd. of Toronto over use of the word champagne as a trade mark in Canada.

He said he was allowing the 30 days so the French government could be notifed of the proceedings and have time to decide if it wants to send an official representative to future hearings.

The French ambassador to Canada has refused to accept the service of notice of motion regarding the case, claiming diplomatic immunity.

Harold Fox of Toronto, counsel for Chateau-Gai, quoted Canadian and international law Tuesday in an attempt to obtain a ruling that the French be made to appear.

However, Mr. Justice Jackett said this would put the court "in the embarrassing position of having to rule against a foreign power. It would be contrary to international and domestic law."

FRENCH CLAIM WORD

The French lay claim to the word champagne under the Trade Marks Act of 1933 and have the word registered in the Trade Marks Register in Ottawa.

Chateau-Gai, which makes two varieties of the wine and sells it under the title of Canadian champagne, wants the word struck out as a trademark.

Mr. Justice Jackett ruled that both parties should pay their own court costs.

The case is a prelude to one scheduled to go before Quebec Superior Court in Montreal Monday in which a group of French wine manufacturers are suing Chateau-Gai, also over the word champagne.

The action has been pending for three years and is being brought by the Institut National des Appellations d'Origine des Vins et Eaux-de-Vie and 15 companies in the Champagne region of France.

Damages of $5,000 each are being sought by the companies, and $20,000 by the institute.

'ADVISERS' BUT NO NAPALM

U.S. Aiding Bolivia To Crush Guerrillas

The following dispatch, by Murray Sayle of The Times of London, was distributed by The Associated Press, world rights reserved.

By MURRAY SAYLE

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—A positive confirmation that Castro-type guerrillas are operating in Bolivia has led to a swift but restrained U.S. response in La Paz.

U.S. Ambassador Douglas Henderson reported Monday to President Johnson that Communist guerrillas were in fact established in the Bolivian jungles and Tuesday five American Rangers arrived from the U.S. Latin American Command in Panama.

They are to open a jungle warfare and anti - subversion training school for the Bolivian army. American spokesmen estimate it will take six months to fully-train a Bolivian battalion for jungle fighting.

Shipments to Bolivia of weapons and equipment for use against guerrillas—notably field radio sets, small arms and helicopters — are being expedited and should arrive within a few days. Henderson has been pressing for these shipments for months.

LIMIT ARMS

The Americans are turning a very skeptical ear to Bolivian government requests for jet aircraft, tanks and napalm.

An American official said:

"We are not about to supply massive arms to a country which, after all, has some sort of territorial claim on its neighbors. . . . And we are certainly not going to supply the means for Bolivian army hotheads to start bombing and napalming villages or even suspected guerrilla jungle hideaways."

The Americans are scrupulously keeping out of the fighting and the search for the guerrillas, and six American military observers have been hastily withdrawn from the guerrilla zone. Even Peace Corps volunteers were withdrawn from the area of Bolivia south of Santa Cruz.

Clash in Andes Jungle Leaves Nine Troops Dead

LA PAZ (UPI)—Guerrillas killed nine Bolivian troops in a sharp new clash, the army announced Tuesday night.

A communique said at least four guerrillas were killed in the clash Monday which took place in the jungle-covered foothills of the Andes in southeast Bolivia.

The communique said the clash occurred north of Nancahuazu, where a large guerrilla encampment was discovered last month and where six soldiers and a civilian lost their lives in an earlier battle.

Existence of the guerrillas was revealed for the first time March 17 by acting forces chief of staff Gen. Jorge Belmonte. He said they may have been led by former Cuban guerrilla leader Ernesto ("Che") Guevara, who dropped out of sight in Havana two years ago.

More than 3,000 troops have been sent to the Nancahuazu area east southeast of Sucre to rout out the guerrillas. But the difficult terrain, much of it still unmapped, has slowed their advance.

DRIVER GROUNDED ONE YEAR

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — A driver who "annoyed" another driver to the extent that he ended up in a ditch was banned from driving for a year in magistrates' court here Tuesday.

Franklin Delano Ryan, 21, of Carlisle, Saskatchewan, was also fined $150 after pleading guilty to dangerous driving.

Court was told Ryan overtook Duke Kent-Brown of Port Alberni on a stretch of the Trans-Canada Highway eight miles south of Duncan late Saturday.

Ryan stayed in the left hand lane until a car came in the opposite direction.

He then pulled into the right lane forcing Kent-Brown into the ditch where he flipped over, seriously injuring passenger Roger Land, 20, of Port Alberni.

Land is still in fairly serious condition in Victoria's Royal Jubilee Hospital.

RCMP constable Ed Mantik said Ryan was stopped by a Colwood roadblock.

British Tanker Ripped by Bomb

SAIGON (Reuters)—Saboteurs today tried to blow up a British-registered oil tanker at Nha Trang, about 200 miles northeast of here, while Viet Cong guerrillas staged a mortar attack on a major U.S. marine base at Chu Lai.

A Shell Oil Co. spokesman said here an explosive charge fixed eight feet below the water line at the stern of the 12,273-ton Amastra ripped a hole six feet long and four feet wide in the hull.

Water flooded the engine and pump rooms of the vessel, but no casualties were reported among its mainly British crew, the spokesman said. The tanker owned by Tanker Finance Ltd., was discharging oil at the port when the explosion occurred.

A U.S. military spokesman said two U.S. Air Force men were killed and 45 other servicemen were wounded in a 20-minute shelling of the Chu Lai marine base, 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

Another U.S. military spokesman said the stern of the Amastra had settled on the harbor bottom in 60 feet of water.

He said the tanker had discharged most of its cargo when the explosion went off.

In other action, a Viet Cong platoon engaged by two companies of American air cavalrymen, killed six U.S. soldiers and wounded 14 in Quang Ngai province, 310 miles northeast of Saigon.

B-52 bombers made three raids on the province of Thua Thien adjoining the Laotian frontier, an area across which infiltration has been heavy.

Communist concentration points in Thua Thien have been the targets of six B-52 raids in the last two days.

A terror campaign continued Tuesday against South Vietnamese village officials. The weekly report said 56 civilians were slain by terrorists, including 16 local officials or defectors. In all, the Viet Cong killed, wounded or abducted 302 civilians last week. Those kidnapped included 19 candidates in village elections now taking place.

Soviet Aids Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (Reuters) — Russia gave five Mig-17 jet fighters and other war material to Cambodia Sunday as a contribution to this country's air defences. Prince Sihanouk, Cambodia's head of state, accepted the gift in a ceremony and pledged his country would never give way to inducements to co-operate with the United States.

PAIR PADDLING UPSTREAM IN SEARCH FOR SPONSOR

Nobody has actually said "go paddle your own canoe" to a couple of modern - day voyageurs but they certainly haven't had much encouragement so far.

Geoff Davis, 20, and Ken McRae, 21, University of Victoria students from Kimberley, plan to take a canoe to Ottawa as their Centennial project and they are looking for sponsors.

They have tried government offices and business firms and so far the answer has been, "We'll have to check with our superiors."

The students are still hoping that the "superiors" will reply favorably but even if they don't the trip will still be made.

"We'll go if we have to borrow money," said McRae.

They plan to take their 80-pound canoe the 4,000 miles via the Peace River at Hudson Hope, Lake Athabaska, Lake Winnipeg, Lake of the Woods and the Great Lakes.

They'll take dehydrated food and their rifles and shoot game en route.

June 4 is launching day and they expect to be in Montreal by September.

They'll stop off in Ottawa to present an invitation from Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes to Governor-General Michener to visit B.C.

The Kimberley students are comparatively late starters on a Centennial trek.

A group of canoeists has already left the mainland for the east. A Victoria man, Chris Price, is now passing through Alberta on roller skates en route to Expo.

Another skater, Clifton Shaw from Vancouver, is somewhere east of Hope and a parchment scroll is being carried from Victoria to Expo, pony express style, by horsemen across the country.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book tion a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Encyclopedia and of the second ques-

Jim Wins In First Attempt

A nine-year-old boy's first try at asking Andy a question won him a major prize today.

Jim Cooper, 5079 Wesley Road, was awarded a set of World Book Encyclopeida for a question on fossils. It is answered in the column below.

"I was certainly surprised to learn that I had won a prize," he said. "It just goes to show if you try, anything can happen."

Jim is in Grade 4 at Cordova Bay School. He is fond of drawing and making things.

"I like art, reading and writing best," he said. "I like reading scientific subjects — especially on satellites."

He also likes to study maring life.

His favorite sport is swimming. He can now swim the length of an average size pool and hopes soon to do better.

JIM COOPER . . . surprised

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Jim Cooper, age 9, of Victoria, for his question:

How old are the oldest fossils?

Fossils, of course, are the buried remains of plants and animals that lived ages ago. Most of us can spot a fossil bone or shell and maybe a fossilized trunk of petrified wood. Bur many other fossils have no special shapes. It takes a team of experts to spot the ones that are very old.

The experts tell us that the earth's first living things were small and very delicate. They had no bones or teeth and though they lived in the ancient seas, they had no shells. We do not see the fossil remains of these plants and animals in museums. We do not find them on field trips. If we did, chances are we would not recognize them as the remains of living plants and animals.

Every living plant and animal takes in nourishment and uses energy to grow and multiply. To do this, it must use certain chemicals in the world around it. As it lives, it changes the simple chemicals of the earth, the air and the water. Two of the earth's simple chemicals are hydrogen and carbon. Living plants change them into more complicated chemicals called hydrocarbons. When an expert finds buried materials that contain hydrocarbons, he suspects that they were created by ancient plants or animals.

A bed of coal does not look much like a tree. But the hydrocarbons and certain other chemicals it contains tell an expert that it is the fossil remains of an ancient forest. The chemicals in a bed of limestone tell him that the rock is the fossil remains of ancient shellfish. He detects chemicals made by living things in petroleum and in certain iron minerals. These chemicals are counted as fossils because they were made and left behind by living things of the past. Only living plants and animals could have created them from the simple chemicals of the earth.

Created by Algae

A team of fossil experts have probed a deep gold mine of South Africa. In March of this year, they reported the oldest fossil remains so far discovered. The ancient remains, of course, were chemicofossils, or chemical fossils. Tests seem to prove that they are traces left by living things of more than two billion years ago. The fossil finders suggest that these chemicofossils were created by teeming algae and bacteria that lived in an ancient sea. These traces are the oldest fossils so far found. They prove that living things existed 2.15 billion years ago. Future experts no doubt will find fossil remains that are even older than these.

YOUR HEALTH

Reasons For Lack Of 'Pep'

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

During my 25 years of working in the Mayo Clinic, I used to see hundreds of patients, whose main complaint was that they were often tired and exhausted. They said they had no "pep," and the least exertion made them feel worn out. Many women said they could hardly do their housework and feed their family, and they were unhappy because they were no longer getting any fun out of life.

Alvarez

Many a man or woman who worked in a store, or factory, or office, said it was hard to keep their job, and all said they went home too tired at night to think of going out for the evening. School teachers said that, with them, "it was a race between a nervous breakdown and the end of the school terms in December and May."

I found it hard enough to make a diagnosis in the cases of tired young people, and I found it even harder to make a satisfying diagnosis on the cases of tired old people. From the many letters that these weary people brought me from able physicians all over the U.S., men who had examined them, I saw that the tendency of the medical profession was to put such patients into a hospital and to let the resident order all the tests and X-ray studies he could think of. Occasionally, as when the patient complained of some abdominal discomfort, his abdomen was opened and explored surgically.

What was sad was that when all the examinations failed to show anything, the patient moved on to another consultant or clinic where all of the many tests were performed again.

One of the unfortunate results of this sort of thing was that many a well-meaning physician grasped at a straw, and ordered an operation for a perfectly "silent" and harmless gallstone, a silent hiatus hernia, a silent colonic diverticulum (little pouch), or a silent knobby womb. Naturally, this did not good.

What is sad is that in scores of cases, when I asked the patient how much time the head physician spent with him, he said, "Ten minutes," and that was unfortunate because, in many a case, a few minutes or a half-hour of tactful and kindly questioning would have given the correct diagnosis.

★ ★ ★

For instance, one question of a frail-looking young woman would have brought out the fact that she had always been frail and sickly and easily bowled over by any extra work or strain. In dozens of cases of college students who got very tired in their junior year, I would soon learn that they had lost interest in their major subject. Typical was the misery and fatigue of the seminary student who had lost his faith, and no longer wanted to be a minister or a priest.

FOR HOSPITALS

Power Assured By Strikers

TRAIL (CP) — Electrical workers of the West Kootenay Power & Light Co., that supplies power to 50,000 residents of south-central British Columbia, went on strike Tuesday night.

But the walkout failed by 223 workers to plunge a sizeable portion of the province into darkness as supervisory personnel immediately took over.

They took over operation of generating plants on the Kootenay River and near the mining community of Trail. They will try and keep the plants operating for the duration of the strike, a company spokesman said.

The company's customers are spread over an area of 12,000 square miles of hilly ranching, mining, lumbering and fruit-farming country.

Its biggest single customer, is also its parent company, Comico Ltd., at Trail, site of a large lead-copper-zinc smelting operation.

NO INTERRUPTION

Cominco, which employes 3,500 workers, doesn't expect any interruption of work because of the electrical strike, but a special membership meeting of mine workers was scheduled to discuss the issue.

Reg Robinson, president of the striking Local 999 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, has assured emergency service. He said instances where hospitals, police or fire services were without electricity, strikers would repair the breakdowns or reinstate service.

The strike threat existed for several days after negotiations, designed to bring parity in wages with the government-owned B.C. Hydro and Power Authority wages broke down.

MORE MEETINGS

Six hours after the workers announced Monday night that they planned to walk out, a meeting of union and company representatives was held.

Results were not disclosed but a series of further meetings was planned to try and resolve the dispute during the night and early today.

The mine, mill union issued a bulletin to its members to report for work as susal at the Cominco smelter operation at Trail.

Mr. Robinson said his electrical workers have a 24-hour watch on emergency calls.

Miners at Cominco's Bluebell mine in Riondel on Kootenay Lake expressed concern about the reliability of power.

Electrically-operated pumps keep the mine from flooding, and diesel generators provide a 24-hour standby service.

MINK COAT RETURNED

A mink coat, taken from a city restaurant while the owner and her husband were dining Friday night, was returned by mail Monday.

Owner of the $700 garment, Mrs. Jack Zabel of 2051 Avondale, said the parcel was crudely wrapped and there was no covering note.

Mail Slot Peeper Fined $25

A man caught peeping through the mail slot of a Fort Street apartment was fined $25 for loitering when he appeared in central court Tuesday.

Loren Elliott, 1670 Fort, had pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Court was told an apartment resident had been disturbed by a noise as he lay reading in bed. He waited with lights out beside the door until the letter slot moved again, then yanked the door open and recognized the accused straightening up beside the door.

The view through the letter slot showed the bedroom and part of the bathroom, a witness testified.

Fined for careless driving when they appeared in traffic court were Arnold Story, 1225 Juno, $40, and Donalda Sykes, 879 Esquimalt Rd., $35.

THIRD OFFENCE

Impaired Driver Jailed 30 Days

A man convicted of impaired driving for the third time in two years was jailed for 30 days on Monday.

Ernest Stevens, 2721 Quadra, had pleaded not guilty to the charge. Police found him sitting in his car with the motor running at Beacon Hill Park March 18.

He admitted drinking beer that night but told the court he was not impaired.

When city police stopped a car on Gorge Road the same night they saw the driver hurriedly change places with his front-seat passenger.

Kenneth Rhodes, 29, of 1660 Island Highway, the man who ended up behind the wheel, was fined $150 for having care and control of an auto while impaired.

A friend who had been driving switched places because he did not have a driver's licence, court was told.

Magistrate Byers said the fine would be only $150 under the circumstances.

Fined for impaired driving in other cases:

Henry White of 2127 Vancouver, after his car was seen weaving on Market Street Sunday evening, fined $350.

Willaim Scharff of Edmonton, after police reported his car crossed the centre line 12 times as he drove along the Island Highway Sunday, fined $300.

Morrison Boyd of 314 Stewart after he was checked by officers in the parking lot behind the Government Street liquor store Saturday, fined $300.

James Preus, 45 South Turner, had his case remanded a week for sentence when he pleaded guilty to theft.

He tried to take records worth $32.50 from a Douglas Street drug store Saturday without paying for them. Preus admitted to a theft conviction four months ago.

CRASH VICTIM BETTER, THREE REMAIN 'POOR'

Only one of four weekend car accident victims is showing signs of improvement in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mabel Elizabeth Waterman, 4606 Rocky Point Road, who suffered multiple injuries in a head-on collision on the Old Island Highway Saturday, is in "fair" condition. On Tuesday her condition was poor.

Driver of the other car, Robert Switzer, of 656 Gorge Road East, is still in poor condition with head and leg injuries.

Also in poor condition are Walter Jatkowski of 2404 Cook, and Victor Martin, of 730 Russell, who were occupants of a van which collided with a car on the Trans-Canada Highway at Millstream, on Sunday.

Jatkowski sluffered head injuries and Martin sustained injuries to his back.

Trucks Rolling Again As 3-Year Pact Signed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's major truckers and the Teamsters' Union reached tentative agreement today on a new nationwide contract. Within hours, trucks idled for three days by a lockout were rolling across the United States again.

Agreement of a three-year contract between the teamsters and Trucking Employers Inc. (TEI) came in the early morning hours after a marathon bargaining session.

TEI ordered all 1,200 of the trucking companies it represents back into normal service as quickly as possible.

By 10 a.m. EST, M. C. Benton, executive vice-president of McLean Trucking Co., and the mayor of Winston-Salem, N.C., said:

"Everything's rolling. We're weighing them in and the units are rolling out of here on the average of one a minute."

NORMAL BY THURSDAY

Resumption of service was not as fast everywhere, but spokesmen indicated the industry would be mostly back to normal by Thursday.

In some Texas terminals, the major holdup to getting the big diesels on the road again was unloading the freight on trucks that had been sitting idle since the truckers began the lockout Sunday.

The shutdown had stalled truck service from San Francisco to Boston, and when the end of the dispute came, the impact was being felt both by manufacturers facing parts shortages and stores whose shelves were being emptied.

REDS BUSY PREPARING FOR FLIGHT TO MOON

GAGARIN

MOSCOW (UPI) — Pioneer spaceman Yuri Gagarin told a Kremlin rally tonight Soviet cosmonauts are busy preparing for flights to the moon and the planets. He gave no timetable for a manned flight, believed imminent.

Gagarin spoke at the Kremlin rally on the sixth anniversary of his one-orbit space flight April 12, 1961.

"We cosmonauts are very busy training and studying and getting ready for new launchings," he said.

"The program of new space explorations which we are working on is very complicated and interesting. It provides for the sending of the expeditions to the moon and the planets."

Military Aid Ends To India, Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—The United States is going to close down its military assistance and advisory group in Pakistan and will phase out the U.S. military supply mission in India, both by July 1, the U.S. embassy in Rawalpindi announced today.

A Pakistani government spokesman said the announcement ended uncertainty about U.S. military aid, which was suspended in 1965 during the Kashmir border war between Pakistan and India. Pakistan may have to look to other sources for aid in its defence needs, he added.

Pakistan has received more than $1,400,000,000 in U.S. military aid since 1951. The warm U.S.-Pakistani relations cooled off abruptly when the U.S. provided military aid to help India fight its border war with China in 1962. Pakistan turned increasingly for planes, tanks and other equipment to China and the Soviet Union.

India has received about $200,000,000 in U.S. military aid since the 1962 fighting. India gets most of its arms from Britain and has also bought Soviet MiGs, helicopters and light tanks.

EVEN TRIED STRANGLING HER

A Bloody Failure In Mistress Blow-Up

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Clement McCoy, a post office technician, was a failure when it came to killing his mistress.

He tried strangulation, stabbing and even blowing her up with gelignite, a nitro-glycerine explosive.

But Beverley June Pressley, 26, escaped with a broken leg and several knife wounds, a court here was told today.

McCoy, 39, who admitted maliciously wounding her with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, was jailed eight years.

Police said he first tried to strangle Mrs. Pressley, then stabbed her five times in the chest and stomach with a pocket knife.

When this failed he tied her to a bed, bought two sticks of gelignite, fuses and detonators and tried to blow her up and commit suicide at the same time. When the gelignite exploded, Mrs. Pressley was knocked to the floor and broke a leg. McCoy was unhurt.

Court Defied By Troupers

CALGARY (CP)—Three members of the San Francisco Mime Troupe notified a magistrate today they won't come to Canada to face drug charges because they have "no confidence" in Canadian justice.

Two of the men, Ronald Guy Davis, 33, and Ronald Jerome Stallings, 20, failed to appear on marijuana possession charges today and warrants were issued for their arrest if they enter Canada.

GOLD BARS

Second Shipment Missing

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Dutch security officials today were investigating the disappearance of gold worth 100,000 guilders, ($30,000) from a KLM Royal Dutch Airlines plane.

This is the airlines' second missing gold shipment in a week.

An airline spokesman said a box of gold disappeared Sunday on a KLM flight from New York to the tiny island of Aruba, in The Netherlands Leeward Islands.

The spokesman said two boxes, each weighing 60 pounds, were loaded on the plane, but when it arrived at the island one was missing.

On April 7, four gold bars valued at $38,500 were reported missing from a KLM plane at London's Heathrow Airport. The spokesman said that there had been no further developments in this case, but the investigation was continuing.

Harmac Mill May Be Idled Over Suspension of Men

Thirteen workers at the huge Harmac pulp mill near Nanaimo may lose their jobs Tuesday — 13 days before the Canadian pulp union applies for bargaining rights.

The result may bring the mill, which employs almost 1,000 persons, to a standstill.

MacMillan Bloedel announced late Tuesday it will suspend from employment 13 workers who have failed to pay dues to the certified union — unless they reinstate themselves with the union.

The action was requested by Local 695, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, under the union security clause providing for compulsory union membership as a condition of employment.

On May 1, another union — Local 8 of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada — will apply to the Labour Relations Board for certification as bargaining agent.

A company spokesman said today the 13 men have been advised but there has been no reply. But an international spokesman said "four or five" of the 13 have joined the union.

"We do not want to discharge or suspend employees as the international union has requested, nor do we want to see the mill down with consequent loss of employment or produc-

'DREADFUL HIDEOUT FOR DEVILS, DEMONS'

NEW YORK (AP)—One of China's outstanding violinists and composers said Wednesday he fled his homeland to escape confinement in a "dreadful hideout for devils and demons," and feared for his life in the sweeping terrorism of the Red Guards.

Ma Sitson, or Su-tsung, 54, who was president of the Central Academy of Music and vice-president of the Union of Chinese Musicians in Peking, fled China last December and has been living secretly in New York with his family.

SUMMIT STARTS SLOWLY

Latins Lament Waste of Time

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI)—The summit meeting of President Johnson and other American presidents, a year in the making, got under way today. The accent seemed to be on low-key diplomacy.

Johnson and 18 other hemisphere leaders breezed through anan informal morning meeting that started a half-hour earlier than scheduled and concluded an hour earlier than programmed. Then they went to a lunch at the golf club as guests of Uruguayan president Oscar D. Gestido.

Some of the Latin American presidents expressed unhappiness over what they termed the loss of a half-day's deliberations in the scheduled three-day summit aimed at solving the continent's old problem of poverty.

Delegates get into the major substance of their talks—aimed at providing the economic tools to end poverty in their area of the world—in a round of 10-minute speeches starting this evening.

SPEAKS THURSDAY

Johnson does not plan to speak until Thursday.

Severe security measures prevailed at the San Rafael Hotel conference site.

The government leaders in their motorcycle escorted limousines rolled up to the hotel past police and national guardsmen sealing it off from the outside, and then were ushered through a corridor of silver-helmeted troops to their meeting hall.

Syrians, Israelis Trade Bullets

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Syrian army reported fighting on the Syrian-Israeli frontier today for the second day in succession and claimed three Israeli soldiers were killed and two were wounded.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli army spokesman said only one Israeli farmer was wounded when Syrians and Israelis exchanged fire across the border.

A Syrian army communique said an Israeli patrol crossed the armistice line shortly before noon in the northern sector of the frontier and was intercepted by a Syrian patrol about 210 yards inside Syrian territory.

A spokesman said there were no Syrian casualties.

The Israeli spokesman, in giving a different version, said the clash took place near the village of Gonen in the Huleg Valley, north of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said a Syrian post had opened light arms fire when a party of farmers from Gonen went out to check the wire fence on their pasture.

An Israeli escorting unit returned the fire, he said.

Soviet Getting NATO Secrets?

OSLO (Reuters)—Security police announced today they have uncovered a spy-ring operating in northern Norway, a strategically-important NATO area since the end of the Second World War.

They said the ring was suspected of working for the Soviet Union and that three persons have been arrested. Two of them have "partially confessed," police added.

The statement said the espionage affair dated back to the Second World War when some Norwegian citizens in foreign countries were educated as radio operators.

"On returning home following the liberation of Norway they continued their activities.

"They have been assigned to provide and transmit information on military situations, mainly in north Norway.

"At the present time there are no indications that military personnel are involved."

SEPARATE PROBES

Investigations were going on in different parts of Norway, the statement said.

The two men said to have "partly confessed" were identified by Norwegian newspapers as Haldor Lindval, 50, and Selmer Ingebret Nielsen, 34.

The third, Edmund Nielsen, 51, was arrested in Kristinehamn, Sweden. Police said today he was being interrogated in Oslo.

The first two arrests were announced last Saturday and the third confirmed today. The three men had been remanded in custody.

The main base for the alleged spy ring was the small deserted fishing village of Bajfjord, near North Cape, Norwegian press reports said.

FISHING VILLAGE

Police using helicopters and seaplanes Tuesday brought Lindval and Selmer Nielsen separately to a spot where it was believed the ring had hidden a radio transmitter, the reports said.

The Oslo newspaper, Aftenposten, says one of the espionage targets might have been the big Swedish arms factory Bofors. It says several large Swedish industrial combines are situated in district of Vaermland bordering Norway.

MITCHELL
. . . slashed arms

Execution Carried Out

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—Aaron Mitchell, convicted slayer of a Sacramento policeman, died today in San Quentin prison's apple-green gas chamber. The execution was the first in California in more than four years and the first in the U.S. in 1967.

The 37-year-old Negro went to his death while opponents of capital punishment protested in front of the prison where many had maintained a night-long vigil.

It was the first major protest at the grey-walled prison since Caryl Chessman, a convicted kidnapper and rapist turned author, lost his 12-year battle to escape the gas chamber in 1960.

Mitchell Tuesday slashed his arm with a razor blade after giving his tearful mother a hand-written appeal for a reprieve, which was rejected by a federal judge.

With Mitchell's death, San Quentin's death row still held 60 convicts.

About 50 students were arrested following the turbulent on-again, off-again demonstration. No injuries were reported.

THAT'S JANE

Something In the Middle

LONDON (UPI)—Hollywood's Jayne Mansfield (44-26-38) created a sensation today by going to the House of Commons in a miniskirt with a plunging top.

Members of Parliament, who hardly give the leading ministers of the land a second glance, stared upwards when Miss Mansfield entered the gallery running around the chamber and sat in the seat normally occupied by Mary Wilson, the prime mininster's wife.

A buzz of conversation ran through the members. It was so loud that the speaker, Dr. Horace King, had to call for order so that Defence Minister Denis Healey could be heard answering questions.

Blonde Miss Mansfield in her cream and black dress, was taken into the gallery by Opposition Conservative member Timonthy Kitson. She appeared to listen closely to the parliamentary questions and left during a speech by a leading opposition member, Ian Macleod, on the budget announced Tuesday.

Miss Mansfield came to England March 24 for eight weeks of club appearances but the firm which brought her over teminated her contract after only two weeks. The firm charged she had arrived late for several engagements, did not keep time with the music, and had appeared for performances in her street clothes because she had not brought stage dress.

Her lawyer, Sam Brodie said the charges were "untrue, comical, ludicrous and diabolical."

Miss Mansfield said she was signing a new contract to appear at a northern England club for a week at the beginning of May and hoped to do other cabaret appearances.

GUILTY OF TAKING CHARTS

State Safety Not at Stake

OTTAWA (CP) — Bower Featherstone was found guilty Tuesday of one charge under the Official Secrets Act, and acquitted on a second charge.

The jury of 11 men and one woman found the 28-year-old government lithographer guilty of a charge of obtaining two copies of a confidential navy chart that might be useful to Soviet submarines.

He was found not guilty of retaining the two charts for a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the state between Feb. 13 and Oct. 25 last year.

Judge Peter Macdonald remanded Featherstone in custody until April 24 at 10 a.m. for sentencing. The conviction carries a maximum penalty of 14 years in prison.

The jury returned to the Carleton County courtroom at 4 p.m. after deliberating for three hours and 10 minutes at the end of a six-day trial.

The judge told the jury that in his opinion they had reached the proper conclusion.

The jury earlier interrupted deliberation after an hour and 40 minutes to ask Judge Macdonald to clarify the section of the Official Secrets Act referring to "a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the state."

The judge said the act puts the onus on the accused to show that he had an innocent purpose if and when he kept a secret government document.

ONUS REVERSED

He said that the normal onus on the Crown to prove an offence is reversed in the Official Secrets Act in connection with the purpose of the accused.

There was no obligation for the Crown to prove that Featherstone acted with an illegal purpose when he retained two copies of a confidential navy chart printed in the mapping branch of the energy department where he was employed.

The jury foreman said this was the point that confused the jurors.

The Official Secrets Act was passed after the outbreak of the Second World War in 1939 to protect the federal government against espionage. Each conviction under the act carries a maximum penalty of 14 years in prison.

Zeballos Strike Ends

ZEBALLOS (CP)—A strike by 90 workers at the Zeballos Iron Mine on the west coast of Vancouver Island ended today after the Labor Relations Board issued an ultimatum to the workers.

The board said it would not consider a bid by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers to become bargaining agent unless the miners returned to work. The workers now are represented by the Tunnel and Rock Workers, the Teamsters and the Operating Engineers.

The men struck Sunday when the company refused to establish a committee to investigate four underground accidents at the mine.

Officials at the mine said today all but seven of the workers are back on the job.

tion," MacMillan Bloedel said.

Orville Braaten of Vancouver, president of the Canadian union, said there can be "no doubt" the international wants "to initiate a work stoppage at the Harmac pulp mill.

INJUNCTION

"Should closure of the mill take place an uncontrollable situation could easily develop."

Gordon Wickham, president of the Canadian union's Local 8 at Harmac, said a move is being considered to get an injunction against MacMillan Bloedel to stop any suspensions.

"The international would like to see the mill shut down to thwart our certification application," he said.

An internaitonal union spokesman in Vancouver called the comments of the Canadian union "pure poppycock."

"On the one hand, the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada did not hesitate to shut Prince Rupert (mill) for 34 days in an illegal strike last year," he said.

"Nor did they hesitate to use the union security clause to dismiss an employee at a converting plant who refused to join their union."

SECURITY ATTACKED

He said "no amount of hysterical flag waving" can disguise the fact they are attacking the union security provision of the contract.

"This goes to the heart of trade unionism. We are not going to abandon our position."

MacMillan Bloedel said in its statement:

"We take this step with regret effective next Tuesday since it is wholly the result of a union jurisdictional dispute which is totally beyond the control of the company.

"The company is caught in an onerous position through no fault of its own but solely due to rivalry between two unions. The company's only intent in this whole inter-union dispute is to live up to its contract with the union that has jurisdiction."

In the meantime the company was asking the labor department to determine whether the men must be suspended under the contract.

CONFUSION

Mr. Braaten said "it appears almost certain" the international union is prepared to cause "chaos and confusion throughout the province in the hopes of stopping the growth of the Canadian union.

"All union members and the general public should be fully aware the international has less than 100 supporters out of the 950-man work force at Harmac.

"The Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada continue to have the backing of all the rest.

"Union security is not the issue. The issue is the right of men to democratically change unions.

"The solution is simple—give the vote the men have been asking for since May of last year. The government should act now."

A mill spokesman confirmed this morning the international union only asked for suspension of the 13 workers and not others who are not paying dues to this union.

Union shop clauses are common in contracts between companies and unions. They provide for compulsory union membership as a condition of employement.

The employer may hire who he likes, but the person must join the union within a short period after starting work. It is different from the closed shop, where only union members may be hired in the first place.

JOKESTER AT EVERY WEDDING

Prisoner of Love Just on Honeymoon

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Service station attendant Edward Facundus read the note that had been tucked in the gasoline cap of a car he had serviced a moment earlier.

"Help, I'm being kidnapped and forced to pose as his wife," it read. "Call the police."

Facundus did, and law enforcement officers throughout California quickly were alerted to watch for a red Chevrolet carrying a man and woman. The bulletin warned the man might be armed.

About 30 minutes later, near the coastal community of Gaviota, California highway patrolmen Paul Whiting and Frank Loper halted the car Monday and ordered the driver out at gunpoint.

"What's this all about?" asked bewildered Arthur Baker, 35, of Rialto, Calif. "Why are you doing this? Why the gun?"

As Loper explained about the note, Whiting asked the woman, "Are you all right?" Did he harm you, ma'am?"

The startled woman quickly produced a marriage licence which verified that Baker and she had indeed been married.

"We were married Sunday," the former Susan Marie Cosentino, 27, told the officers. "We're on our honeymoon."

The officers decided a friend placed the note in the gas cap as a practical joke.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A weather system lying across central B.C. from the southwest is giving rain and snow in the Cariboo and rain to the south coast. The disturbance will be accompanied by scattered showers as it moves across southern B.C. later today. Cold Pacific air flowing in behind the system will bring a turn to colder unsettled weather to the province for the next few days.

ALGERIAN AIRLINER

Oasis Crash Kills 35

ALGIERS (CP) — Thirty-five persons aboard an Algerian Airways DC-4 airliner were killed Tuesday when the plane crashed near an oasis in southern Algeria, the transport ministry announced. There were four survivors.

Official sources [illegible] passengers included 18 Swiss tourists and at least o[illegible] man. Three of the six crew members were French.

The Swiss embassy said 16 of the Swiss tourists were killed and the other two injured.

One report [illegible] engined aircraft, on a rou[illegible] weekly flight, crashed into a mountain while attempting to land at the remote desert oasis and military post of Tamanrasset, about 1,000 miles south of Algiers.

Reports said three of the survivors were severely injured.

THREATENS TO SUE TORY

Hellyer Has Rough Time During Debate

By DENNIS ORCHARD

GROOS
. . . conservative

OTTAWA (CP)—The debate on armed forces unification hit another rough phase in the Commons Tuesday, sprinkled with the words "deception" and "lie" and even a threat of legal action by Defence Minister Hellyer.

Mr. Hellyer said he will take Terry Nugent (PC—Edmonton-Strathcona) to court if Mr. Nugent repeats outside the Commons a charge he made in the House Tuesday night.

Mr. Nugent had expressed admiration for what he called Mr. Hellyer's skill in using "the big lie" technique developed by Adolf Hitler. The defence minister said if the same thing were said outside the Commons where there is no immunity from legal action, "I'll have him prove it in a court of law."

Mr. Nugent said he would repeat the statement in a speech tonight at St. Anne, Man., just outside Winnipeg.

Other remarks Tuesday had almost the same bite. It was the seventh day of clause-by-clause debate on a government bill to transform the armed forces into a one-uniform, common-rank single service. The Commons remains stuck on the first of 65 clauses.

At one point in an hour-long, wide-ranging attack, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said of Mr. Hellyer:

"The minister withheld information, he did not give a true picture, and he tampered with the evidence of witnesses before it was given to the Commons defence committee."

Mr. Hellyer hit back, saying Mr. Diefenbaker had not given a single example of the alleged deception of Parliament.

"Where is his sense of British justice?" asked Mr. Hellyer.

"Where is his regard for the Bill of Rights?"

Mr. Hellyer said both he and External Affairs Minister Martin have denied that government policy is to restrict Canada's armed forces to a United Nations peacekeeping role.

"Yet the leader of the Opposition repeats the lie as his followers have on numerous occasions during the course of this debate."

The defence minister compared his program for the armed services to the birth cycle. Integration and unification are like conception and childbirth—all part of the same natural phenomenon, he said.

"Once you start integration and proceed to the extent that we have, to the extent we intend to proceed . . . you lead to unification."

Mr. Hellyer had a reply ready for Conservative MPs who have read into Hansard scores of anti-unification quotes from testimony of retired officers before the Commons defence committee.

He said these officers, as chiefs of staff, had to protect the vested interests of their service—guarding its traditions and rank structure and making sure of a fair share of appointments and military expenditures.

"I believe if you were to select anyone in the whole world you could not find anyone who would be more biased in respect of military unification," he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Liberals are 'hell-bent" on pushing through unification so that Mr. Hellyer can attend Expo with 400 green-apparelled men. The maple leaf flag had been brought in by closure and the government intended to use the same method with unification.

SAVINGS NOT SHOWN

Mr. Hellyer had stated he would save 'millions and millions." But the defence budget this year was up by $115,000,000.

"You cannot deceive Parliament," he said.

Creditiste Leader Caouette said his party supports unification because it would save money for use in supporting domestic agriculture and promoting peace by supplying food and technicians to other countries.

NAVY

Always Against Changes

OTTAWA (CP) — Victoria Liberal MP David Groos, a former naval captain, Tuesday derided the "overly conservative" attitude of some naval officers.

He said in the Commons defence debate that "you should have heard the uproar when sailors were allowed to mix a cola with their tot of rum."

Even Amiral Horatio Nelson would have liked the mix because he was a very progressive admiral.

Mr. Groos said many naval officers refused to wear the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal in 1941 because it was different.

There had been "great hostility" when Canada shoulder flashes were introduced and many officers refused to put them on for many months.

During the Second World War, the painting of maple leafs on the funnels of Canadian warships had spread like wildfire.

But orders had come down to take them off.

The maple leafs used to be painted secretly on funnels at night and painted out by order in the daytime, Mr. Groos said.

Not until the war was over did the maple leaf become official on funnels.

Mr. Groos, former chairman of the Commons defence committee, said Parliament is creating a morale problem in the forces by talking so long about unification.

The "deadly pall of uncertainty" hanging over the forces should be removed. The services should be allowed to get on with their own route and timetable toward unification.

Mr. Groos said he is so strongly in favor of the bill he would return to the navy willingly tomorrow.

U.S. Copyright Laws Get First Overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives approved Tuesday by a roll-call vote of 379 to 29 the first general overhaul of U.S. copyright laws since 1909.

The measure now goes to the Senate, with final action expected later this year.

The Senate heard singer Julie London demonstrate Tuesday her contention that the new copyright law should provide long-term record royalties for performers as well as composers.

The vehicle for Miss London's demonstration of song styling was the theme song of television's Mickey Mouse Club. She played a recording of that marching song for children, then one of her own which transformed the song into a sad ballad.

The copyright bill extends coverage time for authors, playwrights, composers and lyricists and takes into account technological advances since 1909. For example, it provides copyright coverage for material fed into computers and stored there.

The existing law permits a maximum coverage of 56 years, while the new bill extends this to a period covering the author's lifetime plus 50 years, starting in 1969. Copyrights now in existence would be extended to a maximum 75 years.

Alberta Legislature Ends Without Expected Vote Call

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta legislature prorogued Tuesday without the widely-predicted election call.

Premier E. C. Manning has given no hint of a possible election date, although it had been speculated that he would dissolve the house at the same time it was prorogued. He need not call an election until June, 1968, although an election as early as June is still possible.

Since coming to office in 1935, the Social Credit government has established a pattern of elections every four years.

Standing in the 63-seat house is Social Credit 58, Liberal three, Coalition one and NDP one. Redistribution will add one seat each in Edmonton and Calgary for the next election.

The most spectacular debates of session revolved around Garth Turcott (NDP — Pincher Creek - Crowsnest) and his charges that Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke and former provincial treasurer E. W. Hinman used or attempted to use their cabinet posts for personal gain.

PASSED LEGISLATION

But the house also passed several important pieces of legislation. Among them:

1. A bill providing for a rebate of 75 per cent of the federal state tax to Alberta estates;

2. A new Trust Companies Act, providing for tighter control and inspection of trust companies;

3. A bill providing for a new Alberta health plan with improved benefits and premium subsidies to persons with low incomes;

4. A rewritten and expanded Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act;

5. A bill establishing a human resources development authority.

Floods Hit Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — About 20,000 people have been left homeless by steady rains in the interior of northeastern Brazil, reports reaching here Tuesday said. Reports from capitals in a five-state region told of roads and railroads cut by flash flooding and crops destroyed by some overflowing rivers.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — Badly needed rain fell over the drought-scarred southwestern U.S. today, setting off an eight-cent decline in wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Liquidation by longs was at a furious pace which one knowledgeable trader termed "like a race after rabbits."

The decline in wheat prices had a strong effect on all other grains.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices showed irregularity on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today following recessions in U.S. commodities, particularly wheat and rye.

Declines in the Chicago market were in response to the widespread rains received by dry winter wheat areas in the U.S.

Some Winnipeg commodities resisted the declines with flax showing firmness due to light offerings and overseas support. Trade reports indicated 1,500 tons of flax were sold to the continent and 1,000 tons to Britain.

Rapeseed prices were easier but there were indications of some export business being conducted.

Oats and barley prices were steady and trade reports indicated 4,000 tons of barley were sold to Britain.

Rye prices were easier following declines in Chicago.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and Domestic wheat were all up ⅛.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Drop Continues

Lack of blue chip leadership continued to plague the Toronto stock exchange as prices declined for the fourth straight session today. Volume was also sluggish.

The New York market was mixed in moderate trading.

AT TORONTO, Famous Players and Dominion Textile fell 1 each to 36½ and 26 and Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 23⅝. Supertest added 1¼ at 26½ and Beaver Lumber and Thomson Newspapers 1 each at 41 and 25¼.

Western oils tumbled after being sharply up in earlier activity. Dome dropped 1½ to 54¾, Banff ⅞ to 14⅛ and Central-Del Rio ¼ to 10⅞. Canadian Superior moved up 1⅛ to 36⅛.

Among base metals, Preston rose 1⅛ to 16⅝ and Falconbridge and Pine Point ⅞ to 87¾ and 52⅞.

AT NEW YORK the average was dragged down by fractional losses of such stocks as Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Alcoa, American Cyanamid and Standard Oil New Jersey.

Among Canadian stocks Dome Mines and Walker Gooderham were up ¼, Canadian Pacific ⅛. Granby Mining was down ¾, International Nickel ⅜, Alcan ¼.

AT MONTREAL the market remained uncertain of direction and as a result most sections were mixed in light trading today.

CPR, Canada Cement and Molson A all advanced ½ point to 68½, 42 and 24½ respectively among the industrials. Dominion Textile eased ⅝ to 26 and Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 23⅝.

Among the utilities B.C. Telephone added ½ to 67, while Interprovincial Pipe Line lost ¼ to 100¾.

AT LONDON British funds advanced strongly on the stock market today following the chancellor of the exchequer's reference to his hopes of "continuing strength" in the market.

Equities eased after an uncertain opening. A feature was provided by gold shares which were in demand following the U.S. treasury denial of gold policy change—regarded as open to doubt in some quarters—and interest was further stimulated by a heavy demand for the metal in London.

Dollar stocks were mixed, the tone seeming to improve during the morning. Canadian Pacific was a soft spot and small falls elsewhere amongst Canadian stocks were headed by International Nickel.

AT VANCOUVER Placer Development put on .62 to reach a new high of $34.62 in pre-noon trading.

Otherwise, most mining issues lost ground although Taylor Bridge was strong and gained .07 to .31 on 44,500 shares.

Adera was the heaviest trader with 74,000 shares and dropped .03 to .67. Brenda fell .30 to $6.05, Atlas lost .10 to $2.20 and a .06 loss went to Brenmac at .50.

In the industrials, B.C. Tel rose .62 to $66.62 and Scott Paper was .50 better at $19.50.

The oil section saw Bata dip .06 to $2.44 on 27,600 shares.

Retail Trade In Victoria Shows Growth

Retail trade in Victoria, judging by cheque clearances at the chartered banks, was in better shape at year's end than in Vancouver, with a 30 per cent edge over the mainland city based on November.

And in further support is a statement by the owners of Mayfair shopping centre, who report their 22 tenants last year did 12 per cent more business than in 1965.

Canadian Allied Property Investments Ltd. said in an annual statement Tuesday, "The Mayfair shopping centre has made steady progress," completing its third year of operation in 1966.

It serves not only Greater Victoria municipalities, but "indeed a wide area of southern Vancouver Island."

CAPI improved its net profit position last year by $3,200 for a total of $33,506.

Prior to November, the company received most of its revenues from Mayfair, but its largest development to date — Guildford shopping centre in Surrey — is expected to take first place as it becomes fully operative.

Bank clearances for Victoria in December were $495 million, up 5 per cent from the previous December and 28 per cent from the previous month.

Vancouver figures showed $2.8 billion, a decline of 4 per cent from December 1965, and 2 per cent off November.

The Victoria forecast for June 1967, according to Babson's Canadian Investment Letter, is a 5 per cent improvement over last June, while Vancouver will remain unchanged.

There are those on the outside who apply unflattering terms to SEDCO 135-F, the marine oil-drilling rig now nearing completion off Dallas Road. But VMD shipbuilders know the kind of contract that butters the bread and ices the cake, and they rarely call their strangest project anything worse than "The Monster".

Usually, she's just "the rig"; and though her construction provided tense moments and nightmare problems, they'll be happy to undertake another of her kind when or if the chance offers.

Whether it will depends to some extent on what the rig finds when it sets out to pioneer deep-drilling oil exploration off our British Columbia coast.

For close to five years, Shell of Canada scientists in conventional craft prowled above the company's extensive ocean-floor leases.

One trick in their extensive bag consisted of detonating underwater explosions and reading from the pattern of shock-waves what they could of the earth-layers below. Their findings lent hope; but informed speculation isn't enough.

If a multi-billion barrel oil pool does indeed lie thousands of feet below our portion of the Continental shelf there's only one way to make sure. This is by drilling through strata beneath which may lie the black gold we know as crude oil or petroleum.

★

To this vertical exploration, the rig will soon apply her 18 million pounds of welded, fabricated, designed and redesigned special steels.

Three towboats will lug her out to her first location. There, the man-made island will ride to her nine anchors with decks 50 feet or more above the heaving surface. Her partially-flooded caisson legs will be sunk to the tapered upper sections that the yard-hands have nicknamed "pepper-pots."

From their weather studies, her planners learned that the worst North Pacific blow of the last hundred years rolled up combers 75 feet high. The rig is built to withstand even heavier stresses.

American specialists will be on board, but the rig will be worked by Canadians from the Alberta oil-fields. These will spend seven days on the job. Then the rig's helicopter will fly off-duty men to shore quarters near Ucluelet. From the nearby Tofino air strip, a fixed-wing plane will provide shuttle service to Pat Bay.

Seven days later, the chopper will deposit these seafaring landsmen back on their ship's launching pad.

But the drill that plunges through the spider-deck grid-work from the lofty derrick up top will never be off shift.

Except when yet another section must be coupled on, it will keep turning within its casing, in a lubricating bath of mud.

★

Today, VMD president Harold Husband tells me, his firm has no other major shipbuilding contract in sight.

Should the exploratory rig make a rewarding strike, however, this situation could change in a hurry.

"Platforms" would be needed — permanent pumping installations equipped with reservoirs. From these, company tankers would draw a rich cargo.

The ultimate step — and here we take a reckless plunge into a future that may never materialize — would be pipe-lines to shore.

It's a dream, this, based on an educated gamble.

Still, gambles do sometimes pay off, and Victoria's Harold Husband involved his firm in certain educated risks with a bid for an oil rig so huge that the Panama Canal couldn't accommodate it.

Acceptance came in September of 1965, and now, more than 18 months later, the end of the big job's in sight.

There she stands, a ship like none before her, imposing her ugly beauty or beautiful ugliness upon a waterfront that won't look the same when she moves out to the ocean . . . perhaps to expand a new industry for British Columbia.

Tots Cheat Death But Close Calls Tell Grim Story

He was three years old.

Fair haired, blue eyed — and close to death when they wheeled him into the poison control centre.

And he was just one of the 277 pre-school children in Greater Victoria who, in 1966, were taken to the grey zone between life and death by neglectful parents.

"We had no deaths," said Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical health officer when he presented his annual report Tuesday to the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health.

"But many of them, especially in the one to four years category, were very serious. We had more close calls than otherwise," he added.

Most of the 387 poison cases reported during the year were caused by parents who failed to heed the constant warning that medicinal products and household cleaning compounds be kept out of reach of young hands.

"Medicines and cleaning fluids should be kept well out of reach of children," Dr. Whitbread said. "They should be kept under lock and key. It's no good putting them in a medicine cabinet if the child can get a chair and reach the cabinet anyway."

149 Cases in Saanich Lead Area

Of the 277 pre-school poison cases reported, 121 came from Saanich, a municipality which earned the doubtful distinction of leading the field with a total for all age brackets of 149 reported cases.

Victoria was second with 130 cases, 84 of them in the one-to-four-year category.

Of the 149 total poison cases recorded in Saanich, 88 residents were victims of medicinal products, 49 ingested household compounds like bleach or other similar products, and 12 fell victim to poisonous vegetation—of which the laburnum seed is most prolific.

In Victoria 84 children between one and four were poisoned during the year, in Oak Bay 21 in the same age bracket, in Esquimalt 10, in School District 62 there were 38 victims and in School District 63 poisoned children totalled three.

In Victoria, as in Saanich, medicinal products led the list of potential killers.

Total poisonings in the city during the year were 130, of which 85 were caused by medicinal products, 37 by household compounds and eight by poisonous vegetation.

10-14 Age Bracket Most Sensible

The 10 to 14-year bracket appeared to be the most sensible when it came to handling various poisons.

Only three poisoning cases were reported from that age group, one in Oak Bay and two in Saanich.

But all the poisonings were not confined to children.

Between the ages of 20 and 39 years Victoria reported 23 poison victims, Saanich 11 and Oak Bay five. Other areas reported one or two poisonings in the same age bracket.

Victoria also reported 10 poison cases in the over-40 bracket, Saanich eight and Oak Bay four.

Some of the reported cases in the higher age categories were undoubtedly suicide attempts.

"But we have no statistics on that," said Dr. Whitbread. "That is a matter for the personal physician and a psychiatrist. As far as our records are concerned, none of the reported cases were attempted suicides. We don't go into that aspect."

Both major hospitals in Victoria maintain well-equipped poison control centres.

"Both are located in the emergency wards at Jubilee and St. Joseph's," said Dr. Whitbread. "Both are right up to date on treatment techniques and antidotes."

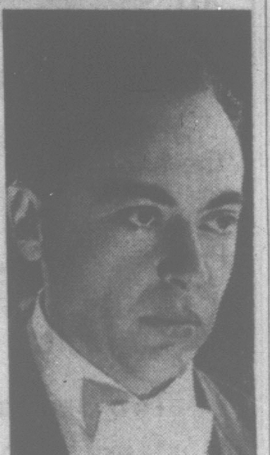
He left unsaid the sad thought that neither would have much work to do if parents obeyed simple safety rules and locked away dangerous drugs and equally dangerous household cleaning compounds.

MUELLER'S CHOICE

Montreal Conductor Returning for Talks

Montreal conductor Laszlo Gati, first of the four guests who conducted Victoria Symphony Orchestra this season, returns to the city Friday for talks with Symphony Society directors.

At a board meeting Tuesday night, it was decided to invite Mr. Gati to return so his possible appointment as resident music director and conductor could be further explored.



LASZLO GATI
. . . here Friday

A morning newspaper report that his appointment was confirmed was in error.

Symphony president John Meredith, in making the announcement, says that prior to this decision the various alternatives were thoroughly discussed.

The alternatives are to continue with guest conductors for another season, appoint a non-resident conductor who would be responsible for filling in with guests, or arranging for several to conduct a series of possibly three concerts each.

It is felt that none of these alternatives would be in the best interests of the orchestra.

Mr. Gati, it is pointed out, was selected by Otto-Werner Mueller prior to his resignation to guest conduct the January pair of concerts.

While appointment of the Hungarian-born Canadian is pending Mr. Mueller expressed pleasure this morning that consideration is being given to Gati whom he regards highly as a musician and able conductor.

Contacted at his Montreal home by phone, Mr. Gati was "quite enthused" about the prospect of coming to Victoria.

LIKES ORCHESTRA

"First there are many things to be talked about," he said, "but I like the orchestra very much and would enjoy working with it.

"Its standard of performance surprised and pleased me and I think we could work together to maintain and develop it — to establish a certain definitive style.

"I like the people I met and the prospect of living in Victoria and sharing in the big musical development stirring in the city delights me and my family."

Before coming to Canada in 1956, Mr. Gati was a member of the Hungarian State Philharmonic Orchestra and a violin professor at the Budapest Conservatory. He was a protege of the great Hungarian composer, Zoltan Kodaly, who died last month in the United States.

At present he is conductor of the Montreal Chamber Orchestra and not long ago returned from a tour of Europe and the Middle East.

He is married and has two daughters.

'HONORS' ON TONIGHT AT FESTIVAL

First of three special events, the honor performance of Victoria Music Festival dance classes, takes place tonight at Central Junior Secondary auditorium.

The following schools were selected for the program by adjudicator Shirley Nalevyken.

Shelbourne, Glanford and Strawberry Vale elementary, to combine in dancing the German folk dance, Man in the Hay.

Tolmie, Grade 1, Chimes of Dunkirk (French); Oaklands, Grade 1, the singing game, Turn Me Round; Uplands, Grade 2, Gustaf's Skoal (Swedish); Cloverdale, Grade 3, Virginian Reel; George Jay, Grade 3, Maypole; Victoria West, Grade 4, Durham Reel (English).

St. Patrick's School, Grade 5 will dance Reinlander (Norwegian); Willows, Grade 6, an Israeli dance, Kuuma Echa; Monterey girls, Grades 6 and 7, Cauld Kale and boys, Grade 7, Oxdans.

From Victoria West Grade 7, girls will dance Gathering Peascods and Grade 6, a Romanian dance, Ciocarlanul; Oak Bay Junior Secondary, a French minuet and Quadra, Grades 4, 5 and 6, the Circassian Circle.

The performance begins at 8 with doors opening at 7:30.

Pollution Board Revamped

The provincial cabinet today revamped its Pollution Control Board.

It expanded the two-year-old board from seven to nine seats, reappointing all except two civil servants who had served on it.

In their place, it put two doctors for the first time.

One is a civil servant, Dr. Kenneth I. G. Benson, assistant deputy minister of health.

But the other, Dr. Cortland G. J. MacKenzie, of the University of B.C.'s preventive medicine department, fulfills an indication at the last session by Resources Minister Ray Williston that a non-government doctor would be added to the board.

TWO TO FILL

With two seats still vacant on the new board, he will still have room to fulfill the other indication that some representative of local government or the public at large would be appointed.

Mr. Williston, who is responsible for the board, did not disclose how he plans to fill the remaining seats.

Deputy water resources Minister Arthur Paget was re-appointed as chairman of the board, as were mines department inspector J. W. Peck and deputy forests Minister F. S. McKinnon.

Also re-appointed were James S. Allin and Robert G. McMynn.

Dropped from the board's membership were William Bailey, director of public health engineering, and C. J. Keenan, the board's executive engineer who is slated to fill the new administrative position of director of pollutioncontrol.

The cabinet also passed new regulations for issuance of waste disposal permit under the revised Pollution Control Act created at this year's session, but they did not differ significantly from previous procedures for obtaining such permits.

'These Crimes Must Be Stopped'—Mayor

Woman Beaten, Robbed

Mayor Hugh Stephen today called for severe action against three youths who brutally attacked and robbed a Blanshard Street jewelry store clerk.

"On crimes such as this—when the perpetrators are apprehended and found guilty — the punishment should correspond with the offence," the mayor said.

Three young men entered Hebden's jewelry store shortly before 5:30 Tuesday evening and beat into unconsciousness Mrs. Queen Victoria Wilkins, 60.

They escaped with $50 and two watches worth $150 each.

'BRUTAL, CALLOUS'

Mayor Stephen called the attack "a brutal and callous disregard for human life.

"It is this sort of crime which gives me so much concern—the type of crime we must try with all the means in our power to eliminate.

"This sort of thing just has to be stopped and I am confident that our police department will leave no stone unturned to find the culprits."

Descriptions of two youths seen near the jewelry store have been turned over to police.

Mrs. Wilkins is in fairly good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital suffering two bumps and a one-inch wound on her scalp.

She told police that one youth was about 20 years old with light brown hair and dark sweater and pants.

Another had dark hair and white pants but she gave no description of the third.

Mrs. Alice Hardisty of 2418 Hamiota told police she was walking past Benny's cafe on Blanshard when she saw two youths about 18 to 20 near the jewelry store about 5:15. Both were about five feet eight and were dark and of average build.

Mrs. Joan Smith of the Dutch Beauty Salon described a similar pair she saw outside the beauty shop between 4:30 and 5 p.m.

TOOK MONEY

Roy Hebden, owner of the store, said he had left his premises shortly before the theft, taking most of the money with him, leaving Mrs. Wilkins with only $50. She was putting watches away in the safe when the robbery and assault occurred.

He said the men entered the store at 1006 Blanshard on the pretext of buying a railwayman's watch.

STYLISTS NAMED

Barbers Cutting New Image

Shaping a new image isn't too hard when you're a hairdresser.

It just needs a razor, a pair of scissors and a hair dryer.

To prove that local barbers aren't as dull as some people imagine, the Victoria Men's Hairdressing Club staged a styling contest this week.

Fifteen barbers took part at the Glamour School on Broad Street with prizes being awarded for workmanship, style, origniality and finish.

Said organizer of the event, Phil Eggersman: "We hope to have similar competitions twice a year.

"We want a new image. It's been thought for too long that anybody can get a barber's job in Victoria.

"But the barbers here are comparable to barbers in any of the larger cities."

Winners of the contest were: 1, Henry Behder; 2, Len Maycock; 3, Frank Hartman.

Trophies will be presented at the annual meeting of the B.C.Barber's Association in the Empress Hotel April 23.

Two Local Students Among 35 Selected For Science Seminar

Two Vjictoria students have been selected to attend the Royal Canadian Institute's summer science program at Lakefield College, Ont., this summer.

They are Heather Heppenstall, 17, of Oak Bay Senior Secondary School and Peter Lawrie, 17, of Mount View Secondary.

They are among 35 top high school students from all Canadian provinces who will attend a six-week seminar at Lakefield.

"Leading scientists will demonstrate science as a spectrum of knowledge rather than as collections of test-tubes or specimen jars," a spokesman for the Royal Canadian Institute said.

'GREAT EXPERIENCE'

"It will be a great experience," said Miss Heppenstall, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Heppenstall, 2341 Middowne.

"I've been studying biology for the past year and I'd like to take up science as a career."

Miss Heppenstall attended Brunskil elementary school, Saskatoon, and came to Victoria four years ago. She recently presented a paper on biology at the University of Victoria.

Peter Lawrie, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lawrie, 4026 Quadra, is an advanced student in chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics.

He attended Quadra elementary school before going to Mount View secondary and is a member of Metropolitan United Church.

LATEST EQUIPMENT

"The science school at Lakefield has all the latest in scientific equipment," he said. "I'm certainly looking forward to it."

After the six-week seminar, the students will go to Expo 67, Montreal, where they will meet 350 other students from Britain, Europe and the United States.

At Lakefield, the students will be on the go from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, with films and special lectures in the evening. Weekends will be devoted to sports.

FIELD TRIPS

They will work in the laboratories, take field trips and join discussion groups. One of the projects will be setting up and operating a small meteorological station for five weeks.

"We neglect the mundane bread-and-butter aspects of science," a college spokesman said. "We treat science as the spectrum of life."

The Royal Canadian Institute's summer science program is a centennial project of United Investment Services, Ltd., Toronto.

United stepped in when it heard that the project was stalled for lack of funds. Cost of the program, begun in 1963, rose to more than $25,000 by 1965 and was dropped. United then donated $20,000 a year for three years. The cost this year is estimated at $27,000.

Young Couples' Canoe Race Set for July 1

A young couple's canoe race from the Inner Harbor to Portage Inlet and back will be held July 1.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said today he had received confirmation from the Greater Victoria Centennial Society that an application for trophies for the event would probably be looked on with favor.

The society has around $1,500 left in the kitty to sponsor new events for the balance of the year.

Ald. Edgelow said he would form a committee immediately to iron out the details of the race.

FILL 'ER UP AND CHECK THE AFTER-BURNERS

By MORGAN MacGREGOR

Tourists are always welcome to Vancouver Island . . .

. . . even little green tourists with antennas poking out of their heads.

To make sure space travellers feel at home, two Port McNeill businessmen have started work on a landing pad for flying saucers.

Gerry Furney and Bill MacLeod have already cleared one patch for the Martians.

But just in case other planets are interested in visiting the logging town on the Island's northwest coast, they're providing parking space for a second machine.

They consider the landing strip behind Port McNeill Motors ideal.

Water, fuel, lubricants, power and welding equipment are all laid on.

In case the visitors have any earthbound relatives there's a phone handy.

And what could be more necessary after travelling a few million miles than a men's room (ladies too in case of mixed crews).

Professing all seriousness in the project, Mr. Furney said this week: "There have been many sightings of UFOs (unidentified flying objects) in the past few weeks.

"People here are really keen on our project.

"They think it's terrific. They are all in favor of attempting to communicate with space beings."

The two hope to have an official opening date for B.C.'s first such landing pad on July 1.

"The pad is a simple concept," said Mr. Furney. "Compacted earth, a couple of unused gas pumps wearing helmets . . . just to make anyone landing feel right at home."

Water Vote Urged At Prospect L. Without Sparton

Saanich council will be asked to put the water main extension plan to a vote of Prospect Lake and Westholme Road residents without including Sparton Road.

The public works committee made this recommendation to council at a meeting Tuesday night.

The original plan did not include Sparton Road although one resident told council he favored it. Council will consider the recommendation Monday night.

Ask The Times

Q. Where does one write to Gordon Sinclair? D.P.

A. Try the Toronto Star.

Q. Where can one obtain prints of portraits of Indian children? W.I.S.

A. A number of city book stores carry some prints of Indian children and some can be seen in department store furniture and book departments.

Q. Is there anywhere in Victoria one can learn public speaking? R.N.

A. We suggest you phone the Greater Victoria School District office or write to M. F. Hunter, 1320 Dallas Road.

Q. Who is I. F. Stone? S.B.

A. He is an American journalist who publishes a magazine in Washington, D.C., known as I. F. Stone's Weekly.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

Tailings Good for Lake? He Must Be Kidding!

CAMPBELL RIVER—A remark by Western Mines Ltd. manager Charles M. Campbell that mine tailings are beneficial to Buttle Lake today was termed "facetious".

Anthony Sarich, lawyer for Campbell River Water Board which is fighting the dumping of tailings through the courts, said:

"I think Mr. Campbell is being facetious. He talks on the one hand of the tailings improving the water and on the other of a full investigation being needed."

Mr. Campbell told a service club that the tailings added necessary minerals in the form of copper and zinc to the water.

In reply to this, University of Victoria biologist, Brian Case, said copper-laden tailings kill off insect larvae, eliminating an important element of the food chain for fish.

Of an earlier statement by B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault that the whole controversy is a case of misunderstanding and misinformation which could be settled out of court, Mr. Sarich said:

"I don't think Perrault's statement contributed anything. I've no idea why he would say that.

"Until he toured the nine last Friday he'd had nothing to do with the affair. I think he was just making a political statement."

Agreeing with Mr. Perrault was Western Mines president Harold M. Wright who said he hoped to call a meeting of all parties involved, including the provincial Pollution Control Board, within two weeks.

CLEAN-UP BEACHES CAMPAIGN IN FRANCE

MORLAIX, France (AP) — Soldiers and civilians today labored to remove hundreds of tons of oil washed up on the beaches of northern Brittany from the wreckage of the tanker Torrey Canyon.

But for each bit of oil removed, more seemed to be washed in by the tides. Even the elements seemed to be against the workers. The wind continued from the north, driving the oil toward land.

Troops joined firemen, fishermen, police and local residents at the beach of the village of Pont-Blanc.

Fire engine pumps forced the mass of oil into tank trucks. The trucks carried the oil to an abandoned quarry where it was dumped. Soldiers also used shovels to load the oil into plastic basins which were carried to the tank trucks.

George Gorse, minister of information, announced that the French cabinet has alotted $3,000,000 to begin the cleanup effort on the beaches and said more funds would be made available.

New patches of oil drifted in from the sea during the night and polluted additional beaches.

A net 2½ miles long, suspended from floats, was being stretched across the entry to the Bay of Morlaix in the hope this would stop oil from getting to the oyster beds in the area.

Eight naval ships as well as a number of fishing craft worked off shore to dump sawdust and detergents into the masses of floating oil.

Crown Presses Careless Driving Charge

A charge of driving while under the new 24-hour roadside suspension was withdrawn by the Crown in Central Court this morning, but a charge of careless driving against the driver was pressed.

Police report that Eugene Felter, 640 Cornwall, was involved in an accident at about 1:45 a.m. April 8 at Government and View.

He was taken to the police station and a 24-hour suspension imposed.

He was also charged with careless driving.

A few hours later he was seen driving on Collinson and was charged with driving while under suspension.

In court this morning, Crown prosecutor Peter Birkett said the suspension charge had been withdrawn because the circumstances did not warrant it.

Felter later appeared in traffic court and was fined $35 for careless driving.

Hangars Bought Chant Reports

Works Minister W. N. Chant today said the government bought two hangars at Patricia Bay Airport Tuesday afternoon for $150,000.

Together, they will provide more than 80,000 square feet of added floor space to the present government hangar used as maintenance depot for eight government aircraft. Earlier Tuesday he reported negotiations for the hangars were under way.

Free Food Stall In Urgent Need

The larder is empty at Victoria's Free Food Stall.

"We are urgently in need of contributions for our next free stall on Saturday, April 22," Mrs. Joan Price, convener, said today.

Donors should call Mrs. Evelyn Corbett at 479-3437 or Mrs. Price at 479-4870.

Pennsylvania Governor Bars Fight

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Raymond P. Shafer ordered the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission today to cancel the heavyweight title fight between heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and challenger Floyd Patterson scheduled for April 25 in Pittsburgh.

Boxing promoter Archie Litman announced earlier today the fight—originally scheduled for Las Vegas, Nev., but banned by Nevada Gov. Paul Laxalt—would be held in Pittsburgh.

Ron Boehm Named Top WHL Rookie

SEATTLE (AP)—Ron Boehm, 23, scrappy right winger for the Vancouver Canucks, has been named top rookie of the Western Hockey League for the 1966-67 season, league headquarters announced today.

Second place went to Seattle defenceman Bob Lemieux and Victoria goalie Al Smith was third.

Ky Offers To Send Envoy to Ceylon

SAIGON (Reuters)—South Vietnam is prepared to send representatives to Ceylon to have talks with North Vietnam aimed at ending the war, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today. The air vice-marshal was responding to an offer made by Ceylonese Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake, who proposed a conference among the South Vietnamese government, the National Liberation Front—political arm of the Viet Cong—and the North Vietnamese government.

SUMMIT STARTS SLOWLY

Latins Lament Waste of Time

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (UPI)—The summit meeting of President Johnson and other American presidents, a year in the making, got under way today. The accent seemed to be on low-key diplomacy.

Johnson and 18 other hemisphere leaders breezed through an informal morning meeting that started a half-hour earlier than scheduled and concluded an hour earlier than programmed. Then they went to a lunch at the golf club as guests of Uruguayan president Oscar D. Gestido.

Some of the Latin American presidents expressed unhappiness over what they termed the loss of a half-day's deliberations in the scheduled three-day summit aimed at solving the continent's old problem of poverty.

Delegates get into the major substance of their talks—aimed at providing the economic tools to end poverty in their area of the world—in a round of 10-minute speeches starting this evening.

SPEAKS THURSDAY

Johnson does not plan to speak until Thursday.

Severe security measures prevailed at the San Rafael Hotel conference site.

The government leaders in their motorcycle escorted limousines rolled up to the hotel past police and national guardsmen sealing it off from the outside, and then were ushered through a corridor of silver-helmeted troops to their meeting hall.

NEW SOVIET minister of defence is Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, commander of the Communist Warsaw Pact forces. A 63-year-old professional soldier who crushed the East German uprising in 1953, he succeeds the late Marshal Rodion Malinovsky who died March 31. Grechko was also deputy defence minister and a favorite for the position.

REDS BUSY PREPARING FOR FLIGHT TO MOON

MOSCOW (UPI) — Pioneer spaceman Yuri Gagarin told a Kremlin rally tonight Soviet cosmonauts are busy preparing for flights to the moon and the planets. He gave no timetable for a manned flight, believed imminent.

Gagarin spoke at the Kremlin rally on the sixth anniversary of his one-orbit space flight April 12, 1961.

"We cosmonauts are very busy training and studying and getting ready for new launchings," he said.

"The program of new space explorations which we are working on is very complicated and interesting. It provides for the sending of the expeditions to the moon and the planets."

Harmac Mill May Be Idled Over Suspension of Men

Thirteen workers at the huge Harmac pulp mill near Nanaimo may lose their jobs Tuesday — 13 days before the Canadian pulp union applies for bargaining rights.

The result may bring the mill, which employs almost 1,000 persons, to a standstill.

MacMillan Bloedel announced late Tuesday it will suspend from employment 13 workers who have failed to pay dues to the certified union — unless they reinstate themselves with the union.

The action was requested by Local 695, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, under the union security clause providing for compulsory union membership as a condition of employment.

On May 1, another union — Local 8 of the Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada — will apply to the Labour Relations Board for certification as bargaining agent.

A company spokesman said today the 13 men have been advised but there has been no reply. But an international spokesman said "four or five" of the 13 have joined the union.

"We do not want to discharge or suspend employees as the international union has requested, nor do we want to see the mill down with consequent loss of employment or produc-

GOLD BARS

Second Shipment Missing

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Dutch security officials today were investigating the disappearance of gold worth 100,000 guilders ($30,000) from a KLM Royal Dutch Airlines plane.

This is the airlines' second missing gold shipment in a week.

An airline spokesman said a box of gold disappeared Sunday on a KLM flight from New York to the tiny island of Aruba, in The Netherlands Leeward Islands.

The spokesman said two boxes, each weighing 60 pounds, were loaded on the plane, but when it arrived at the island one was missing.

On April 7, four gold bars valued at $38,500 were reported missing from a KLM plane at London's Heathrow Airport. The spokesman said that there had been no further developments in this case, but the investigation was continuing.

Syrians, Israelis Trade Bullets

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The Syrian army reported fighting on the Syrian-Israeli frontier today for the second day in succession and claimed three Israeli soldiers were killed and two were wounded.

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli army spokesman said only one Israeli farmer was wounded when Syrians and Israelis exchanged fire across the border.

A Syrian army communique said an Israeli patrol crossed the armistice line shortly before noon in the northern sector of the frontier and was intercepted by a Syrian patrol about 210 yards inside Syrian territory.

A spokesman said there were no Syrian casualties.

The Israeli spokesman, in giving a different version, said the clash took place near the village of Gonen in the Huleg Valley, north of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said a Syrian post had opened light arms fire when a party of farmers from Gonen went out to check the wire fence on their pasture.

An Israeli escorting unit returned the fire, he said.

Court Defied By Troupers

CALGARY (CP)—Three members of the San Francisco Mime Troupe notified a magistrate today they won't come to Canada to face drug charges because they have "no confidence" in Canadian justice.

Two of the men, Ronald Guy Davis, 33, and Ronald Jerome Stallings, 20, failed to appear on marijuana possession charges today and warrants were issued for their arrest if they enter Canada.

Push Toward Pole

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) —A Canadian and four Americans pushed ahead again today for the North Pole after being stranded more than 24 hours on a floating ice island.

THAT'S JANE

Something In the Middle

LONDON (UPI)—Hollywood's Jayne Mansfield (44-26-38) created a sensation today by going to the House of Commons in a miniskirt with a plunging top.

Members of Parliament, who hardly give the leading ministers of the land a second glance, stared upwards when Miss Mansfield entered the gallery running around the chamber and sat in the seat normally occupied by Mary Wilson, the prime mininster's wife.

A buzz of conversation ran through the members. It was so loud that the speaker, Dr. Horace King, had to call for order so that Defence Minister Denis Healey could be heard answering questions.

Blonde Miss Mansfield in her cream and black dress, was taken into the gallery by Opposition Conservative member Timonthy Kitson. She appeared to listen closely to the parliamentary questions and left during a speech by a leading opposition member, Ian Macleod, on the budget announced Tuesday.

Miss Mansfield came to England March 24 for eight weeks of club appearances but the firm which brought her over teminated her contract after only two weeks. The firm charged she had arrived late for several engagements, did not keep time with the music, and had appeared for performances in her street clothes because she had not brought stage dress.

Her lawyer, Sam Brodie, said the charges were "untrue, comical, ludicrous and diabolical."

Miss Mansfield said she was signing a new contract to appear at a northern England club for a week at the beginning of May and hoped to do other cabaret appearances.

Operating Near Major NATO Area

OSLO (Reuters)—Security police announced today they have uncovered a spy-ring operating in northern Norway, a strategically-important NATO area since the end of the Second World War.

They said the ring was suspected of working for the Soviet Union and that three persons have been arrested. Two of them have "partially confessed," police added.

The statement said the espionage affair dated back to the Second World War when some Norwegian citizens in foreign countries were educated as radio operators.

"On returning home following the liberation of Norway they continued their activities.

"They have been assigned to provide and transmit information on military situations, mainly in north Norway.

"At the present time there are no indications that military personnel are involved."

SEPARATE PROBES

Investigations were going on in different parts of Norway, the statement said.

The two men said to have "partly confessed" were identified by Norwegian newspapers as Haldor Lindval, 50, and Selmer Ingebret Nielsen, 34.

The third, Edmund Nielsen, 51, was arrested in Kristinehamn, Sweden. Police said today he was being interrogated in Oslo.

The first two arrests were announced last Saturday and the third confirmed today. The three men had been remanded in custody.

The main base for the alleged spy ring was the small deserted fishing village of Bajfjord, near North Cape, Norwegian press reports said.

FISHING VILLAGE

Police using helicopters and seaplanes Tuesday brought Lindval and Selmer Nielsen separately to a spot where it was believed the ring had hidden a radio transmitter, the reports said.

The Oslo newspaper, Aftenposten, says one of the espionage targets might have been the big Swedish arms factory Bofors. It says several large Swedish industrial combines are situated in district of Vaermland bordering Norway.

MITCHELL

Execution Carried Out

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) —Aaron Mitchell, convicted slayer of a Sacramento policeman, died today in San Quentin prison's apple-green gas chamber. The execution was the first in California in more than four years and the first in the U.S. in 1967.

The 37-year-old Negro went to his death while opponents of capital punishment protested in front of the prison where many had maintained a night-long vigil.

It was the first major protest at the grey-walled prison since Caryl Chessman, a convicted kidnapper and rapist turned author, lost his 12-year battle to escape the gas chamber in 1960.

Mitchell Tuesday slashed his arm with a razor blade after giving his tearful mother a hand-written appeal for a reprieve, which was rejected by a federal judge.

With Mitchell's death, San Quentin's death row still held 60 convicts.

MADRID (UPI) — Rock-throwing students battled with truncheon-swinging armed policemen at Madrid University today in the capital's second university student demonstration in two days.

Trucks Rolling Again As 3-Year Pact Signed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's major truckers and the Teamsters' Union reached tentative agreement today on a new nationwide contract. Within hours, trucks idled for three days by a lockout were rolling across the United States again.

Agreement of a three-year contract between the teamsters and Trucking Employers Inc. (TEI) came in the early morning hours after a marathon bargaining session.

TEI ordered all 1,200 of the trucking companies it represents back into normal service as quickly as possible.

By 10 a.m. EST, M. C. Benton, executive vice-president of McLean Trucking Co., and the mayor of Winston-Salem, N.C., said:

"Everything's rolling. We're weighing them in and the units are rolling out of here on the average of one a minute."

NORMAL BY THURSDAY

Resumption of service was not as fast everywhere, but spokesmen indicated the industry would be mostly back to normal by Thursday.

In some Texas terminals, the major holdup to getting the big diesels on the road again was unloading the freight on trucks that had been sitting idle since the truckers began the lockout Sunday.

The shutdown had stalled truck service from San Francisco to Boston, and when the end of the dispute came, the impact was being felt both by manufacturers facing parts shortages and stores whose shelves were being emptied.

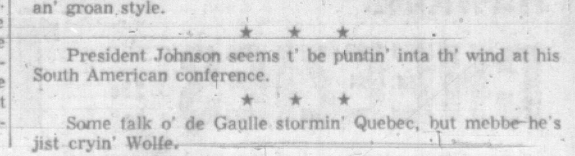
Military Aid Ends To India, Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—The United States is going to close down its military assistance and advisory group in Pakistan and will phase out the U.S. military supply mission in India, both by July 1, the U.S. embassy in Rawalpindi announced today.

A Pakistani government spokesman said the announcement ended uncertainty about U.S. military aid, which was suspended in 1965 during the Kashmir border war between Pakistan and India. Pakistan may have to look to other sources for aid in its defence needs, he added.

Pakistan has received more than $1,400,000,000 in U.S. military aid since 1951. The warm U.S.-Pakistani relations cooled off abruptly when the U.S. provided military aid to help India fight its border war with China in 1962. Pakistan turned increasingly for planes, tanks and other equipment to China and the Soviet Union.

India has received about $200,000,000 in U.S. military aid since the 1962 fighting. India gets most of its arms from Britain and has also bought Soviet MiGs, helicopters and light tanks.



Civic leaders wrestle with money requests in true grant an' groan style.

EVEN TRIED STRANGLING HER

A Bloody Failure In Mistress Blow-Up

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Clement McCoy, a post office technician, was a failure when it came to killing his mistress.

He tried strangulation, stabbing and even blowing her up with gelignite, a nitro-glycerine explosive.

But Beverley June Pressley, 26, escaped with a broken leg and several knife wounds, a court here was told today.

McCoy, 39, who admitted maliciously wounding her with intent to cause grievous bodily harm, was jailed eight years.

Police said he first tried to strangle Mrs. Pressley, then stabbed her five times in the chest and stomach with a pocket knife.

When this failed he tied her to a bed, bought two sticks of gelignite, fuses and detonators and tried to blow her up and commit suicide at the same time. When the gelignite exploded, Mrs. Pressley was knocked to the floor and broke a leg. McCoy was unhurt.

'DREADFUL HIDEOUT FOR DEVILS, DEMONS'

NEW YORK (AP)—One of China's outstanding violinists and composers said Wednesday he fled his homeland to escape confinement in a "dreadful hideout for devils and demons," and feared for his life in the sweeping terrorism of the Red Guards.

Ma Sitson, or Su-tsung, 54, who was president of the Central Academy of Music and vice-president of the Union of Chinese Musicians in Peking, fled China last December and has been living secretly in New York with his family.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Drop Continues

Lack of blue chip leadership continued to plague the Toronto stock exchange as prices declined for the fourth straight session today. Volume was also sluggish.

The New York market was mixed in moderate trading.

AT TORONTO, Famous Players and Dominion Textile fell 1 each to 36½ and 26 and Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 23⅝. Supertest added 1¼ at 26½ and Beaver Lumber and Thomson Newspapers 1 each at 41 and 25¼.

Western oils tumbled after being sharply up in earlier activity. Dome dropped 1½ to 54¾, Banff ⅞ to 14⅛ and Central-Del Rio ¼ to 10⅞. Canadian Superior moved up 1⅛ to 36⅛.

Among base metals, Preston rose 1⅛ to 16⅝ and Falconbridge and Pine Point ⅞ to 87¾ and 52⅞.

AT NEW YORK the average was dragged down by fractional losses of such stocks as Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Alcoa, American Cyanamid and Standard Oil New Jersey.

Among Canadian stocks Dome Mines and Walker Gooderham were up ¼, Canadian Pacific ⅛. Granby Mining was down ¾, International Nickel ⅜, Alcan ¼.

AT MONTREAL the market remained uncertain of direction and as a result most sections were mixed in light trading today.

CPR, Canada Cement and Molson A all advanced ½ point to 68½, 42 and 24½ respectively among the industrials. Dominion Textile eased ⅝ to 26 and Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 23⅝.

Among the utilities B.C. Telephone added ½ to 67, while Interprovincial Pipe Line lost ¼ to 100¾.

AT LONDON British funds advanced strongly on the stock market today following the chancellor of the exchequer's reference to his hopes of "continuing strength" in the market.

Equities eased after an uncertain opening. A feature was provided by gold shares which were in demand following the U.S. treasury denial of gold policy change—regarded as open to doubt in some quarters—and interest was further stimulated by a heavy demand for the metal in London.

Dollar stocks were mixed, the tone seeming to improve during the morning. Canadian Pacific was a soft spot and small falls elsewhere amongst Canadian stocks were headed by International Nickel.

AT VANCOUVER Placer Development put on .62 to reach a new high of $34.62 in pre-noon trading.

Otherwise, most mining issues lost ground although Taylor Bridge was strong and gained .07 to .31 on 44,500 shares.

Adera was the heaviest trader with 74,000 shares and dropped .03 to .67. Brenda fell .30 to $6.05, Atlas lost .10 to $2.20 and a .06 loss went to Brenmac at .50.

In the industrials, B.C. Tel rose .62 to $66.62 and Scott Paper was .50 better at $19.50.

The oil section saw Bata dip .06 to $2.44 on 27,600 shares.

Retail Trade In Victoria Shows Growth

Retail trade in Victoria, judging by cheque clearances at the chartered banks, was in better shape at year's end than in Vancouver, with a 30 per cent edge over the mainland city based on November.

And in further support is a statement by the owners of Mayfair shopping centre, who report their 22 tenants last year did 12 per cent more business than in 1965.

Canadian Allied Property Investments Ltd. said in an annual statement Tuesday, "The Mayfair shopping centre has made steady progress," completing its third year of operation in 1966.

It serves not only Greater Victoria municipalities, but "indeed a wide area of southern Vancouver Island."

CAPI improved its net profit position last year by $3,200 for a total of $33,506.

Prior to November, the company received most of its revenues from Mayfair, but its largest development to date — Guildford shopping centre in Surrey — is expected to take first place as it becomes fully operative.

Bank clearances for Victoria in December were $495 million, up 5 per cent from the previous December and 28 per cent from the previous month.

Vancouver figures showed $2.8 billion, a decline of 4 per cent from December 1965, and 2 per cent off November.

The Victoria forecast for June 1967, according to Babson's Canadian Investment Letter, is a 5 per cent improvement over last June, while Vancouver will remain unchanged.
